Compromise Halts Senate Filibuster

Satellite Bill Is Put Aside Until Aug. 10

Sent To Committee, Permitting Action On Other Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 10-day truce was effected Wednesday in the filibuster that has tied the Senate in knots since last Thursday.

The center of the dispute, President Kennedy's bill to create a private communications satellite corporation, was sidelined until Aug. 10 to permit action on other legislative problems.

The filibuster may be resumed after the respite, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters he looked for a more reasonable atmosphere when the bill comes up again.

Bill Referred To Committee

Under a unanimous consent agreement reached shortly after the Senate convened at noon, the controversial measure was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

This opened the way for a resumption of regular committee sessions and other Senate business.

The committee was instructed to act on the bill by Aug. 10 and return it to the Senate. Mansfield said he hoped the committee would act even sooner. The committee announced plans to start hearings on Friday.

The arrangement had some face-saving aspects for both sides.

It brings the bill formally before the Senate, a move which a small group of Democratic opponents had been blocking with talk.

It bowed to the contention of the filibustering group that the committee should look into international implications of the bill.

Measure Approved By House

The measure would authorize a privately-owned, government-regulated corporation to set up and operate this country's share of a projected network of communications relay stations in space.

Kennedy proposed that the corporation's stock be split 50-50 between the public and the established communications firms.

The bill was passed by the House and approved by the Senate committees, but several Democratic senators fought against bringing it up for final action on the ground it amounted to a giveaway of the fruits of governmental research. They demanded government ownership.

Ex-Peru Chief Goes Into Exile

LIMA, Peru (AP) —Deposed President Manuel Prado went into exile Wednesday stoutly defending the June elections the armed forces chiefs denounced in seizing power.

The 73-year-old former chief executive and his wife left by plane to live in Paris, expressing hope the reform program he launched in Peru six years ago will not be set back by the ruling military junta.

Prado said in a statement his administration aimed at improving the lot of the poorer classes.

Firmly insisting that the June presidential elections to name his successor were legal, Prado said he had received many messages supporting his attitude.

Peru was one of the key countries of President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program and the United States suspended further economic aid in protest against the military takeover.

New Pact Ends Alcoa Walkout

WAITING—Television personality Sherri Finkbine waited nervously at Pheonix yesterday for a decision on where and when she can have an abortion she says she wants so as not to risk birth of a malformed child. Here she tells newsmen her plans, when completed, probably will be kept secret. One-Day Strike Settled; Reynolds Talks Continue

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Aluminum Co. of America and the Aluminum Workers International Union reached agreement Wednesday night on a new two-year contract, ending a one-day strike.

Federal mediator William Rose said no details of the new pact would be released pending submission to union members for ratification by secret ballot.

Rose said it is a two-year pact with a reopening clause after one year. He said workers would return to work almost immediately.

Work Rules Involved

The dispute involved work rules and job security. Pickets were set up early Wednesday at 22 plants involving 16,000 workers.

It was the first time the AFL-CIO Aluminum Workers International Union called simultaneous companywide strikes against the two firms—largest producers of aluminum in the country.

Negotiations, which had been conducted virtually around the clock with the assistance of federal mediators, resumed in the afternoon. Wages are not an issue.

The union president, Eddie R. Stahl of Fulton, Mo., said the main items in dispute are job security and protection against displacement by automation.

Automation Trims Work Force

Stahl said the union had lost 5,000 members in the last three years, primarily because of automation.

A spokesman for Alcoa said the firm had proposed a settlement that included enlarged pensions, improvements in the vacation plan, and a new supplementary vacation and benefits plan.

Reynolds spokesmen declined to comment.

Pickets went up at 10 of Alcoa's 24 plants and 8,500 of the firm's 23,000 workers went on strike, an Alcoa representative said.

Reynolds officials said about 7,000 workers, representing about half the firm's work force, went on strike at plants in St. Louis, Bellwood, Va.; Louisville, Ky.; Richmond, Va.; Massena, N.Y.; and Sheffield, Ala.

Albany Powder Keg, U.S. Court Hearing Told

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) — Albany Police Chief Laurie Pritchett warned in federal court Wednesday that racial tensions have reached a boiling point here and his police officers continued arresting Negro demonstrators.

The burly police officer told a federal court hearing the city's request for an order to bar Negro racial demonstrations that he had received offers of guns and ammuntion and "people to use them" from disgruntled whites.

Pritchett said his police officers have been on 24-hour alert and are "at the breaking point after four weeks of strain and tension."

He said he had discouraged all persons offering assistance "from getting involved," but attorneys for the city cited evidence that pistol permits issued in the Albany area more than tripled during the past month.

While Pritchett was testifying, Assistant Police Chief J. J. Lairsey arrested five more Negroes when they refused to leave an all-white restaurant. This brought to 112 the number of demonstrators arrested since the weekend and more than 1,100 who have been taken into custody since the protests started in December.

In Washington, President Kennedy sharply criticized Albany city officials for refusing to confer with Negro leaders to help ease the tension and termed the situation "completely unsatisfactory."

'Jumping General' Gavin Resigns As Paris Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Jumping General" James M. Gavin has resigned after a relatively short stint as ambassador to Paris and President Kennedy will name his successor shortly.

Announcing this Wednesday, the White House made public a July 9 letter from Gavin to Kennedy seeking relief for "compelling personal reasons" and a July 31 "Dear Jim" reply from the President voicing "great regret."

But it was no secret in Washington that Kennedy and the forthright former paratrooper appointed in February 1961, did not see eye to eye on U.S. nuclear policy towards France. Nor did Gavin make notable headway in Paris in swinging President Charles de Gaulle toward the U.S. view.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salingér said Gavin's resignation would become effective upon the nomination and Senate confirmation of his successor, whose name is to be submitted to the French government soon.

Charles E. Bohlen was reported in line for the post. "Chip" Bohlen, 57, a career diplomat, had a Paris assignment before becoming ambassador to Russia in 1953-57. He now serves in Washington as a senior adviser on East-West affairs.

U.S. officials said Gavin was anxious to return to private life by September to clear up personal and financial problems. They understood he would resume the presidency of Arthur D. Little Inc., an industrial and engineering research firm at Cambridge, Mass., which they said he left at considerable sacrifice in accepting the ambassadorship.

Jayne Mansfield, Mickey Separate

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Jayne Mansfield and husband Mickey Hargitay separated Wednesday, but attorneys said the blonde actress did not plan to seek a divorce at this time.

The decision — which includes Mickey moving out of the couple's pink mansion on Sunset Boulevard — followed Hargitay's accusation Tuesday that an Italian film executive was attempting to destroy the couple's marriage.

In a brief announcement issued through their public relations representative, the couple announced they had signed a separation agreement. Terms were not announced, "but it was believed he will move out of their home some time Wednesday."

Spokesman Says Algeria Feud Settled

Unity Agreement Reported Reached By Rival Leaders

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Algeria's representative in the United Nations said Wednesday he has been informed an agreement has been reached to restore unity of leadership in his country.

Abdelkader Chanderli, representing the Algerian provisional government, told a reporter:

"My last information is that there is an agreement. The terms of the agreement will be made public probably tomorrow. The agreement will restore the unity of the leadership in the interest of the nation."

He said it was reached at a meeting of Algerian leaders in Algiers Wednesday morning following a similar meeting Tuesday night.

Chanderli was interviewed after he paid a 45-minute call on U.N. Acting Secretary - General U Thant. Chanderli long has been a spokesman for the Algerians in U.N. deliberations but has had no official accreditation because Algeria was not a sovereign nation until recently.

He said he and Thant discussed problems concerning admission of Algeria to the United Nations and a Security Council meeting to recommend such admission.

"I indicated," he added, "that a suitable date for the council meeting would be the end of August and that Algeria can be presented to the General Assembly for admission at the first meeting of its 17th session." The session convenes Sept. 18.

Rival Leaders "Hopeful"

ALGIERS (UPI)—Rival Algerian leaders met for three hours Wednesday and announced "hope of reaching a solution" to the political rivalry that threatens to turn Algeria's newly - won independence into civil war.

Ahmed Ben Bella, dissident deputy premier who seeks control of the nation, announced he will delay his entry into Algiers until the outcome of Thursday's second session of the negotiations is known.

Drop In Jobless Rate Cuts Odds For Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's job markets, closely watched as one indicator of whether an immediate tax cut is needed to buoy the economy, displayed unexpected strength in July.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg announced Wednesday the number of idled workers fell by 450,000 last month to just over four million. The decline was about 100,000 more than seasonally forecast.

Employment rose slightly by 25,000 to 69,564,000, another record.

These changes brought a sizable drop in the unemployment rate. It fell to 5.3 per cent of the work force, after climbing menacingly to 5.5 in June from 5.4 in May. At 5.3 per cent the July rate is the lowest since May 1960, more than two years ago.

The new job figures tended to reduce the chances of President Kennedy recommending a quick tax slash, or of Congress going along with such a recommendation. Goldberg noted, however, that the job figures are only one of a mixed bag of indices Kennedy is studying.

The job report is the first of the major July indicators. The rest, including reports on retail sales, expenditures and production, will be out in a few days, with the prospect Kennedy may make his decision by midmonth.

Senate Votes Funds For Coal Research

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted final approval Wednesday for a $3,450,000 appropriation intended to speed coal research projects during the current fiscal year.

The coal appropriation was part of a $885,362,000 Interior Department money bill which now goes to the White House.

Death Sentence Commuted

Paul Crump, scheduled to be electrocuted Friday, learns Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner has granted him a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. In Chicago jail scene are Warden Jack Johnson, right, who gave Crump the news, and Crump's attorney, Morris L. Simons. Crump's death sentence was changed to 199 years without parole. He was convicted in 1953 of slaying a watchman.

Governor Spares Killer Crump's Life

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Paul Crump's plea that he found a spiritual rebirth in his nine years facing the electric chair won him escape Wednesday for electrocution.

He had received 14 previous stays of execution.

Gov. Otto Kerner, acting on an unprecedented plea by a condemned man, granted executive clemency and cut Crump's punishment for murder from death to 199 years in prison, with a recommendation that he never be paroled.

The bid for life by the 32-year-old Negro killer and robber was unprecedented in that he no longer denied committing the crime for which he was convicted. He asked that the governor spare him because he had rehabilitated himself and could be a service to society.

His story, set forth in documents and in testimony taken by the Illinois Board of Parole and Pardons in an extraordinary hearing Monday, won over the governor only a day and a half before Crump was scheduled to die in the chair.

Kerner said Crump "must be accepted as rehabilitated," and added:

"Under the circumstances it would serve no useful purpose to society to take this man's life. The power of clemency entrusted to the governor permits giving effect to this judgment."

Tears welled in Crump's eyes when the word of the governor's action was brought him by one of his lawyers, Morris Simons, and the warden of Cook County—Chicago—jail, Jack Johnson.

"All the credit should go to God for my life," Crump said.

After hearing the governor's statement, he said "I am humbly thankful."

Those who carried on Crump's successful fight for his life said he had changed from a brutal, ruthless killer to a cooperative, peaceable prisoner. They argued that the semi-illiterate product of Chicago's underprivileged areas had developed into a man yearning for knowledge, for identity in society.

Crump was convicted of murdering Theodore Zukowski, 44, a guard in the Libby, McNeil & Libby plant, during a $20,000 holdup in the Union Stockyards in 1953. Four companions in the crime drew prison sentences.

Senate Probers Told Of Threats Made By Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A highly agitated Billie Sol Estes was pictured to Senate investigators Wednesday as having threatened to embarrass the Kennedy administration unless an investigation of his cotton operations was halted.

Wilson Tucker, deputy director of the Agriculture Department's cotton division, testified that Estes also made a cryptic reference to the violent death of Henry Marshall while voicing what one senator termed "highly unusual threats."

Describing an encounter with Estes last Oct. 18, Tucker told the Senate Investigations subcommittee:

"Mr. Estes stated that this pooled (cotton) allotment matter had caused the death of one person and then asked me if I knew Henry Marshall."

Marshall, an employe of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, was found dead with five gunshot wounds in his body. His death was pronounced a suicide at first but Texas State Police now believe he was slain.

There has been conflicting testimony as to whether Marshall was trying to halt Estes' activities.

65 Reported Still Missing In Quake

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Authorities ordered an immediate census in Pereira, Caldas Province, Wednesday after reports that 65 of 200 workers in a shirt factory when it was toppled by last Monday's earthquake still were missing.

More than 40 hours after the tremble, Colombia's sharpest in 10 years, rescue workers hacked away at the factory ruins looking for bodies. Only eight bodies have been removed so far.

The official death count remained at 47.

Berliners Fear New Crisis; Red Chief To See 'K'

BERLIN (AP)—Walter Ulbricht the Red leader of East Germany, flew to the Soviet Union Wednesday amid speculation that the Communists were preparing to trigger a new Berlin crisis.

Ulbricht took with him the acting premier, Willi Stoph, according to a brief report by the official East German news agency, ADN.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev headed to the Black Sea last weekend for a vacation.

There has been renewed pressure by the Russians on West Berlin's air links to the West. Ulbricht's propaganda machine has stepped up its campaign against the presence of Western Allied garrisons.

Officials here recalled that Ulbricht made a trip to Moscow early last August and the Warsaw Pact nations put out an approving statement before he began building the Berlin wall Aug. 13.

News agencies of the Warsaw Pact nations put out a booklet Monday attacking West Berlin as a base for espionage and sabotage against the Communist bloc.

There was plenty for Ulbricht and Stoph to talk about with Soviet leaders.

Western officials speculated they might discuss:

—Whether Khrushchev could at last sign his long-promised peace treaty with East Germany without provoking nuclear war.

—East Germany's deteriorating economic situation and poor food supply.

Advanced Atlas Rises From Silo, Roars Aloft

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An advanced Atlas F missile rose from its bombproof lair, paused to light its engines, then roared aloft Wednesday in the first lift-and-launch test of the nation's newest ocean-spanning rocket.

Its target: The Marshall Islands 5,000 miles west, headquarters for tests of the Nike Zeus missile killer rocket. In two previous firings at Atlases from Vandenberg, there have been a successful intercept and a failure. There was no word on whether a test was made Wednesday. The target zone is the lagoon of Eniwetok Island, northwest of Kwajalein Island, the Nike Zeus base.

The Atlas F—stored in 174-foot-deep concrete silos and elevated just before firing—will soon be installed at 72 sites across the country.

Wednesday's firing was the first to coordinate both the missile and its hardened launching pit. All previous tests were from surface pads at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The F model Atlas is an improved version of the surface-stored Atlas D and Atlas E and is similar in performance to the silo-stored Titan I, recently declared operational. Like the Atlas E and Titan I, the Atlas F carries its own guidance system, and does not have to be controlled by ground radio.

Both the Atlas F and the Titan I were designed to bridge the gap in the nation's arsenal between the early Atlas and the upcoming Titan II, which does not need to be elevated before launch but can be fired from the bottom of its silo.

Legislative Action Urged By President

Kennedy Hints U.S. May Modify A-Ban Inspection Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called Wednesday for stronger legislation to permit immediate removal of dangerous drugs, such as the tranquilizer thalidomide, from the market.

The President teed off a news conference with a statement pegged to thalidomide, which has been blamed for deformities in babies born to women who took the drug.

Kennedy said it is important that every woman check the medicine cabinet to make sure there is no thalidomide there. He spoke of "the terrible human tragedy" which has been visited on families in Germany because of use of the drug.

Kennedy praised the Food and Drug Administration and Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, its staff member who studied the drug, for forestalling its commercial distribution in this country.

He noted than congressional conferees have approved funds for a 25 per cent increase in FDA personnel, as recommended by his administration.

He said he hopes Congress will adopt provisions of the administration bill allowing immediate removal from the market of any drug believed dangerous.

What we need now are legislative safeguards to lessen the likelihood of such a tragedy again, and close cooperation with other countries in this field, he said.

A-Test Position Reviewed

Kennedy said, too, that the entire U.S. position with respect to nuclear tests is being reviewed to bring it into line with technical realities.

The administration, the President said, is reviewing factors needed to determine whether there can be a reduction in minimum requirements for inspections to check up on Soviet nuclear tests on Soviet territory.

A White House meeting on this subject was scheduled immediately after the news conference.

Asked if he had reached a decision about the extent and timing of additional nuclear tests Kennedy said he was waiting for the completion of repairs on the test stand at Johnston Island before deciding. He said he believed there were three tests still to be undertaken in the current series.

Kennedy expressed "very strong hope" the House will approve his proposal for this country to buy up to $100 million of U.N. bonds.

He said the United Nations is conducting vital negotiations that daily affect the peace of the world.

He said he believed the proposal was essential to the survival of the United Nations.

Asked about recent agreements seeming to ease tense situations in the Far East, Kennedy said he hopes the Laos accord will be implemented.

Prods Albany, Ga., Officials

He noted the Indonesian-Dutch agreement on West Guinea still has to be ratified by the two governments.

Still pending, he went on, is settlement of the difficulties in the Congo, where Katanga Province remains at odds with the central government.

The President said he found it "wholly inexplicable" why the city council at Albany, Ga., cannot sit down with Negro leaders in trying for a satisfactory solution of Negro-white relations. Kennedy said the system of sitting down in trying to work out solution to problems is common in international relations.

A poll showing 72 per cent of people in the country do not favor a tax cut now was cited by a questioner who asked whether this has any effect on the President's plans to consider tax recommendations.

Record Defense Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a $48,136,247,000 appropriation bill for the Defense Department Wednesday, completing congressional approval of the biggest peacetime defense money bill in history.

The House had previously passed the compromise bill, which carries funds for the year which started July 1. The Senate acted by voice vote.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., told the Senate the bill contains all major funds asked by President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and some 229 $million more than they sought.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg announced Wednesday the number of idled workers fell by 450,000 last month to just over four million. The decline was about 100,000 more than seasonally forecast.

Employment rose slightly by 25,000 to 69,564,000, another record.

These changes brought a sizable drop in the unemployment rate. It fell to 5.3 per cent of the work force, after climbing menacingly to 5.5 in June from 5.4 in May. At 5.3 per cent the July rate is the lowest since May 1960, more than two years ago.

The new job figures tended to reduce the chances of President Kennedy recommending a quick tax slash, or of Congress going along with such a recommendation. Goldberg noted, however, that the job figures are only one of a mixed bag of indices Kennedy is studying.

The job report is the first of the major July indicators. The rest, including reports on retail sales, expenditures and production, will be out in a few days, with the prospect Kennedy may make his decision by midmonth.

Senate Votes Funds For Coal Research

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted final approval Wednesday for a $3,450,000 appropriation intended to speed coal research projects during the current fiscal year.

The coal appropriation was part of a $885,362,000 Interior Department money bill which now goes to the White House.

Death Sentence Commuted

Paul Crump, scheduled to be electrocuted Friday, learns Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner has granted him a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. In Chicago jail scene are Warden Jack Johnson, right, who gave Crump the news, and Crump's attorney, Morris L. Simons. Crump's death sentence was changed to 199 years without parole. He was convicted in 1953 of slaying a watchman.

Governor Spares Killer Crump's Life

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Paul Crump's plea that he found a spiritual rebirth in his nine years facing the electric chair won him escape Wednesday for electrocution.

He had received 14 previous stays of execution.

Gov. Otto Kerner, acting on an unprecedented plea by a condemned man, granted executive clemency and cut Crump's punishment for murder from death to 199 years in prison, with a recommendation that he never be paroled.

The bid for life by the 32-year-old Negro killer and robber was unprecedented in that he no longer denied committing the crime for which he was convicted. He asked that the governor spare him because he had rehabilitated himself and could be a service to society.

His story, set forth in documents and in testimony taken by the Illinois Board of Parole and Pardons in an extraordinary hearing Monday, won over the governor only a day and a half before Crump was scheduled to die in the chair.

Kerner said Crump "must be accepted as rehabilitated," and added:

"Under the circumstances it would serve no useful purpose to society to take this man's life. The power of clemency entrusted to the governor permits giving effect to this judgment."

Tears welled in Crump's eyes when the word of the governor's action was brought him by one of his lawyers, Morris Simons, and the warden of Cook County—Chicago—jail, Jack Johnson.

"All the credit should go to God for my life," Crump said.

After hearing the governor's statement, he said "I am humbly thankful."

Those who carried on Crump's successful fight for his life said he had changed from a brutal, ruthless killer to a cooperative, peaceable prisoner. They argued that the semi-illiterate product of Chicago's underprivileged areas had developed into a man yearning for knowledge, for identity in society.

Crump was convicted of murdering Theodore Zukowski, 44, a guard in the Libby, McNeil & Libby plant, during a $20,000 holdup in the Union Stockyards in 1953. Four companions in the crime drew prison sentences.

65 Reported Still Missing In Quake

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Authorities ordered an immediate census in Pereira, Caldas Province, Wednesday after reports that 65 of 200 workers in a shirt factory when it was toppled by last Monday's earthquake still were missing.

More than 40 hours after the tremble, Colombia's sharpest in 10 years, rescue workers hacked away at the factory ruins looking for bodies. Only eight bodies have been removed so far.

The official death count remained at 47.

Senate Probers Told Of Threats Made By Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A highly agitated Billie Sol Estes was pictured to Senate investigators Wednesday as having threatened to embarrass the Kennedy administration unless an investigation of his cotton operations was halted.

Wilson Tucker, deputy director of the Agriculture Department's cotton division, testified that Estes also made a cryptic reference to the violent death of Henry Marshall while voicing what one senator termed "highly unusual threats."

Describing an encounter with Estes last Oct. 18, Tucker told the Senate Investigations subcommittee:

"Mr. Estes stated that this pooled (cotton) allotment matter had caused the death of one person and then asked me if I knew Henry Marshall."

Marshall, an employe of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, was found dead with five gunshot wounds in his body. His death was pronounced a suicide at first but Texas State Police now believe he was slain.

There has been conflicting testimony as to whether Marshall was trying to halt Estes' activities.

Advanced Atlas Rises From Silo, Roars Aloft

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An advanced Atlas F missile rose from its bombproof lair, paused to light its engines, then roared aloft Wednesday in the first lift-and-launch test of the nation's newest ocean-spanning rocket.

Its target: The Marshall Islands 5,000 miles west, headquarters for tests of the Nike Zeus missile killer rocket. In two previous firings at Atlases from Vandenberg, there have been a successful intercept and a failure. There was no word on whether a test was made Wednesday. The target zone is the lagoon of Eniwetok Island, northwest of Kwajalein Island, the Nike Zeus base.

The Atlas F—stored in 174-foot-deep concrete silos and elevated just before firing—will soon be installed at 72 sites across the country.

Wednesday's firing was the first to coordinate both the missile and its hardened launching pit. All previous tests were from surface pads at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The F model Atlas is an improved version of the surface-stored Atlas D and Atlas E and is similar in performance to the silo-stored Titan I, recently declared operational. Like the Atlas E and Titan I, the Atlas F carries its own guidance system, and does not have to be controlled by ground radio.

Both the Atlas F and the Titan I were designed to bridge the gap in the nation's arsenal between the early Atlas and the upcoming Titan II, which does not need to be elevated before launch but can be fired from the bottom of its silo.

Berliners Fear New Crisis; Red Chief To See 'K'

BERLIN (AP)—Walter Ulbricht the Red leader of East Germany, flew to the Soviet Union Wednesday amid speculation that the Communists were preparing to trigger a new Berlin crisis.

Ulbricht took with him the acting premier, Willi Stoph, according to a brief report by the official East German news agency, ADN.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev headed to the Black Sea last weekend for a vacation.

There has been renewed pressure by the Russians on West Berlin's air links to the West. Ulbricht's propaganda machine has stepped up its campaign against the presence of Western Allied garrisons.

Officials here recalled that Ulbricht made a trip to Moscow early last August and the Warsaw Pact nations put out an approving statement before he began building the Berlin wall Aug. 13.

News agencies of the Warsaw Pact nations put out a booklet Monday attacking West Berlin as a base for espionage and sabotage against the Communist bloc.

There was plenty for Ulbricht and Stoph to talk about with Soviet leaders.

Western officials speculated they might discuss:

—Whether Khrushchev could at last sign his long-promised peace treaty with East Germany without provoking nuclear war.

—East Germany's deteriorating economic situation and poor food supply.

Kennedy Hints U.S. May Modify A-Ban Inspection Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called Wednesday for stronger legislation to permit immediate removal of dangerous drugs, such as the tranquilizer thalidomide, from the market.

The President teed off a news conference with a statement pegged to thalidomide, which has been blamed for deformities in babies born to women who took the drug.

Kennedy said it is important that every woman check the medicine cabinet to make sure there is no thalidomide there. He spoke of "the terrible human tragedy" which has been visited on families in Germany because of use of the drug.

Kennedy praised the Food and Drug Administration and Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, its staff member who studied the drug, for forestalling its commercial distribution in this country.

He noted than congressional conferees have approved funds for a 25 per cent increase in FDA personnel, as recommended by his administration.

He said he hopes Congress will adopt provisions of the administration bill allowing immediate removal from the market of any drug believed dangerous.

What we need now are legislative safeguards to lessen the likelihood of such a tragedy again, and close cooperation with other countries in this field, he said.

A-Test Position Reviewed

Kennedy said, too, that the entire U.S. position with respect to nuclear tests is being reviewed to bring it into line with technical realities.

The administration, the President said, is reviewing factors needed to determine whether there can be a reduction in minimum requirements for inspections to check up on Soviet nuclear tests on Soviet territory.

A White House meeting on this subject was scheduled immediately after the news conference.

Asked if he had reached a decision about the extent and timing of additional nuclear tests Kennedy said he was waiting for the completion of repairs on the test stand at Johnston Island before deciding. He said he believed there were three tests still to be undertaken in the current series.

Kennedy expressed "very strong hope" the House will approve his proposal for this country to buy up to $100 million of U.N. bonds.

He said the United Nations is conducting vital negotiations that daily affect the peace of the world.

He said he believed the proposal was essential to the survival of the United Nations.

Asked about recent agreements seeming to ease tense situations in the Far East, Kennedy said he hopes the Laos accord will be implemented.

Prods Albany, Ga., Officials

He noted the Indonesian-Dutch agreement on West Guinea still has to be ratified by the two governments.

Still pending, he went on, is settlement of the difficulties in the Congo, where Katanga Province remains at odds with the central government.

The President said he found it "wholly inexplicable" why the city council at Albany, Ga., cannot sit down with Negro leaders in trying for a satisfactory solution of Negro-white relations. Kennedy said the system of sitting down in trying to work out solution to problems is common in international relations.

A poll showing 72 per cent of people in the country do not favor a tax cut now was cited by a questioner who asked whether this has any effect on the President's plans to consider tax recommendations.

Record Defense Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a $48,136,247,000 appropriation bill for the Defense Department Wednesday, completing congressional approval of the biggest peacetime defense money bill in history.

The House had previously passed the compromise bill, which carries funds for the year which started July 1. The Senate acted by voice vote.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., told the Senate the bill contains all major funds asked by President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and some 229 $million more than they sought.

Faubus Avoids Runoff In Assuring Fifth Term

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A serene, self-confident Gov. Orval E. Faubus stepped over the threshold to an unprecedented fifth term in Tuesday's Democratic primary, and he obviously was satisfied with the narrow majority by which he avoided a runoff.

Faubus collected 52 per cent of the votes in the six-man race. He had 195,749 votes to 179,814 for the combined opposition with only 81 precincts unreported.

The governor called the victory a vote for progress and against extremism.

Faubus had easily swept to victory in the first primary twice since the 1957 Little Rock integration crisis, of which he was the central figure. This was his closest race yet, and he said that was because he lost states rights (segregationist) votes to Rep. Dale Alford, who finished third.

Avoiding a runoff was considered important by Faubus' supporters, since no Arkansas governor ever has survived a runoff.

Faubus handed the segregationist standard to Alford this year and campaigned as "the captive of no extremist group." He called former Gov. Sid McMath, who finished second, the integrationists' candidate.

With only a handful of 2,348 precincts unreported Faubus had 195,749 votes, McMath 76,538, Alford 75,844, businessman Vernon Whitten 20,232, attorney Kenneth Coffelt, 5,136 and farmer David A. Cox 2,064.

Sen. J. William Fulbright easily won nomination for a fourth term over Winston Chandler of Little Rock, an arch-conservative.

Fulbright polled 209,722 votes, Chandler 110,002.

Both Fulbright and Faubus face Republican opposition in November, but Arkansas has not elected a Republican to a major office since reconstruction.

Faubus said at a news conference that he was never concerned about the outcome although an early 25,000 vote majority dwindled to less than 12,000 between midnight and dawn as boxes in major cities, where Faubus is weakest, were counted.

Judge To Name S&L Receiver

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Judge Ralph G. Shure of Montgomery County Circuit Court said Wednesday he would appoint a receiver to manage Maryland Thrift Savings and Loan Association of Silver Spring.

Judge Shure, who announced his plans on the third day of the trial on a state petition for receivership, said he would give Maryland Thrift a chance to establish a sound business before asking the receiver to liquidate it.

The name of the receiver will be announced Thursday, Judge Shure said.

The state charged in the petition that Maryland Thrift, which also has an office in Baltimore, was insolvent and was operating in an unsound and unsafe manner in violation of the state's new savings and loan regulatory law.

Judge Shure said the association made loans covered by property not adequately appraised and backed about $750,000 in accounts with less than 1 per cent of reserve funds.

The judge froze the funds of Maryland Thrift last April 18 to prevent further transactions pending this week's hearing.

The attorney for Maryland Thrift was Del. Alger Y. Barbee, D-Montgomery.

Capital-Dulles Airport Monorail Link Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency was reported Wednesday to have agreed to a study of a Maryland businessman's proposal for a monorail between Washington and Dulles Airport, now under construction.

The proposal was made by James C. Vancherie Sr., president of Monorail Transportation Co. of America, Inc., at a meeting with FAA officials. He also is mayor of Havre de Grace, Md.

The proposed $30 million system would be built over the median strip of the new, 30-mile federal highway between the airport at Chantilly, Va., and Washington.

An aide of Rep. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., said after the meeting that the FAA officials pointed out several problems.

These included the fact that the FAA has jurisdiction over only 17 of the 30 miles of the new highway, and it has contracted already with a limousine company and a bus company to furnish transportation to and from the airport.

The aide said the FAA officials, including G. Ward Hobbs, director of the Bureau of National Capital Airports, agreed to study these and other problems prior to another meeting, possibly within several weeks.

Kennedy Signs Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the $4,672,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill Wednesday and said it permits this country to speak with a stronger voice in world affairs.

The bill gives the President the authority he sought to continue limited aid to some Communist countries, such as Poland and Yugoslavia. An effort was made in the Senate to ban all aid for Communist nations.

The measure also provides a four-year $2.4 billion Alliance for Progress program in Latin America.

The bill's authorization for aid during the fiscal year which began last July 1 totals $206.5 million less than the President had asked. He may face more trimming when the appropriations bill comes up. The authorization bill merely sets ceilings.

Legislative

Kennedy said he is standing on his policy of waiting until the July figures on the economy are in—about Aug. 10—before deciding whether to recommend quick action.

He said the improved employment figures are encouraging, but that there is other data still to be received. At the appropriate time, he said, he will discuss the question with chairmen of appropriate congressional committees.

On other matters:

NORSTAD—Kennedy said Gen. Lauris Norstad asked to be relieved as NATO commander and that any rumors that the change in command means a chance in policy are wholly unfounded and untrue.

HEALTH — Kennedy was asked about the state of his health, particularly his "aching back."

"That depends upon the weather, political or otherwise," he replied, drawing a big laugh.

FALLOUT—Any radioactive materials produced by the nuclear tests in the air above Nevada have already been dissipated or soon will be, Kennedy said, and there are no plans for any more.

PERU—Kennedy said the United States is encouraged by the release of former President Manuel Prado in Peru, by restoration of civil liberties, and assurances free elections will be held. This government, he said, is anxious that assurances be given the present Peru regime will abide by the election results.

He expressed hope there will be other evidence of a return to free constitutional government in Peru.

Track Gang Blamed In PRR Wreck

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Pennsylvania Railroad said Wednesday "failure" of a maintenance gang to properly anchor track was the underlying cause of the "baseball special" wreck at Steelton, Pa., in which 19 persons died Saturday.

The railroad said insufficient anchors, summer heat and passage of another train over the track 75 minutes earlier caused one of the rails to become misaligned.

James P. Newell, PRR vice president in charge of operations, said the railroad will take "appropriate disciplinary action" against the supervisory personnel responsible for the "failure of this maintenance gang to observe specification and practices."

A spokesman said the disciplinary action could encompass a transfer, demotion or dismissal.

Newell explained that 3.3-mile of track in the Steelton area was being rehabilitated by replacement of worn cross ties, installation of new ballast and regrading.

He said a "lateral deflection" of the track caused the nine-car special to jump the track as it traveled along the banks of the Susquehanna River just east of Harrisburg. The three rear cars hurtled into the shallow water.

Terrorism Marks Argentine Strike

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Violent rioting broke out in downtown Buenos Aires Wednesday. Police used clubs and tear gas twice to break up strikers trying to hold a street rally.

The violence highlighted a day of widespread terrorism marking the start of a 48-hour anti-government general strike promoted largely by Communists and followers of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron.

The most violent street fighting took place in front of the dockside general labor confederation offices. Police fired tear gas shells uninterruptedly for seven minutes to disperse an estimated 1,500 strikers throwing bricks and stones at them.

Three Youths Charged With Setting Blazes

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Three youths, two of them members of a volunteer fire department, have been charged by the Anne Arundel County Arson Squad with setting a house blaze and two field fires.

Louis D. Annadale, 18, of Shady Side, identified as a member of the Avalon Shores Volunteer Fire Department, was released on $500 bond pending a hearing in Magistrate's Court.

The other suspects, both juveniles, were released in custody of their parents. One of them, 17 years old, also was identified as a member of the fire department.

They were charged with setting fire to a vacant house on Atwell Road which resulted in a $1,500 loss, and field fires at Idlewilde Road and West Shady Side Road.

Jets Carrying 184 Almost Hit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Two jet airliners carrying 184 persons narrowly avoided a collision over central Kansas Tuesday, and the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) Wednesday blamed the near-disaster on "human error" in its radar control center here.

The pilot of a Trans World Airlines plane, Capt. C. E. Davis of Los Angeles, veered his four-jet craft to the right to miss an oncoming American Airlines Boeing 707 with 104 persons aboard. There were 80 persons in the TWA Convair 880. Both planes were flying at a speed of approximately 600 miles per hour.

If the two planes had collided, it would have been the worst catastrophe in aviation history, surpassing the December, 1960, collision of TWA and United airliner over New York in which 134 persons died.

The FAA, in acknowledging the blame, suspended a controller and an air traffic coordinator pending further investigation of the incident. The agency refused to identify the two.

The FAA said jet planes traveling in opposite directions may fly at the same altitude, but the radar control center must order one to detour around the other before the planes come within five miles of each other.

Davis said he made the decision to turn his craft on his own, without instructions.

N&W Makes Offer For A&D Railway Co.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Norfolk & Western Railway announced Wednesday it had agreed to bid $1.5 million for the cash purchase of the Atlantic & Danville Railway Co., now in receivership.

If it acquires ownership, the N&W said, it will operate the 207-mile line between Norfolk and Danville.

U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman has approved the agreement, signed by Stuart T. Saunders, N&W president, and Seaborn J. Fournoy, of Portsmouth, sole A&D trustee.

Hoffman set a public hearing for Aug. 17 at Norfolk for a decree which would direct the sale of A&D property at public auction.

Man Drowns Trying To Retrieve Ball

BALTIMORE (AP)—A man trying to reach a ball thrown by a friend drowned in Middle River near Baltimore Wednesday.

Wayne Carrick of Baltimore was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospitals.

Police said Carrick was playing catch in shallow water with a friend, Miss Joann Stein, also of Baltimore. The ball sailed over Carrick's head into deeper water, and he went after it.

Carrick started calling for help and then disappeared. His body was recovered a few minutes later by a lifeguard, police said.

N&W Makes Offer For A&D Railway Co.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Norfolk & Western Railway announced Wednesday it had agreed to bid $1.5 million for the cash purchase of the Atlantic & Danville Railway Co., now in receivership.

If it acquires ownership, the N&W said, it will operate the 207-mile line between Norfolk and Danville.

U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman has approved the agreement, signed by Stuart T. Saunders, N&W president, and Seaborn J. Fournoy, of Portsmouth, sole A&D trustee.

Hoffman set a public hearing for Aug. 17 at Norfolk for a decree which would direct the sale of A&D property at public auction.

Man Drowns Trying To Retrieve Ball

BALTIMORE (AP)—A man trying to reach a ball thrown by a friend drowned in Middle River near Baltimore Wednesday.

Wayne Carrick of Baltimore was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospitals.

Police said Carrick was playing catch in shallow water with a friend, Miss Joann Stein, also of Baltimore. The ball sailed over Carrick's head into deeper water, and he went after it.

Carrick started calling for help and then disappeared. His body was recovered a few minutes later by a lifeguard, police said.

Kennedy said he is standing on his policy of waiting until the July figures on the economy are in—about Aug. 10—before deciding whether to recommend quick action.

He said the improved employment figures are encouraging, but that there is other data still to be received. At the appropriate time, he said, he will discuss the question with chairmen of appropriate congressional committees.

On other matters:

NORSTAD—Kennedy said Gen. Lauris Norstad asked to be relieved as NATO commander and that any rumors that the change in command means a chance in policy are wholly unfounded and untrue.

HEALTH — Kennedy was asked about the state of his health, particularly his "aching back."

"That depends upon the weather, political or otherwise," he replied, drawing a big laugh.

FALLOUT—Any radioactive materials produced by the nuclear tests in the air above Nevada have already been dissipated or soon will be, Kennedy said, and there are no plans for any more.

PERU—Kennedy said the United States is encouraged by the release of former President Manuel Prado in Peru, by restoration of civil liberties, and assurances free elections will be held. This government, he said, is anxious that assurances be given the present Peru regime will abide by the election results.

He expressed hope there will be other evidence of a return to free constitutional government in Peru.

LONDON (AP)—Homesick islanders from Tristan da Cunha are sending a six-man party on the liner Sterling Castle Aug. 9 to see whether destruction from a volcanic eruption they fled last November will prevent them from returning to their Atlantic homeland.

Terrorism Marks Argentine Strike

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Violent rioting broke out in downtown Buenos Aires Wednesday. Police used clubs and tear gas twice to break up strikers trying to hold a street rally.

The violence highlighted a day of widespread terrorism marking the start of a 48-hour anti-government general strike promoted largely by Communists and followers of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron.

The most violent street fighting took place in front of the dockside general labor confederation offices. Police fired tear gas shells uninterruptedly for seven minutes to disperse an estimated 1,500 strikers throwing bricks and stones at them.

Three Youths Charged With Setting Blazes

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Three youths, two of them members of a volunteer fire department, have been charged by the Anne Arundel County Arson Squad with setting a house blaze and two field fires.

Louis D. Annadale, 18, of Shady Side, identified as a member of the Avalon Shores Volunteer Fire Department, was released on $500 bond pending a hearing in Magistrate's Court.

The other suspects, both juveniles, were released in custody of their parents. One of them, 17 years old, also was identified as a member of the fire department.

They were charged with setting fire to a vacant house on Atwell Road which resulted in a $1,500 loss, and field fires at Idlewilde Road and West Shady Side Road.

Story Of Laika No. 1 On Soviet Small Fry List

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—In the eyes of Soviet small fry, the little dog Laika—first living creature to go into orbit around the earth—is a more interesting cosmonaut than the two humans, Majs. Yuri A. Gagarin and Gherman S. Titov.

In fact, the Soviet kids give equal top billing with Laika to the family of six pups she left behind her when she went aloft in a sputnik—several years ago—only to die a space martyr's death from lack of oxygen after fulfilling her job.

At least, that was the impression obtained by this reporter at the sprawling space exhibit of the Soviet Academy of Sciences—one of the top features of the Soviet Union's "exhibit of economic achievements."

The latter is a kind of "world's fair" of the Iron Curtain countries—featuring a spectacular display of the industrial, agricultural, scientific, cultural and even dress-making arts of the Soviet Union and Eastern bloc nations. It's still packing in the customers after being in business for about three years.

All day long, the children crowd around the special booth devoted to the story of Laika. A plastic-model reclines in a model of a sputnik animal-couch. And the kids read with obvious joy that Laika's puppies, pictures of which adorn the booth, are all still living.

The kids give far less attention as their parents crowd around the nearby booth devoted to the adventures of Gagarin and Titov.

Apparently Gagarin, first man to go into orbit, still rates as the No. 1 space jockey, even though Titov whirled around the planet 17 times, compared with Gagarin's single trip.

At least, Gagarin rates much more space in the halls, three booths to Titov's one. Gagarin also has a speaking role in the exhibit—a recording.

In a sound-movie featuring Gagarin, there's a real quickie shot of the launching of a rocket. But, it was photographed from such a distance that it does not even give a hint of answering the question bothering every western space scientist:

Just how many stages are there to the Soviet space rockets?

Venus Probe Destroyed Because Hyphen Omitted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States lost time in the space race, prestige and $18 million because of a missing hyphen in an equation, the House Space Committee was told Tuesday.

The error in a computer equation led to the destruction July 22 of a Venus probe launch vehicle and its scientific package, a few minutes after it was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The rocket was purposely destroyed after it strayed from its path and went out of control.

Richard B. Morrison, launch vehicle director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the committee that the missing hyphen was not noticed in 300 test runs of the equation before it was used to guide the Atlas-Agena vehicle on the Venus probe.

As he explained it to the committee, in nearly all launchings there are brief moments when the ground station loses radar contact with the vehicle. At such times the vehicle is supposed to follow its normal, planned trajectory, without the stream of instructions from the computer. The hyphen's function is to notify the vehicle to ignore certain data until radar contact is established again.

"When this rejection signal was left out," said Morrison "false information was fed to the computer. It commanded 'hard left, nose down,' and the vehicle responded" when contact was reestablished.

Morrison said the ultimate responsibility for the mistake lay with NASA, but prodded by the committee to pinpoint responsibility he traced it to Space Technology Laboratory, an Air Force contractor.

"I don't know who the individual was," he said, "but I would imagine he is a senior engineer with a doctor's degree in mathematics and considerable experience in celestial mathematics."

Fuchs In Hospital

BERLIN (UPI) — The West Berlin newspaper Bild Zeitung said Tuesday atomic spy Klaus Fuchs is being treated in an East German sanitorium for a nervous breakdown caused by the mistrust of fellow workers who consider him a Russian spy. Fuchs, 51, spent 10 years in prison in Britain for leaking Western atomic secrets to the Russians. On his release in 1959 he became deputy director of the East German Central Institute for nuclear physics at Rossendorf.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Hupp Corp. announced it has sold 80 per cent of the capital stock of its Gemco Inc. subsidiary to a group of Gemco officers for an undisclosed amount of cash. The agreement carried an option for the buyers to purchase the remaining 20 per cent of the capital stock in 1967. Gemco makes jettisonable pylon and bomb rack assemblies.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Boeing Co. announced receipt Tuesday of five Air Force contracts totaling $28,550,000 for assembly and maintenance of equipment at various Minuteman missile sites across the country.

ENKA, N.C. (UPI)—American Enka Corp. announced plans to build a new nylon and polyester yarn plant in Lowland, Tenn., where the company already has two plants in operation.

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Canadian government said Tuesday Britain has re-negotiated a contract to buy 24 million pounds of Canadian refined uranium at $5.03 a pound. There will be an additional allowance for carrying charges to Eldorado Mining & Refining, Ltd., the Canadian government company. Deliveries will run into early 1970.

The original cost of the White House was defrayed from the sale of land in Maryland and Virginia.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) —To kiss or not to kiss during younger than springtime years—10 to 16—has been a topic of controversy for centuries.

On one hand, there's Juliet and Cleopatra to consider. Both were much less than 16 when they became femme fatales.

History aside, there's the "sweet 16 and never been kissed" legend to live up to.

The dilemma of girls in the growing up years is one that Candy Jones, former cover girl, researched in preparation for a new book—"Time to Grow Up" (Harper and Roe).

In an interview, Miss Jones, now head of the Candy Jones career girl school, said it's virtually impossible for a girl to get from ten to 16 without at least having been kissed on the cheek.

She's not for first date kissing, necking, or anything of the sort, of course.

Against Necking

"My feeling is that nothing good can come of necking," Miss Jones said.

"I tell the girls 'growing up' that it's a bore to fool around with necking because sooner or later it just might get out of hand.

"And now dreadfully sorry. . ."

From her experience working with girls in the preteens to 16 range, Miss Jones said she's discovered that the normal, healthy girl is very much aware of boys.

"The typical girl is not quite certain whether she wants to punch freckle - faced Tom in the nose for yanking her pony tail or smile at him to show her appreciation for his attention," she said.

"I would say she realizes, though, that it's sometimes not nice or even important to be kissed. She wants to be kissable but not kissed."

What about the girls who aren't kissable? Miss Jones said they usually can be counted on to:

—Beat boys at all sports assume pretzel like postures around the clock; show bubble gum at all times; gossip, wear their hair in the eyes and live in slacks; interrupt conversations and make mistakes in acceptable English when they speak; forget at all times that they are girls.

Miss Jones' book, sub-titled "An Affectionate Guide for Girls from 10 to 16," considers all problems facing growing up girls.

She deals with problems involving posture, speech, appearance, etiquette and the special ones involving parents, teachers and grown-ups.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street analysts are finding some nuggets of encouragement after a long period of meager gleanings.

They feel these developments may already be showing up in the market's recent advance and hope they will provide fuel for a more extensive summer rally.

The main factor is whether investors' confidence will be renewed by some bright spots in what has been a bleak picture.

The brokerage firm, Bache & Co., considers the settlement between General Electric Co. and the federal government "a thoroughly constructive development."

GE agreed to pay the government $7.47 million in damage for over-payments resulting from price fixing. This settled the company's share of 11 damage suits filed by the government. Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner estimated that if settlement could be achieved in all the suits against GE on the same basis as in the government's case, the cost to the company would be about $50 million, or 67 cents a share.

"The settlement not only shows that the administration was not seeking any pound of flesh but also should lead to prompt and moderate settlements in other outstanding cases," commented Bache.

Another broker, Shearson, Hammill & Co. sees a reasonably good prospect that the United States' gold problem will become less acute before too long.

It feels that President Kennedy's statement that the dollar won't be devalued, coupled with the rise in interest rates that has occurred over the past two months, should reduce the flight of money from this country and thereby ease pressure on the balance of payments.

Furthermore, the firm says, there appears to be a good chance that interest rates will rise further, particularly if a tax cut is enacted.

Unemployed Fathers Will Get Checks, Make Up Time

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Welfare Department Tuesday mailed out about 12,000 checks totaling $1,289,882 as July payments to unemployed fathers in the Aid to Dependent Children Program.

The checks were sent out despite the fact that recipients only worked a few days during July because of the delay in Congress in authorizing funds for the program for fiscal 1962-63.

Welfare Commissioner Bernard Smith said the workers would make up the time later on.

Only Bolivian Indians are able to work the country's tin mines, located at altitudes of 12,000 feet or higher, because of the thin air of the Andes.

Counterfeit $20 Bills Found In Baltimore Area

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Secret Service alerted merchants in the Baltimore area Tuesday to watch for phony $20 bills being distributed in East Coast cities.

The counterfeit bills as distinguishable by the lightness of printing and certain defects which appear on each one. Some of the notes are printed on bond paper instead of the usual Federal Reserve paper.

W. K. Deckard, agent in charge of the SS Baltimore office, said the counterfeit ring apparently is well established. It has passed 15 of the fake bills in Baltimore in recent weeks and Deckard believes more of them will turn up here.

"I can't see how we will miss," Deckard said.

The outbreak of counterfeiting was discovered six weeks ago in New York. Lunchroom, bars and hamburger shops have been hardest hit in the cities, including Atlantic ocean resorts.

Agents are hopeful that an alert clerk will write down the license number of a car driven by someone who has passed a bill and provide a solid lead to the operators.

So far, the Secret Service has identified 13 plates from which the bills were printed. Deckard said this indicates the fake currency in circulation could run into million of dollars.

The phony bills have the name of the New York Federal Reserve Bank on them and a "B" in the Federal Reserve seal. They are series 1950 B.

Pepperdine College Founder Dies At 76

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — George Pepperdine, an auto supply chain store magnate who founded Pepperdine College here, died Tuesday at the age of 76.

Death came at his home. He had been in failing health for about a year.

Pepperdine, a native of Kansas, was one of the first merchandisers to hit on the idea to market accessories for automobiles. This was in the early stages of the development of the automobile in 1907.

He opened a mail order business with, legend has it, the sum total of $5. This flowered into the Western Auto supply stores, multi-million dollar chain. Pepperdine moved to Los Angeles in 1916.

He sold his interests in 1937 and founded Pepperdine College with a $2 million grant to the Church of Christ.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) —To kiss or not to kiss during younger than springtime years—10 to 16—has been a topic of controversy for centuries.

On one hand, there's Juliet and Cleopatra to consider. Both were much less than 16 when they became femme fatales.

History aside, there's the "sweet 16 and never been kissed" legend to live up to.

The dilemma of girls in the growing up years is one that Candy Jones, former cover girl, researched in preparation for a new book—"Time to Grow Up" (Harper and Roe).

In an interview, Miss Jones, now head of the Candy Jones career girl school, said it's virtually impossible for a girl to get from ten to 16 without at least having been kissed on the cheek.

She's not for first date kissing, necking, or anything of the sort, of course.

Against Necking

"My feeling is that nothing good can come of necking," Miss Jones said.

"I tell the girls 'growing up' that it's a bore to fool around with necking because sooner or later it just might get out of hand.

"And now dreadfully sorry. . ."

From her experience working with girls in the preteens to 16 range, Miss Jones said she's discovered that the normal, healthy girl is very much aware of boys.

"The typical girl is not quite certain whether she wants to punch freckle - faced Tom in the nose for yanking her pony tail or smile at him to show her appreciation for his attention," she said.

"I would say she realizes, though, that it's sometimes not nice or even important to be kissed. She wants to be kissable but not kissed."

What about the girls who aren't kissable? Miss Jones said they usually can be counted on to:

—Beat boys at all sports assume pretzel like postures around the clock; show bubble gum at all times; gossip, wear their hair in the eyes and live in slacks; interrupt conversations and make mistakes in acceptable English when they speak; forget at all times that they are girls.

Miss Jones' book, sub-titled "An Affectionate Guide for Girls from 10 to 16," considers all problems facing growing up girls.

She deals with problems involving posture, speech, appearance, etiquette and the special ones involving parents, teachers and grown-ups.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street analysts are finding some nuggets of encouragement after a long period of meager gleanings.

They feel these developments may already be showing up in the market's recent advance and hope they will provide fuel for a more extensive summer rally.

The main factor is whether investors' confidence will be renewed by some bright spots in what has been a bleak picture.

The brokerage firm, Bache & Co., considers the settlement between General Electric Co. and the federal government "a thoroughly constructive development."

GE agreed to pay the government $7.47 million in damage for over-payments resulting from price fixing. This settled the company's share of 11 damage suits filed by the government. Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner estimated that if settlement could be achieved in all the suits against GE on the same basis as in the government's case, the cost to the company would be about $50 million, or 67 cents a share.

"The settlement not only shows that the administration was not seeking any pound of flesh but also should lead to prompt and moderate settlements in other outstanding cases," commented Bache.

Another broker, Shearson, Hammill & Co. sees a reasonably good prospect that the United States' gold problem will become less acute before too long.

It feels that President Kennedy's statement that the dollar won't be devalued, coupled with the rise in interest rates that has occurred over the past two months, should reduce the flight of money from this country and thereby ease pressure on the balance of payments.

Furthermore, the firm says, there appears to be a good chance that interest rates will rise further, particularly if a tax cut is enacted.

Unemployed Fathers Will Get Checks, Make Up Time

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Welfare Department Tuesday mailed out about 12,000 checks totaling $1,289,882 as July payments to unemployed fathers in the Aid to Dependent Children Program.

The checks were sent out despite the fact that recipients only worked a few days during July because of the delay in Congress in authorizing funds for the program for fiscal 1962-63.

Welfare Commissioner Bernard Smith said the workers would make up the time later on.

Only Bolivian Indians are able to work the country's tin mines, located at altitudes of 12,000 feet or higher, because of the thin air of the Andes.

Wesley Gordon, David Norris, James Heavner and Eileen Morgan will serve as tribe leaders. Donna Simpson and Rheba James will be recreation leaders; Helen Morgan and Marvel Major, song leaders. Royce Simpson will be keeper of supplies and Joyce Simpson, page-usher.

Club Week, the annual get-together of 4-H'ers from all the counties in the state, will be held August 6-11 at the University of Maryland. The group will be divided into the Algonquin and Iroquois nations in the Indian tradition.

All will attend classes. The 12-to-14-year-olds will explore photography, safety, electricity, weights and measures, food snacks, clothing and color.

Special workshops will be held for 15 years and older, with first, second and third choices. They include "Horse-Sense on Leadership," "Teenage 1962 Style" of what and how to buy, grooming, care of what you have, how do you rate with the boys and girls and with your employer; "Express Yourself with Ease," public speaking, and putting ideas across; "Put Your Best Foot Forward," good manners, for date, telephone, table, travel and social functions; and "Build a Better You" learning about yourself, learning what in life is really important and one's philosophy in life.

Monday, Rev. Charles Rowe, American University Methodist Chaplain, will speak on "What Is Worthwhile?" Dr. Donald Cox, National Aeronautics and Space Administration representative, will present a spacemobile lecture and demonstration on Wednesday, a day that also will feature tours of Washington's Wax Museum, National Gallery of Art, Smithsonian Institution, FBI building, Lincoln and Jefferson memorials and the zoo. Thursday there will be a concert by the Second Army Band and talk by William Schmidt, superintendent, Prince George's County schools, on his trip to Russia. Commemorating the land-grant centennial this year, will be Friday's dress revue, "A Drama of Dress" that will star 100 years of fashions. Necdet Kocaker of Turkey and Miss Fanny Elena Jordan R. of Ecuador, IFYEs, will visit Club week.

Our Flag of Cumberland Council 100, DofA, will have a class initiation at 8 tonight at Junior Order hall.

Planning Group 5 of the Farm Bureau will meet tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brode, Hoffman.

Campers Have Busy Schedule

"Visitors Day" will be held today at the Adult Camp being conducted at the Western Maryland 4-H Center, near Bittinger, Garrett County this week.

Last evening a talent night was held and Tuesday Mrs. Elizabeth Tate, from the Potomac Edison office, gave a demonstration on home lighting.

Monday morning the group had classes in crafts and went swimming and boating in the afternoon. Mrs. Eva Barton conducted the vesper service Monday evening.

The first "wooden nickel" was issued in 1932 by the Tenino, Wash., Chamber of Commerce, according to Chase Manhattan Bank.

Allegany 1957 Reunion Program Is Completed

Categories for prizes were selected at the meeting of the reunion committee of the Allegany High School class of 1957, which was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Joan MacDonald, Gephart Drive.

They will be given to the couple married the longest; the most recently married; the one coming the greatest distance; the one with the most children; the one with the youngest child and the most changed.

The reunion will be in the form of a dinner and dance August 11 at the Ali Ghan Country Club, beginning with a cocktail hour at 6 p. m. The dinner is to be at 7, and dancing to music by the Modernaires will begin at 9.

Going over the plans, the committee decided to take reservations until August 6. They are to be made by calling Mrs. Martha Miller Strickland.

Arthur W. Taylor, a teacher of the class and the one to whom the 1957 Allegewi yearbook was dedicated, will be the guest speaker. John Workmeister Jr. will be the master of ceremonies and a welcome will be extended by Miss Joan MacDonald. Roll call will be by Miss Marianne Hoelzer and Miss Carol Isiminger.

A review of the class highlights is to be given by Michael Gingerich. The invocation will be given by Donald Turley and prayer offered by Miss Hoelzer.

Guests will include Mrs. Taylor and Dr. and Mrs. W. Ardell Haines.

Mr. Workmeister is general chairman, with Miss MacDonald cochairman; Mr. Turley, treasurer; Miss Isiminger, chairman of arrangements; Mrs. Rosalie Femi Thomas, entertainment; Mrs. Strickland, reservations; Miss Marilyn Hevel, publicity, and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, teacher advisor.

The assisting committee includes Mrs. Elaine Haines Martin, Mrs. Carol Keller Firlie, Donald Lawrence, Miss Dorothy Liebrant, Ronald Diehl, Ronald Bruce, Mr. Gingerich, Mrs. Sandra Hatfield Madden, Mrs. Barbara Hall Crossland, Miss Beverly Warnick, Mrs. Nancy Comer Lantz, Mrs. Donna Sheetz Shambaugh and Miss Hoelzer.

Secrets Of Charm

Foods To Add Pep — Not Pounds

Yes, this is a land of plenty, and we eat up that pently — too much of it, too often! Are your weaknesses desserts? Or do you lean toward between-meal candy bars, sodas, and peanut butter sandwiches?

These things, in moderation, are good for everyone. Eaten as substitutes for fresh fruits and vegetables, they will create only bulk — never beauty. The overweight body loses youth, just as the underweight loses femininity . . . both states are equally unenviable!

You must educate your appetite in order to sparkle with health and vitality. Favor foods that burn up into energy, not those that store up in the tissues to create a "spare tire."

Identify your weaknesses among the fattening foods (it may be potatoes, sauces, or desserts) and conquer it before you become the conquered. Substitute cheese and fresh fruit for calorie-laden concoctions. Eat salads with a dressing of lemon or lime juice and only a sprinkling of oil . . . or toss a salad with cottage cheese instead of mayonnaise and French dressing.

Be realist about what you eat every day. Those tidbits before dinner: are they beautifying fillers or are they fatteners? The cream soup that is your first course: wouldn't you be just as satisfied with clear, hot bouillon amounting to half the calories? Couldn't you enjoy fresh broccoli flavored with lemon juice as much as potatoes mashed with lots of milk and butter? You can, if you set a slimmed-down self as your goal.

Think of all the vitality foods you can have at just one hundred calories — for example, a salad combining two tablespoons of cottage cheese with a cup of mixed fruits; or a tossed salad consisting of one carrot, one tomato, one cup shredded cabbage, one-half cucumber, four or five radishes. When you're tempted to dress them with toppings that double and triple their caloric count, don't give in to your particular dietary weakness!

Local Girl Wins Prizes In 3 Shows

After spending one month in camp learning horsemanship, Barbara Foose, nine year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Foose, LaVale, won a first and third place in the 28th annual Montpelier, Vt., Horse Show in open horsemanship for children under 14.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Marlyn Childs of Tundridge, Vt., professional horsemistress, Barbara participated in three different horse shows. She received a second place in the Essex Junction Show and fourth at the Warren, Vt., show.

In September Barbara expects to attend LaVale School. Last year she was a student at Country Day School, York, Pa., and the year before that attended the Thomas G. Pullen School in Frostburg.

LEARNING HORSEMANSHIP — Barbara Foose, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Foose, participated in three horse shows in Vermont this summer, while attending camp.

Delegate Appointed

Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg was named to represent the United Democratic Women's Club of Allegany County at the state rally, which will be held at Ocean City, August 24, 25 and 26.

The appointment was made at a meeting of the club, held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland presented a slate of officers for election in October.

Mrs. Jim McQuown, Cumberland, was named president; Miss Martha Rogan, Mount Savage, vice president; Mrs. Fred Warner Jr., Cresaptown, recording secretary; Mrs. John Mason, Cresaptown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Olive Patton, Frostburg, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert R. Blanchard, Cumberland, parliamentarian.

District chairmen will be selected in October.

Discussing the booth the State Central Committee will have at the Cumberland Fair, August 20 through 25, plans were formulated for members to assist.

A dutch treat luncheon followed with Thomas B. Finan, attorney general and various county candidates as guests.

The tallest United States president, Abraham Lincoln, stood 6-feet-4-inches tall. James Madison, the shortest, was 5-feet-4.

Md. Joins Nation In Teen Nutrition Program

A Maryland youthpower program, now getting under way, is part of a nation-wide educational effort on "Food for Teenage Fitness." According to Mrs. Judith Pheil, Extension Food and nutrition specialist, a group of people with leadership in the Associated Young People of the Maryland Farm Bureau, are sponsoring the program concentrating on teenage nutrition. Other participants are the 4-H Clubs, Scouts, Red Cross, Maryland Physical Fitness Committee, Dairy Council and schools.

Expected activities in the year long program include poster competitions on nutrition, essays, meal planning, news stories, and radio and television programs.

The youthpower committees in several counties have already sponsored "Better Breakfasts," planned, prepared and served by the teenagers. They also have organized and presented talks and skits on nutrition.

The Youthpower committee in each county home demonstration agent located in your Extension office will have ideas for teenage nutrition programs. Call on them and get started in a challenging program for 1962-63.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was widowed at the age of 31. My daughter and I were just like sisters. We went every place together and always had a wonderful time. She had a good job, and never would accept a marriage proposal because she was content at home with me.

Two years ago she was transferred to another city. I was very lonely at first. Then I met a man and started to go out. My daughter was happy for me. When I told her he wanted me to marry him she was all for it. I've been married for 13 months and now I think I made a mistake.

My daughter is being transferred back here and I want her to live with us. My husband is violently opposed to the idea. Do you think it is right for a man to be jealous of his wife's daughter? I feel that since my daughter passed up marriage to be with me that I should divorce this man and make a home for her. What do you think? —DARDANELLA

DEAR DARDANELLA: Forget the sister act and be a wife. If your daughter has any brains she'll refuse the transfer even if it means her job. This girl needs to make a life for herself and she'll never do it if she moves back to the city in which you live.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been dating a fine young man for several months. He hopes to be a certified public accountant next year. Perhaps this romance will never blossom into anything permanent, but even so I like him and I want to help him.

Norman (not his real name) is so careless about his personal grooming that sometimes I'm embarrassed to be seen in public with him. He never cleans his fingernails, his hair is always in need of a trimming, and I don't believe he ever has his suits pressed or his shoes shined.

I want him to succeed in his profession even if we don't marry and I know personal appearance is important. But how do I tell him without offending? Should I joke about it? I'm afraid to try a serious discussion. Or would it be best to accept him for his good qualities (which are many) and forget the rest?

—WALKING ON EGGS

DEAR WALKING: This is no joking matter. Have a straight talk with the young man.

If he's too thick-skulled to appreciate the favor, then he is the loser, not you.

Don't make the fatal error of remaining silent in the hope that you can change him after marriage. A man who won't clean himself up for his sweetheart certainly won't do it for his wife.

DEAR ANN: I'm a happily married woman with three children. Last week my mother wrote that she is coming to make her home with us.

Dad passed away six months ago. His life with my mother was plain hell. Her rotten temper and impossible demands drove him to drink. She blamed him for wrecking her life, when it was the other way around.

When I was growing up I spent most of my spare hours with my aunt who lived nearby. I was never close to my mother and I avoided her whenever possible. My husband can't stand my mother and he doesn't even want her here for a visit.

Mother always spent money foolishly and now she is almost broke. She's in her mid-50's and could work, but she's such a bossy type I don't think she could hold a job.

I spoke with my minister and he says I should accept her into our home. I'm afraid it will mean the end of my marriage. What shall I do? —TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Your first obligation is to the man you married. No wife should be forced against her will to accept her husband's mother into her home. The same goes for a man when it is his mother-in-law.

Do what you can to help her financially, even if it means a genuine sacrifice. But don't let her move into your home, uninvited, and make a shambles of your marriage.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help for the Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Local Girl Wins Prizes In 3 Shows

After spending one month in camp learning horsemanship, Barbara Foose, nine year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Foose, LaVale, won a first and third place in the 28th annual Montpelier, Vt., Horse Show in open horsemanship for children under 14.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Marlyn Childs of Tundridge, Vt., professional horsemistress, Barbara participated in three different horse shows. She received a second place in the Essex Junction Show and fourth at the Warren, Vt., show.

In September Barbara expects to attend LaVale School. Last year she was a student at Country Day School, York, Pa., and the year before that attended the Thomas G. Pullen School in Frostburg.

LEARNING HORSEMANSHIP — Barbara Foose, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Foose, participated in three horse shows in Vermont this summer, while attending camp.

Delegate Appointed

Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg was named to represent the United Democratic Women's Club of Allegany County at the state rally, which will be held at Ocean City, August 24, 25 and 26.

The appointment was made at a meeting of the club, held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland presented a slate of officers for election in October.

Mrs. Jim McQuown, Cumberland, was named president; Miss Martha Rogan, Mount Savage, vice president; Mrs. Fred Warner Jr., Cresaptown, recording secretary; Mrs. John Mason, Cresaptown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Olive Patton, Frostburg, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert R. Blanchard, Cumberland, parliamentarian.

District chairmen will be selected in October.

Discussing the booth the State Central Committee will have at the Cumberland Fair, August 20 through 25, plans were formulated for members to assist.

A dutch treat luncheon followed with Thomas B. Finan, attorney general and various county candidates as guests.

The tallest United States president, Abraham Lincoln, stood 6-feet-4-inches tall. James Madison, the shortest, was 5-feet-4.

Md. Joins Nation In Teen Nutrition Program

A Maryland youthpower program, now getting under way, is part of a nation-wide educational effort on "Food for Teenage Fitness." According to Mrs. Judith Pheil, Extension Food and nutrition specialist, a group of people with leadership in the Associated Young People of the Maryland Farm Bureau, are sponsoring the program concentrating on teenage nutrition. Other participants are the 4-H Clubs, Scouts, Red Cross, Maryland Physical Fitness Committee, Dairy Council and schools.

Expected activities in the year long program include poster competitions on nutrition, essays, meal planning, news stories, and radio and television programs.

The youthpower committees in several counties have already sponsored "Better Breakfasts," planned, prepared and served by the teenagers. They also have organized and presented talks and skits on nutrition.

The Youthpower committee in each county home demonstration agent located in your Extension office will have ideas for teenage nutrition programs. Call on them and get started in a challenging program for 1962-63.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS:: I was widowed at the age of 31. My daughter and I were just like sisters. We went every place together and always had a wonderful time. She had a good job, and never would accept a marriage proposal because she was content at home with me.

Two years ago she was transferred to another city. I was very lonely at first. Then I met a man and started to go out. My daughter was happy for me. When I told her he wanted me to marry him she was all for it. I've been married for 13 months and now I think I made a mistake.

My daughter is being transferred back here and I want her to live with us. My husband is violently opposed to the idea. Do you think it is right for a man to be jealous of his wife's daughter? Six Industries Ask Aid To Meet Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON (AP(— Spokesmen for the coal, poultry, paper, chemical, mirror and braided rug industries asked the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday for help against foreign competition.

Some of the witnesses endorsed the general principles of President Kennedy's trade expansion bill now before the committee, but asked for special provisions to aid them. Others opposed the measure as now written.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the National Coal Conference, contended that present quotas on imports of residual fuel oil are ineffective because they are constantly being increased.

Victor Pringle, general manager of the Rockingham Poultry Marketing Cooperative, Broadway, Va., appearing for the poultry industry, said poultry men support the bill generally, but believe the president must be given sharper tools to stop restrictions on U.S. farm products abroad.

The European Common Market today is putting into effect new barriers against American poultry including discriminatory duties, gate prices and variable import fees, he testified.

Gabriel J. Ticoulat, vice president of Crown Zellerbach Corp., appearing for the American Paper and Pulp Association, said his industry is willing to accept freer trade, so long as there is equality of treatment between the United States and its trading partners.

But, he said, it insists on "legislation to assure us that this equality will not be circumvented by devices such as excises taxes, quotas, allocations, licensing arrangements and currency exchange restrictions."

Thomas H. Morris, president of the American Mirror Co., Galax, Va., appearing for the National Association of Mirror Manufacturers, said his industry opposes the bill because under it the president could eliminate all duties on mirrors.

The present 20 per cent tariff on mirrors is the only thing that enables the U.S. industry to compete with foreign firms which pay wages about one-fourth as much the American companies, he said.

Freight Rate Dispute Enters Another Round

BALTIMORE (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission order allowing railroads to charge the same rates on iron ore shipped from Philadelphia as from Baltimore to the Midwest has been filed in U.S. District Court.

The suit was another round in a nine-year case which Baltimore interests have been fighting to maintain a preferential railroad freight differential over the ports of Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

The district court in New York recently ordered the ICC to reconsider its order putting rates in New York on a parity with Baltimore and Philadelphia. The action here is to obtain a similar decision between Baltimore and Philadelphia rates.

The dispute over iron ore rates is separate from one on general freight rates which also is being fought in the courts by Baltimore interests.

Three railroads — Baltimore and Ohio, Canton, and Western Maryland — are among those seeking a restoration of lower rates on freight passing through the Baltimore port.

Cat Died Quickly; Was He Cruel?

SALISBURY (AP) — A man convicted of cruelty to animals says he isn't guilty because the cat he shot died instantly.

Through his attorney, Otis Lee Townsend appealed his conviction to Wicomico Circuit Court, which will hear his case during the September term.

Townsend pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to discharging a firearm on the highway but innocent to cruelty to animals, assault and disorderly conduct. He was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $175.

Fred Cooper, a storekeeper at nearby Wetipquin, brought the charges. He said Townsend drove up to his store Saturday, shot the cat and drove off.

12 B&O Freight Cars Derail At Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — Repair crews worked Wednesday night to clear the tracks after derailment of a dozen freight cars on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The cars were empty on the end of a train heading for Philadelphia. No one was hurt.

The B&O no longer operates passenger trains east of Baltimore and freight trains blocked by the derailment were routed over nearby Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

Medical experts indicate that a person who recovers from a cold will probably be immune to another cold for an average of about seven weeks.

Maryland News In Brief

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Alfred L. Moseley, a traffic expert from Harvard, will address the Maryland Youth Traffic Safety Conference next Wednesday.

Student safety leaders from round Maryland will attend the meeting. Also scheduled to speak is Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. said Wednesday it will start construction immediately of the nation's first plant to produce the concentrate from which cobalt is extracted.

Cobalt is used in spacecraft and in the aircraft, missile, metallurgical and tool industries. The cobalt leaching operation will consist of collecting and quenching pyrite ore and concentrating the copper and cobalt it contains.

Bethlehem said it expects to extract about 700,000 pounds of cobalt annually from the plant.

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Three persons burned in the fire of a boat moored at Ocean City were reported in fairly satisfactory condition Wednesday.

They are Byron R. Hale, owner of the 32-foot fishing boat; his daughter, Carolyn, 17, and Frank Lewis Jr., of Willards, Md. The fire started Tuesday apparently from gasoline fumes which collected in the bilge.

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Callas Contractors, Inc., submitted the low estimate of $866,964 to build the new courthouse annex in Washington County.

The Blake Co. was apparent low bidder at $111,800 for the underground civil defense center. County commissioners took the bids under study.

WALDORF, Md. (AP) — The body of James H. Forsyth Jr., 43, Silver Spring, was found at the bottom of a motel swimming pool Tuesday night.

Efforts by the Waldorf Fire Department and the Charles County Rescue Squad to revive Forsyth were unsuccessful. An autopsy to determine the cause of death was planned.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant of $53,000 to a team of University of Maryland mathematicians to continue technical investigations begun two years ago.

Dr. James Hummel, Dr. Mischael Zedek and Prof. Robert H. Mountjoy are directing the project, called Problems in Geometric Function Theory.

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Some 25 peach and apple growers from the Hendersonville area of North Carolina toured Wednesday the fruit belt of the Martinsburg area.

The North Carolina growers tour various fruit-growing sections each year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Dr. Joseph Silverman of the University of Maryland has been granted $25,000 for research in radiation.

The grant was awarded by the Walter F. Joyce Foundation of Dallas. Dr. Silverman said his investigation involves bombardment by radiation of selected particles to determine how energetic they are before and after damage because of radiation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $365,500 allocation for expansion and improvement of Friendship International Airport near Baltimore was announced Wednesday.

Rep. Richard E. Lankford, D-Md., said he was advised by the Federal Aviation Agency that the money will be used to buy land for a new runway and to construct a building to house fire and rescue equipment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The auto speed limit in Washington alleys will be doubled Aug. 9. The present 7-mile an hour limit was described as "completely unrealistic."

The District of Columbia commissioners made the new limit 15 miles an hour.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. John S. Cooper, R-Ky, will be guest speaker at a campaign dinner Sept. 7 for Newton I. Steers, Republican candidate for Maryland congressman-at-large.

The dinner is being sponsored by a committee promoting Steers' candidacy in Baltimore. It will be held at the Alcazar.

Two Youths Indicted In Teacher's Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two 16-year-old Baltimore youths were indicted Wednesday on a charge that they murdered Corrine Shelby, 41-year-old school teacher.

Her blanket-wrapped body was found in a shallow grave near Pottstown, Pa., last Saturday.

The boys, Albert S. Ruffin and Ivan B. Sedgewick, were ordered held without bail.

Returned In Custody

BALTIMORE (AP)—Detectives returned to Baltimore Wednesday a 21-year-old woman charged with leaving her month-old son at a bus station last month.

The woman, Mae Bridget Gildea of Baltimore, was arrested during a routine check at Cambridge, Ohio. Bail was set at $500.

Electronics Plant

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Textron, Inc., said Wednesday it will establish a plant at Grant's Pass, Ore., to make defense electronics components. The plant will be leased from the Josephine Development Corp., formed by local citizens and the Pacific Power & Light Co. Production is expected to start Sept. 15.

Swedish Firm

SAN MARINO, Calif. (UPI) — Avery Adhesive Products, Inc., announced Wednesday it has acquired Antonson-Avery, AB, of Gothenburg, Sweden. H. Russell Smith, president, said the Swedish company, formerly a licensee of the suburban Los Angeles firm, will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary and will continue under its present management.

Unemployment Show Increase In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP) — Unemployment increased in Maryland in June.

The Department of Employment Security said Wednesday the rate increased from 4.7 per cent in May to 5.2 per cent in June.

The number of persons unemployed in June increased by 7,200 to 60,700. The department attributed the increased unemployment to the influx of school and college graduates into the labor market.

Although the unemployment increased, employment also increased during June by 20,600 to 1,108,600 — a new total employment record for the month.

Seasonal expansion in agriculture, construction, trade and service industries were responsible for the increase in employment.

Woman Maryland's 306th Traffic Fatality

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — A car smashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer at the intersection of U.S. 301 and Maryland 213 Tuesday night, killing Etta C. Juerss of Severna Park.

Hers was the 306th traffic fatality of the year in Maryland, 71 more than on the corresponding date of 1961.

The driver of the truck, Alvin M. Cain, 43, Salem, N.J., was not hurt but the driver of the car, William A. Fishpaw, 52, Arnold, Md., was admitted to Memorial Hospital in Easton.

July One Of Coolest In 30 Years

By The Associated Press

The Weather Bureau said Wednesday that July was one of the coolest in more than 30 years in portions of Maryland and Delaware.

The cooler temperatures was due in part, the bureau said, to excess amounts of cloudiness.

Rainfall was well below normal in most localities, but an increased amount during the past two weeks was expected to help in the sizing of crops.

The five-day forecast calls for slightly lower than normal temperatures through Monday, with some showers likely Friday and again about Monday.

More men than women in the United States are considerably overweight.

Six Industries Ask Aid To Meet Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON (AP(— Spokesmen for the coal, poultry, paper, chemical, mirror and braided rug industries asked the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday for help against foreign competition.

Some of the witnesses endorsed the general principles of President Kennedy's trade expansion bill now before the committee, but asked for special provisions to aid them. Others opposed the measure as now written.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the National Coal Conference, contended that present quotas on imports of residual fuel oil are ineffective because they are constantly being increased.

Victor Pringle, general manager of the Rockingham Poultry Marketing Cooperative, Broadway, Va., appearing for the poultry industry, said poultry men support the bill generally, but believe the president must be given sharper tools to stop restrictions on U.S. farm products abroad.

The European Common Market today is putting into effect new barriers against American poultry including discriminatory duties, gate prices and variable import fees, he testified.

Gabriel J. Ticoulat, vice president of Crown Zellerbach Corp., appearing for the American Paper and Pulp Association, said his industry is willing to accept freer trade, so long as there is equality of treatment between the United States and its trading partners.

But, he said, it insists on "legislation to assure us that this equality will not be circumvented by devices such as excises taxes, quotas, allocations, licensing arrangements and currency exchange restrictions."

Thomas H. Morris, president of the American Mirror Co., Galax, Va., appearing for the National Association of Mirror Manufacturers, said his industry opposes the bill because under it the president could eliminate all duties on mirrors.

The present 20 per cent tariff on mirrors is the only thing that enables the U.S. industry to compete with foreign firms which pay wages about one-fourth as much the American companies, he said.

West Virginian Named

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Carl Thacker of Yakima, Wash., was named president Wednesday of the Grand Aerie Fraternal Order of Eagles. Thacker moves up from vice president.

Other officers named at the 46th annual meeting included Theodore Pau, Weirton, W. Va., outside guard.

Freight Rate Dispute Enters Another Round

BALTIMORE (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission order allowing railroads to charge the same rates on iron ore shipped from Philadelphia as from Baltimore to the Midwest has been filed in U.S. District Court.

The suit was another round in a nine-year case which Baltimore interests have been fighting to maintain a preferential railroad freight differential over the ports of Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

The district court in New York recently ordered the ICC to reconsider its order putting rates in New York on a parity with Baltimore and Philadelphia. The action here is to obtain a similar decision between Baltimore and Philadelphia rates.

The dispute over iron ore rates is separate from one on general freight rates which also is being fought in the courts by Baltimore interests.

Three railroads — Baltimore and Ohio, Canton, and Western Maryland — are among those seeking a restoration of lower rates on freight passing through the Baltimore port.

Maryland News In Brief

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Alfred L. Moseley, a traffic expert from Harvard, will address the Maryland Youth Traffic Safety Conference next Wednesday.

Student safety leaders from round Maryland will attend the meeting. Also scheduled to speak is Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. said Wednesday it will start construction immediately of the nation's first plant to produce the concentrate from which cobalt is extracted.

Cobalt is used in spacecraft and in the aircraft, missile, metallurgical and tool industries. The cobalt leaching operation will consist of collecting and quenching pyrite ore and concentrating the copper and cobalt it contains.

Bethlehem said it expects to extract about 700,000 pounds of cobalt annually from the plant.

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Three persons burned in the fire of a boat moored at Ocean City were reported in fairly satisfactory condition Wednesday.

They are Byron R. Hale, owner of the 32-foot fishing boat; his daughter, Carolyn, 17, and Frank Lewis Jr., of Willards, Md. The fire started Tuesday apparently from gasoline fumes which collected in the bilge.

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Callas Contractors, Inc., submitted the low estimate of $866,964 to build the new courthouse annex in Washington County.

The Blake Co. was apparent low bidder at $111,800 for the underground civil defense center. County commissioners took the bids under study.

WALDORF, Md. (AP) — The body of James H. Forsyth Jr., 43, Silver Spring, was found at the bottom of a motel swimming pool Tuesday night.

Efforts by the Waldorf Fire Department and the Charles County Rescue Squad to revive Forsyth were unsuccessful. An autopsy to determine the cause of death was planned.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant of $53,000 to a team of University of Maryland mathematicians to continue technical investigations begun two years ago.

Dr. James Hummel, Dr. Mischael Zedek and Prof. Robert H. Mountjoy are directing the project, called Problems in Geometric Function Theory.

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Some 25 peach and apple growers from the Hendersonville area of North Carolina toured Wednesday the fruit belt of the Martinsburg area.

The North Carolina growers tour various fruit-growing sections each year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Dr. Joseph Silverman of the University of Maryland has been granted $25,000 for research in radiation.

The grant was awarded by the Walter F. Joyce Foundation of Dallas. Dr. Silverman said his investigation involves bombardment by radiation of selected particles to determine how energetic they are before and after damage because of radiation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $365,500 allocation for expansion and improvement of Friendship International Airport near Baltimore was announced Wednesday.

Rep. Richard E. Lankford, D-Md., said he was advised by the Federal Aviation Agency that the money will be used to buy land for a new runway and to construct a building to house fire and rescue equipment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The auto speed limit in Washington alleys will be doubled Aug. 9. The present 7-mile an hour limit was described as "completely unrealistic."

The District of Columbia commissioners made the new limit 15 miles an hour.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. John S. Cooper, R-Ky, will be guest speaker at a campaign dinner Sept. 7 for Newton I. Steers, Republican candidate for Maryland congressman-at-large.

The dinner is being sponsored by a committee promoting Steers' candidacy in Baltimore. It will be held at the Alcazar.

Unemployment Show Increase In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP) — Unemployment increased in Maryland in June.

The Department of Employment Security said Wednesday the rate increased from 4.7 per cent in May to 5.2 per cent in June.

The number of persons unemployed in June increased by 7,200 to 60,700. The department attributed the increased unemployment to the influx of school and college graduates into the labor market.

Although the unemployment increased, employment also increased during June by 20,600 to 1,108,600 — a new total employment record for the month.

Seasonal expansion in agriculture, construction, trade and service industries were responsible for the increase in employment.

Woman Maryland's 306th Traffic Fatality

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — A car smashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer at the intersection of U.S. 301 and Maryland 213 Tuesday night, killing Etta C. Juerss of Severna Park.

Hers was the 306th traffic fatality of the year in Maryland, 71 more than on the corresponding date of 1961.

The driver of the truck, Alvin M. Cain, 43, Salem, N.J., was not hurt but the driver of the car, William A. Fishpaw, 52, Arnold, Md., was admitted to Memorial Hospital in Easton.

Cat Died Quickly; Was He Cruel?

SALISBURY (AP) — A man convicted of cruelty to animals says he isn't guilty because the cat he shot died instantly.

Through his attorney, Otis Lee Townsend appealed his conviction to Wicomico Circuit Court, which will hear his case during the September term.

Townsend pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to discharging a firearm on the highway but innocent to cruelty to animals, assault and disorderly conduct. He was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $175.

Fred Cooper, a storekeeper at nearby Wetipquin, brought the charges. He said Townsend drove up to his store Saturday, shot the cat and drove off.

12 B&O Freight Cars Derail At Aberdeen

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — Repair crews worked Wednesday night to clear the tracks after derailment of a dozen freight cars on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The cars were empty on the end of a train heading for Philadelphia. No one was hurt.

The B&O no longer operates passenger trains east of Baltimore and freight trains blocked by the derailment were routed over nearby Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

Medical experts indicate that a person who recovers from a cold will probably be immune to another cold for an average of about seven weeks.

Two Youths Indicted In Teacher's Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two 16-year-old Baltimore youths were indicted Wednesday on a charge that they murdered Corrine Shelby, 41-year-old school teacher.

Her blanket-wrapped body was found in a shallow grave near Pottstown, Pa., last Saturday.

The boys, Albert S. Ruffin and Ivan B. Sedgewick, were ordered held without bail.

Returned In Custody

BALTIMORE (AP)—Detectives returned to Baltimore Wednesday a 21-year-old woman charged with leaving her month-old son at a bus station last month.

The woman, Mae Bridget Gildea of Baltimore, was arrested during a routine check at Cambridge, Ohio. Bail was set at $500.

Electronics Plant

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Textron, Inc., said Wednesday it will establish a plant at Grant's Pass, Ore., to make defense electronics components. The plant will be leased from the Josephine Development Corp., formed by local citizens and the Pacific Power & Light Co. Production is expected to start Sept. 15.

Swedish Firm

SAN MARINO, Calif. (UPI) — Avery Adhesive Products, Inc., announced Wednesday it has acquired Antonson-Avery, AB, of Gothenburg, Sweden. H. Russell Smith, president, said the Swedish company, formerly a licensee of the suburban Los Angeles firm, will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary and will continue under its present management.

Work Begins On Offices

The three offices on the third floor of the Court House which had been occupied by the district forester's office for many years are being remodeled.

The rooms will be used by personnel of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners upon completion of the necessary renovation. Acoustic ceiling tile is being installed and the rooms will be painted.

James G. Stevenson, clerk to the commissioners; Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor and personnel of the county finance department, will have their offices in the new quarters.

The present commissioners' office space on the first floor will be used by personnel of the Assessing Department and partly by the tax collector's office.

Local Banks Alerted To Look For Counterfeit $20 Bills

The United States Secret Service has alerted city banks to be on the alert for bogus $20 bills that apparently are being passed by a major counterfeiting ring.

W. K. Deckard, agent in charge of the Secret Service office in Baltimore, says at least 15 of the bogus bills have been passed in that area in recent weeks, and that the ring is well established along the East and Gulf coasts.

The counterfeiting operation came to light in New York about six weeks ago, Deckard said, and since then the phony bills have turned up in a number of seaside resort towns. Bars, lunchrooms and hamburger shops have been the most frequent victims, the Secret Service agent claims.

Newark, for instance, reported 138 bills in the past few weeks and others were found in Atlantic City and Virginia Beach.

So far, agents have identified thirteen plates from which the bills were printed. This indicates, they said, that the fake currency in circulation "could run into millions."

In arrest of passers made so far, agents have found a large variety of persons in possession of the phony bills, most of whom knew little of the currency's origin.

They have deduced that operators of the ring have unloaded large quantities of the bills and that they have filtered down to persons who will attempt to pass them for a very small commission.

"It's a traveling deal," Mr. Deckard said in describing the outbreak of counterfeiting that was first discovered six weeks ago in New York.

Agents warn all merchants that they should watch out for the bills.

What agents are hoping for in the near future is that some alert clerk will write down the license number of a car driven by someone who has passed the bill and give them a solid lead to the operators.

The same defects appear on all the notes and include bond paper instead of the usual Federal Reserve paper and lightness of printing.

The fake notes are printed with the name of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and have a "B" in the Federal Reserve seal. They are series 1950 B.

A true test of the phony bill is the plate number. On the front of the $20 bill, this is printed to the right of the portrait inside the border and, on the back, in the lower right hand corner inside the border.

Counterfeit bills will carry these numbers:

Front	Back
F617	834
D293	731
G183	171
F293	267
E183	567
D642	453

B632	485
E183	634
E617	456
G634	49
D617	635
D29	406

The Secret Service agents check every bill complained of although the person who takes the bill is the ultimate loser of the money.

The Secret Service number in Baltimore is MU. 5-8320.

Tax Reciprocity Agreement Reached

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Income Tax Director Clifford Lantz Tuesday announced completion of a full reciprocity agreement with the state of Virginia that relieves employers of the responsibility of withholding income taxes for both states.

Virginia thus joins Maryland as the second state with whom West Virginia has full income tax reciprocity. In the future, Lantz hopes to conclude similar agreements with Kentucky and North Carolina.

ACCEPTS POSITION — Miss Sharon Lee Fields, a June graduate of State Teachers College, Frostburg, has accepted a teaching position at North Point Junior High School in Baltimore County. Miss Fields, a daughter of Edgar Fields, 510 Frederick Street, will teach seventh grade core. She did her practice teaching at Allegany and Fort Hill high schools.

Old Maryland Avenue School Is Being Torn Down

Workmen of the Humbertson Salvage Company have begun demolition of the old Maryland Avenue School, which has been vacant for many years.

The school was one of the oldest in Cumberland as the deed for the land was recorded August 1, 1874. The property was sold to the Board of Education by Maurice A. Healey.

Figuring no more than several years for construction of the building the school is at least 85 years old. It was in use for approximately 65 years.

It was 20 years ago when the building was closed for use as an elementary school and except for a few years usage as a GI trade school has been unused.

Woodrow Gurley, local auto dealer, purchased the structure on August 15, 1958 from the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on a sealed bid at public sale. The commissioners decided at that time to sell the structure, which had been turned over to them by the Board of Education.

The commissioners said that the building posed a problem as the county had to pay for fire insurance and was also a hazard to children who might be attracted to it.

Gurley said today that he has no immediate plans for using the lot on which the building stands. The school, of brick construction, has been falling into decay year by year.

For many years there were six grades in the school but in September of 1937 the Board of Education transferred children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades to either East Side Elementary School or Johnson Heights Elementary School, depending on which one was nearest their homes.

The first, second and third grades remained in the building until the Board of Education transferred the pupils to other schools for the term starting in September of 1942.

Salesmen Need Permits

Secretary to the Maryland Home Improvement Association of Baltimore said here Monday that all home improvement salesmen and contractors soon will be required to have licenses to work in the state.

John C. Coolahan, announced that the Home Improvement Association set October 1 as the deadline for contractors and salesmen in the Home Improvement Industry to have licenses.

He said this licensing law, enacted in the 1962 session of legislature, covers all forms of home improvement, from sodding and landscaping to roofing and room additions, including storm windows, patios and the like.

Under provisions of the law, Coolahan stated, home improvement means the repair, replacement, remodeling, alteration, conversion, modernization, improvement or addition to any land or building.

George L. Klein, commission chairman, has pointed out, Coolahan said, that any contractor or salesman who is operating in the industry without a license after October 1 will be in violation of the law and will be subject to prosecution.

Any complaints, Coolahan continued, of violators would be addressed to the commission, 318 Light Street, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

SAFEWAY

SAFEWAY'S FAMOUS 4-POINT BEEF PROGRAM

1. Another big reason why so many of your friends and neighbors serve Safeway Beef with such complete confidence is that every pound is patiently aged. Aging breaks down the tough fibers and sinews resulting in roasts and steaks that will cook evenly and will be tender and juicy through and through. In our big especially designed aging rooms, rows and rows of U.S.D.A. Choice carcasses of beef hang for just the correct number of days to bring each cut to maximum tenderness. Only time and scientifically controlled temperatures are ever used to age Safeway Beef . . . the natural way.

2. Every pound of that good eatin' Safeway Beef is U.S.D.A. Choice Grade and U.S.D.A. Inspected. This means that the United States Department of Agriculture has stamped each carcass of beef we offer as meeting its requirements for the U.S.D.A. Choice Grade. It means, too, that the United States Department of Agriculture's meat experts maintain a constant inspection of our modern meat plant operations. Safeway's and Uncle Sam's meat experts work together voluntarily for your protection and satisfaction.

3. Safeway's famous trim-before-weighing policy means extra savings for you. Safeway trims away excess fat, bone and gristle so that you pay only for the good eatin' part. It's always a good idea when shopping at meat counters to examine the way each cut is trimmed. Safeway invites comparison if you have been shopping elsewhere. Once you compare we are confident you'll do as so many others have done and make Safeway your shopping headquarters for all your meat needs.

4. Buy a good eatin' Safeway steak or beef roast this week with complete confidence that either or both will satisfy you and your family in every way. SAFEWAY GUARANTEES that you will be pleased or all your money back without fuss or quibble. So you see there is no risk when you shop with us for beef or any other variety of meat because our guarantee covers every purchase you make at any Safeway Store . . .

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD. — If Frank Sinatra accepts livewire Tom McDermott's bid to star in the controversial best - selling "Nation of Sheep," Frankie will have one of his favorite actresses as a co-star - Shirley MacLaine. Sinatra very much wanted to get hold of William Lederer's book for his own company but Four Star Productions headman McDermott got it first.

McDermott is determined to make Four Star as big in films as it is in TV. And teaming Frank and Shirley in such a discussed book is a big way to start.

Jose Ferrer was all over the place running and fetching for Rosemary Clooney at Princess Grace's Red Cross gala in Monte Carlo. My husband, John Haskell, who was there, cables:

"Princess Grace was beautiful and charming—but Jose dancing attendance on Rosemary almost stole the thunder. He flew in from London a few hours before she was to sing and joined John Mills' big party in Rosie's honor.

"Rosemary forgot a hat she used in one of her songs and it was Jose who dashed back to the hotel to get it for her. Don't know whether this means a reconciliation—but he is certainly the eager beaver where she is concerned."

Bing Crosby and Cathy missed the gala—but were expected to arrive the following day and will dine with Princess Grace and Rainier.

It was a delightful reception the Richard Nixons hosted at their new Trousdale Estates home. Many of the friends they have made in the movie colony were present. The teenage Tish and Julie Nixon helped their parents receive and acted as charming guides showing off their modern home with its deep white rugs and spacious rooms.

There was very little politics talked by the Republican gubernatorial candidate who, with his lovely Pat, seemed more interested that the house was finished than in the upcoming campaign—at least for this afternoon.

I saw Donna Reed and Tony Owen—she getting more beautiful by the minute. Gloria and Mike Romanoff chatted with Clifton Webb, Francis X. Bushman and his pretty wife were as happy as ever. Samuel Goldwyn arrived early. The Meredith Willsons, the Mac St. Johns and Eileen St. Johns, Betty (Mrs. Al) Bloomingdale, Joanne Dru and George Pierose, Cobina Wright, Sr., and Princess Conchita Pignatelli were just a few I chatted with.

Hot gossip out of Rome is that Elizabeth Taylor is ready to negotiate a million dollar settlement with Sybil Burton if she will give Richard Burton his freedom!

If true, this is the first time Liz has been on the "paying" end of a love affair or marriage. Nicky Hilton was a millionaire. Mike Todd spent money like he was one. When Michael Wilding's finances sagged, their marriage didn't last long. And Eddie Fisher spent a lot more on Liz than he could really afford.

A million dollars sure makes Burton come high but they say Liz's take out of "Cleopatra" will be at least five million.

Back from the North Pole where he put on a one-man show five times a day is George Jessel. And he has a word or two for other entertainers:

"You don't have to have a whole troupe like Bob Hope takes to bring a lot of joy to those frozen, isolated service men in our far corners of the globe. Go up there yourself—and if you can just recite, you'll be welcomed with open arms. Some of the groups are so isolated they flew me up the mountains in a helicopter. It was worth every scared breath I drew to see those smiling faces."

Three top boogey men, Boris Karloff, Vincent Price and Peter Lorre have signed their gory signatures to contracts to star—and scare the wits out of you—in Edgar Allen Poe's "The Raven." Producers James Nicholson and Sam Arkoff, now in England, set the Karloff deal right on the spot. But happy word for Hollywood is that the classic will be filmed right here.

Some time ago Karloff said he was going to retire except for his hosting job on "The Thriller" TV series. But a "Raven" doesn't come along every day—and he gave in.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

With Marilyn Maxwell's birthday coming up next Friday, Rock Hudson is hoping to get a full weekend off "Gathering of Eagles" to fly to Westbury, Conn., to help her celebrate.

How can the London papers be right that Robert Wagner plans to marry Marion Donen when he comes there in two weeks for the preview of his "War Lovers" movie? Natalie Wood's California divorce won't be final for eight months.

Playwright Liam O'Brien and the former Claudette Thorton, who have a year-old adopted son, are looking forward to the arrival of another lucky baby to take into their home.

It rhymes: Robert Wise is in line to direct "The Prize."

Raymond Massey's daughter Anna and her actor-husband Jeremy Brett have given up trying to save their marriage. She filed for divorce in London on Friday.

The sneak preview of "Jumbo" in Phoenix went over big as an elephant. Producer Joe Pasternak called Jimmy Durante at his summer home in Del Mar to tell him he was a smash and the Schnozz said, "Only for this would I interrupt my beauty sleep."

Big night as La Rue with co-owner Orlando Fugini celebrating his second time 'round as a grandfather—his son John and his wife welcomed a girl to go with their little boy. Also at La Rue, Lewis Milestone forgetting all about "PT 109" to celebrate his 27th anniversary.

Jim Mitchum, son of Bob, looking more and more like his old man dining at the Villa Capri with pretty Paula Hill.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 149 "He became the foremost steel plant engineer and, because of his original improvements in design, whereby the manufacture of steel on a large scale could be accomplished, he is today recognized as the father of modern American steel manufacture," says "Dictionary of American Biography" of Alexander Holley.

Necessity is the mother of invention, and Holley was led to make his revolutionary impress upon industry in the U.S.A. through finding means of fulfilling demands generated during the Civil War. Sent to England in 1862 to study means of improving ordnance and armor, Holley searched out all plans and information on iron warships and prepared a report on the subject. One of the projects he examined is reproduced here [↓].

He learned in England of Henry Bessemer's new process of making steel, investigated, and made a hurried trip to the United States to secure financial backers for acquisition of the American rights to the Bessemer patents. Subsequently, having discovered that William Kelly of Kentucky was an earlier inventor of a similar process, Holley obtained rights also to the Kelly patents.

Within a matter of months Holley had a plant at Troy, N. Y., making steel by the Kelly-Bessemer method.

Meanwhile, vast deposits of iron in Michigan-Minnesota had been brought into production. The United States, which had been dependent on foreign importations for all of its steel and much of its fabricated iron, started becoming the world leader in steelmaking and heavy industry.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♦

The declarer left no stone unturned to bring home a hard earned game contract today.

The bidding was rather routine and West opened the king of diamonds against the final bid of four hearts. East signaled encouragingly and West continued with the queen of diamonds which declarer ruffed in his hand.

Prospects looked reasonably bright for, if the spade overcaller held the queen of that suit, then South would be able to get by with one loser in diamonds and two in clubs even if the ace were located behind the king. Declarer, however, was unwilling to rely even on so great a likelihood as West's having the spade queen. Instead, he embarked on a campaign that offered complete assurance.

After ruffing the second diamond, he crossed over to dummy by leading the jack of hearts and overtaking with the queen. Another diamond was trumped with the seven of hearts and then the nine of hearts was led to the dummy's ten. The ace of spades was cashed and then the last diamond was ruffed away.

The stage was now set for the key play of the hand. Declarer led a spade but, when West followed with a low card, the jack was not finessed. South went right up with the ace, felling the queen from a rather surprised East. Actually there was nothing of the occult in declarer's play. His intention was to concede the next spade trick to West if the latter held the queen as expected. For with the spades and diamonds completely stripped from both hands and West on lead, the latter would be obliged either to give South a ruff and a sluff or else to lead a club which would automatically establish the king. In other words, South could not lose by refusing the spade finesse, for this play assured his contract.

Local Railroader Retires

George W. Beal, 634 Elm Street, retired Monday as an engineer on the Western Division of the Western Maryland Railway after 36 years service.

His last run was on a three-unit Diesel helper making the "shove" on a scheduled fast freight up the Savage Mountain grade.

Beal began work with the Western Maryland on February 28, 1926, at Dunbar, Pa. He moved here in 1930 and since has been an engineer in the Cumberland to Bowest-Dickerson Run pool.

His wife is the former Merle J. Glaze. They have three children, Meltina Ann, at home; Betty Agnes, Johnstown, and Melvin Ellsworth Beal, Meyersdale.

He was born in Meyersdale July 18, 1897, the son of George W. and Agnes Beal.

He plans to spend his time fishing and traveling.

The Austrian army used the first aerial bombs in 1849, when small bombs, attached to balloons were allowed to drift over the city of Venice, doing little harm.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

Can you name one business in this country which is not subject to social security taxes, income taxes, a minimum wage or any Federal regulatory board? As you might suspect from the title of this newsletter, the answer is —babysitting.

However, this typically American free enterprise venture may well be smothered to death by the Public Welfare Bill which is presently awaiting the President's signature to become law. Under certain provisions of H. R. 10606, which has passed both the House and the Senate and is now in the White House, the Federal Government will assume the care of children whose mothers are unable to supervise their offspring because they are working. In other words, H. R. 10606 will establish, for the first time in American history, government nurseries.

In arguing for this legislation, the President of the National Committee for the Day Care of Children, Inc., stated that the United States lags dangerously behind other countries in its "concern" for the neglected child. It was revealed that the United States spends less on day care and "cares" less about its children than France, Norway, Denmark, the United Kingdom, Finland and Yugoslavia (which, of course, is famous for its warm sympathetic treatment of its men, women and children as are, of course, all Communist countries!)

Proponents of the bill were not impressed by statistics which showed that commercially-operated day nurseries have increased considerably over the past decade. As supporters of the concept that the government knows best, they recognized only that a problem existed and that problems are most effectively solved by the Federal Government, that is, Big Brother.

While it is true that in many families both parents must work to provide for themselves and their children, they have been forced to this divisive practice by the massive spending programs of the Government and the resulting corruption and injustices which inevitably follow. If the government wants to help mothers, let it reduce expenditures, tighten its administrative belt, and stay out of the babysitting business.

Walters Heads Game Agency

George D. Walters, Eckhart, has been elected chairman of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission for a one-year term.

Walters, one of the most active sportsmen and conservationists in Western Maryland, has been on the commission for eight years. He was chairman previously for a one-year term.

Dr. William H. Bolton, Chevy Chase, has been elected as vice chairman of the commission.

Walters was one of the organizers of the Eckhart Square Circle Sports Club and is a member of various national and international fish and game commission organizations.

He is a Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates for the general election November 6.

Youths' Terms Suspended

A 16-year-old Vale ummit girl who escaped from the County Detention Quarters Tuesday night was given a suspended sentence to the Montrose School for Girls yesterday and was placed on probation for an indefinite period.

In connection with the same case, Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin also found Donald Booth, 20, Vale Summit, guilty of contributing to the delinquency of the girl and gave him a 60-day suspended sentence in the County Jail.

The girl was being held at the detention quarters at the County Infirmary on a delinquency charge when she broke out Tuesday night. She was picked up by City Police shortly afterwards at the home of her sister.

Rabies Program Is Suggested

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said the number of domestic animals now being bitten by wild life points to the need of a more effective rabies immunization program.

Dyer said a growing number of rabies cases are being found in wild and domestic animals in the state. He said the department had distributed anti-rabies serum for the treatment of 43 persons so far this year.

The director noted that of 453 animal heads examined from June, 1961, through June, 1962, 101 were found rabid. Of the 101, 14 were fox heads.

Two Men Join County Staff As Sanitarians

The staff of the sanitation section of the Allegany County Department of Health has been increased with the employment of two men, according to Gaylord Brooks, supervising sanitarian.

Conrad B. Zimmerman, 31, of 18 North Chase Street, has assumed his duties as a sanitarian trainee.

James Stanley Ritchie, 42, has been employed as a sanitarian No. 1. Both men passed the state examinations for these positions.

Zimmerman was formerly employed with the Allegany County Welfare Board. He is a 1949 graduate of Allegany High School and of Shepherd College where he received a bachelor of science degree in 1958. He served in the Army from 1953 to 1955.

Zimmerman is married and has two children. In his work he will be engaged in problems dealing with sewage in the county.

Ritchie is a graduate of Beall High School and received a B.A. degree in pre-med at Western Maryland College. He served 18 months with the Army Medical Corps in the European theater of operations during World War II.

He had been employed with the Wilson Welding Company before taking over his new job. Ritchie is married to the former Daisy A. Lease, who resided on Winchester Road, and they have five children, Debbie, Jan, Beverly, Kim and James S. Ritchie Jr. He is a native of Shaft.

Ritchie is being assigned to the milk inspection work carried on by the health agency.

PPG Forms Agreement With British Firm

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has announced the execution of a license agreement with Pilkington Brothers Limited of St. Helens, England, involving rights to Pilkington patents and know-how which, utilized in conjunction with its own new developments, will enable PPG to become the first U. S. manufacturer of glass using the Float process.

The products of this process already have captured a large section of the British market where other types of flat glass formerly were used.

Rainfall Below July Average

Rainfall and temperatures were below the July average last month according to A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge of the local office of the Geological Survey, U. S. Department of the Interior.

In his monthly review of meteorological and runoff conditions of the North Branch of the Potomac at and above Cumberland, Mr. Vicker said total precipitation as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 3.06 inches, 0.30 inches below the July average.

The average daily temperature was 71.1 degrees, 4.1 degrees below normal.

The observed mean daily flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River at the Wiley Ford gauge during July was 459 cubic feet per second or 297 million gallons per day, which is 110 per cent of the 33-year July average.

The daily flow varied between 230 cfs (149 mgd) on July 2 and 1,040 cfs (672 mgd) on July 4.

Included in this monthly mean was an equivalent of two cfs (1.3 mgd) released from storage at the Savage River Reservoir, which is 0.4 per cent of the flow of Cumberland.

X15 Test Postponed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Failure of the fuel pressure system caused a last-minute postponement Wednesday of a test flight of the X15 rocket plane. It was rescheduled for Thursday.

Damage Suit Filed By Local Woman

Grace V. Parker, 10 Schiller Terrace, has filed a damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of injuries she claims she sustained December 31, 1959 when she was hit by a car while crossing Henderson Avenue at Baltimore and Henderson avenues.

Defendants are Claude L. Durst, RD 4, Mexico Farms, Vernon E. Durst, RD 1, Bowman's Addition, Ronald Scritchfield, RD 1, city, and Mary E. Blackshear, trading as Mary's Cleaners, 159 North Mechanic Street.

If The Brotherhoods Strike, Then What?

All the signs are that the nation is heading for a total work stoppage on the railroads, and at a time that, politically speaking, is very awkward.

A White House commission has recommended sweeping changes in work rules that would eliminate featherbedding. The railroads notified the unions that the changes will be put into effect on August 16.

They would eliminate the jobs of about 40,000 freight train firemen who are considered unnecessary on today's diesels.

In response, the unions have announced that if management persists in this course, "it is quite likely that not a single train will move over the railroad tracks of this nation until the firemen or any other workers essential to safe operations are restored to their posts."

The President can delay but not avert the strike under his existing powers. By appointing an emergency board he automatically can postpone the strike for 60 days, or until mid-October. At that time only Congress will have the power to stay it further, and Congressmen doubtless will be at home looking to re-election.

The President could call them back, but that would be bad politics under ordinary circumstances. The total paralysis of the nation's rail system is far from ordinary, however, and to recall Congress to deal with such a situation might easily win public approval not only for Kennedy but also for members of Congress.

Outside the labor unions there's little sympathy with the principle of featherbedding, and any steps that may be taken to put an end to it will have wide public support.

These Days

The Funny Diplomats

It used to be, before so-called democracy became synonymous with vulgarity, that noblemen, public officials and diplomats behaved themselves in accordance with their office and their status so that the phrase, noblesse oblige, had real meaning. We expected a person who enjoyed benefits and privileges not to abuse them.

The United Nations is situated in New York City, although it enjoys extraterritorial privileges. These privileges are extended not only to members of the United Nations but to some employees.

Actually no personnel associated with the United Nations live on United Nations territory. All of them live either in New York City or its environs. Such persons are not subject to municipal law. They have over the years — some of them have — abused the advantage of living in an anarchy. Thus, their cars carry license plates which indicate their exalted position. Those who take advantage of such a circumstance are, of course, vulgarians. The true gentleman never takes advantage.

The "DPL" plates have been used on cars which have been double parked, badly parked, in front of fire hydrants, in places where there were signs prohibiting parking. The State Department has apparently insisted that there is an agreement between the United States and the United Nations authorizing these infractions of municipal law. There is no such agreement. The agreement authorizing the situation of the United Nations in New York City provides for the right of those chosen to represent their countries at the United Nations shall have free access to its buildings and shall not be molested. That has been extended, by courtesy, to mean all sorts of improprieties.

For instance, a night club is not the United Nations. When a man goes to a night club to enjoy an evening, he ought to regard himself as just another guy on the town without any special privilege. When a Russian diplomat damages a car because he is in a hurry, he should pay all the damages. If he is impolite about it, he should be withdrawn by his own government before any fuss is made about it.

The other day I heard that many months ago a Latin American diplomat struck down an attendant at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel and nothing has been done about it for about half a year. This is unfair. The so-called diplomat sould have volunteered to take care of the matter. No gentleman takes advantage.

This has nothing to do with politics or with diplomacy. It is a matter of manners and morals. We live in a revolutionary age where men are thrown up from the gutter to leadership. Some are able to hit their stride. Others still make a howling noise when they eat their soup. It is easy to learn never to take advantage of other human beings, particularly because of one's position.

I am quite sure that Prince Philip would not take advantage. I once walked on the streets of New York with Prince Philip and my old friend, Bill Ormerod, but there was no police escort, no pushing and shoving. We were just three fellows walking on a sidewalk from one place to another, with no fuss whatsoever.

On the other hand, it is always possible to see who have just sprung up from nowhere demanding an homage which is not their due and which, if they can get it no other way, they imagine that they can accomplish something by standing a car in front of a fire hydrant.

The New York City Fire Department is correct in its decision to haul away any car that stands in front of a fire hydrant. It is said that the diplomats mean to protest this indignity. What indignity!

Most of them have never had it so good and they ought to be grateful that they are permitted to stay in this country where conditions are so much more pleasant than they are in their home countries. Americans, on the whole, are an easy-going people. They do not take high sounding office seriously — not even their own officials. We are that way. We know that most of the great of the Earth are not so very great after they get out of office. They are just about the same as anybody else who has no job.

Our Hollow-Handed 'Friend'

JFK's Lead In Polls Impressive But Unreliable

By Joseph Alsop

EASTCHESTER, N. Y.

Not long after the last war, the bulldozers chewed up a local golf course, and cleared the way for the Huntley Estates. The trees have therefore had more than a decade to come back. The shrubs and lawns are handsome. The small but comfortable houses are well-kept.

This part of suburban Eastchester is a nice neighborhood in other ways, too. People of all three of the great faiths, Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish, live here comfortably together. Class lines are blurred—one house will contain a hardworking mechanic and his brood, and the next, outwardly identical house will be the home of a prosperous professional man.

The children, endlessly bicycling along the quiet, curving streets, are cheerful and healthy. Their parents are friendly and hospitable. In politics, finally, these people are moderate-conservative. Most of them strongly supported President Eisenhower; and in the 1960 election 58 per cent of them voted for Vice President Nixon, against 42 per cent for President Kennedy.

A Sunday of arduous but pleasant pavement-pounding, along with Oliver Quayle of Louis Harris Associates, obtained the current political thinking of 56 residents of the Huntley Estates.

Racially, religiously, and politically, ours was a representative sample. In fact, the 54 pollees who had voted last time had come within one percentage point of splitting their 1960 votes precisely the way all the Huntley Estates people divided that year.

What then has happened since 1960, in this agreeable community which is as American as ham an deggs and as normal as baseball? On the surface, at least, President Kennedy has made almost the kind of gain since he took office that President Eisenhower also made.

To be specific, the same people in our sample who went 32 to 24 for Nixon, with 2 non-voters, now said that they would give 27 votes to President Kennedy and 27 votes to the former Vice President, if an election were held tomorrow.

Leaving out the 4 pollees who could not make up their minds, these figures mean the President is now running exactly even with Nixon, in a Republican-leaning community and among people who previously gave Nixon a better than 57 per cent majority. Furthermore, the former Vice President is a lot stronger than Gov. Nelson D. Rockefeller, among these Huntley Estates people.

Asked whether they would choose Kennedy or Rockefeller if an election were held tomorrow, 28 of our pollees picked Kennedy; only 20 went for Rockefeller; and 10 said they were unsure. The memory of Gov. Rockefeller's early increases in state taxes dies hard in Huntley Estates, as elsewhere in New York, according to report.

If the Huntley Estates people are reasonably representative of a broad trend — as the nationwide polls rather clearly suggest — President Kennedy today commands a large national majority, rather than the hairbreadth majority that won him the election. Nonetheless, judging by these very average but sensible people, all is not peaches and cream for the President.

To begin with, there was a worrying but often recurrent note among the people in our sample—more than two-thirds of the total —who said they thought the President was doing a "good" or an "excellent" job in the White House. Too many of them began, defensively, with the remark: "I still think he's doing a good job." One got the impression, in truth, that early enthusiasm had been rather widely replaced by qualified approval.

Then too, the way these people talked about President Kennedy was as different as chalk from cheese from the way the same sort of people talked about President Eisenhower.

Personal liking was always the dominant note of the great Eisenhower majorities. If you went pavement-pounding in the old days, you constantly discovered people who frankly said Eisenhower was not a very good President, but added that "they would just have to go for Ike because he's such a nice guy."

Despite the efforts lavished on the "Kennedy image," President Kennedy has seemingly failed to win a place in people's hearts, as Eisenhower did. He has, instead, won a place in people's minds — which is a less dependable kind of place. In our little sample, the Kennedy admirers said that he was "vigorous," or "intelligent," or "a man of conviction," or "a lot more mature than I'd expected." But they did not say he was a nice guy.

Eisenhower's projection as a nice guy was the main cause of his enormous inroads into the working class vote, once so solidly Democratic. Maybe one should not expect the same kind of emotional and subjective response in a comfortable, middle-class community like Huntley Estates, where Kennedy has thus far made impressive inroads into the Republicans' normal voting support.

If he keeps this kind of gain in Republican-leaning communities, and if he holds the normal Democratic workers' vote as well, Kennedy will be every bit as far ahead as the national polls continue to say he is. But one cannot help but suspect that the problem for the President is that his current majority, though seemingly impressive, is also a bit mushy and unreliable.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

AMATEUR ECONOMISTS—The nation's capital has suddenly become overpopulated with amateur economists. They're preoccupied with devising strategy to avert a recession, which, in their minds, impends unless drastic action is taken.

These new economists are more political than economic in their backgrounds, and their thinking and proposed panaceas run almost exclusively along political rather than economic lines. Most of the ideas flow out of Capitol Hill, but some come from representatives of business, labor and the farmer.

Their wives are near unanimous in favor of a quick tax cut, but in each instance the proposal they espouse is designed to benefit the particular segment of the economy in which they are interested.

For instance, business wants a tax cut that will reduce corporate tax rates and trim down the higher brackets of the individual income tax. Labor, on the other hand, is plumping for a cut in the lower rates to stimulate public purchasing power.

It is quite obvious that if either of these cuts is recommended without consideration to the other group's demands, it would have a difficult time getting through Congress.

There is also a group in Congress that stands opposed to any tax cut now on the theory that business conditions do not warrant a further government deficit at this time. This group, and it contains some of the most powerful figures in Congress, would oppose either of the two courses being put forward, or a combination of them.

The answer seems apparent. If there is a tax cut, it will have to incorporate concessions for business and high and low bracket individuals. This is the only kind of tax cut bill that can be worked through Congress, particularly on the short notice that will exist between the time it actually is proposed and adjournment.

Chemical Sterilant Decreases Fly Nuisance

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Regarding fertility, rabbits are pikers compared with flies. Mr. and Mrs. Fly can produce 191 septillion offspring in one summer. Treasury department officials are perhaps the only people capable of appreciating this figure.

Most of the bug killers on the market today will kill flies and other insects on contact. A newcomer, Apholate, is more properly called a chemical sterilant. It causes sterility in house flies which eat it or walk over a treated surface; the flies live but the eggs do not hatch. This compound is not available commercially.

New products along this line always are welcome because insects tend to become highly resistant to all types of insecticides. There is no need for concern, however, as new agents are developed from time to time to keep the super-resistant strains of house flies and mosquitoes from getting the upper hand.

It seems to me there are fewer flies now than there were 5 or 10 years ago. I have no proof for this statement except my own observation. More and more people use space sprays or spray bombs and keep tight fitting screens on all doors and windows.

Picnic areas, parks, and patios are being sprayed routinely and there is a greater tendency to cover garbage cans, cisterns, cesspools, and septic tanks. Property owners don't allow water to accumulate thus eliminating breeding grounds for other insects.

It is ironical that insects — small as they are — do not fear man. The fly seems to delight in tantalizing us through its ability to hop, skip, and jump just out of reach. We usually associate this pest with filth; we never know where it has been just prior to sitting down on the table or our nose. When it lights on food it certainly takes away our appetite.

Flies are blamed frequently in the past for the transmission of typhoid, paratyphoid, dysentery, and polio. These diseases no longer are common and better sanitary practices undoubtedly helped in their control.

REMOVAL OF POCKETS

J. G. writes: Is there ever complete recovery from diverticulosis without surgery?

REPLY

Yes, because the majority of people with these small pockets in the large intestine are never bothered. Surgery is suggested when several diverticula become infected and reinfected and reinfected until removal of the colon is the only way to solve the problem. This is the exception, because most of these attacks subside after taking an antibiotic and going on a bland diet.

ACCUMULATED BLOOD

P. M. writes: What is done about a hematoma on a leg, incurred in a basketball injury?

REPLY

A hematoma is a collection of blood under the skin that clots after bleeding stops. Elevate the leg and apply ice packs or cold towels, to bring hemorrhage under control. Use heat thereafter to stimulate the absorption of blood. Several enzyme tablets on the market are said to hasten healing.

TOMORROW: An antifungal gout remedy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The last vacant apartment in a new co-op finally was sold, and the other tenants naturally were curious to know what kind of people would occupy it. The first day a brand-new doormat was put down in the hall, and everybody hastened to read the inscription thereon. It read, "Scram!"

You've got to keep on your toes to be abreast of progress in fast growing Phoenix, Arizona. A harrassed mother told her son there, "Why must you stay underfoot when I'm trying to get the place cleaned up? Go down and play in that empty lot at the corner." The boy returned presently, to report, "Mother, there's a 22-story office building there!"

When the late Carolyn Wells earned enough money to buy some long-wanted books for her library, she pasted this plate in every volume: "They borrow books; they will not buy; they have no

ethics or religion. I wish some kind Burbankian guy would cross my books with homing pigeons."

Old Pop Kislik looked up from his paper and announced, "It says here that 3,000 elephants a year are used to make the ivory keys for our pianos." "My, my," approved his wife. "Isn't it amazing what they can train those big animals to do!"

Sen. Mundt Boasts About Blocking Measure To Restrict Storage Bins

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on vacation. In his absence, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — South Dakota's cheerful, cherubic Sen. Karl Mundt, in a moment of indignation over a leak from his mail file, forthrightly offered to open up all his correspondence on grain matters.

Since six weeks have elapsed, and he still hasn't delivered the promised mail. This column will unveil another letter for him.

On May 19, 1960, he wrote to M. W. Thatcher, manager of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association, in a triumphant tone.

"This is a follow-up to my telephone call reporting the success of my motion to have the Yates amendment deleted from the annual agriculture appropriations bill," Mundt boasted.

The Yates amendment would have forced Uncle Sam to store surplus grain in empty government bins before contracting it out to private storage houses. This not only would have saved the taxpayers money but might have prevented the grain scandals which have been popping lately.

It costs the taxpayers 13½ cents a bushel to store grain in private elevators. In contrast, the cost for government storage runs only 9 to 12 cents a bushel. The difference, multiplied by billions of bushels, takes a whopping bite out of the taxpayer's dollar.

What has turned out to be worse, private promoters like Billie Sol Estes haven't been satisfied with their higher rates but have cheated Uncle Sam out of still more millions. The latest word is that government grain has mysteriously disappeared from several private warehouses.

"By forcing the Department of Agriculture to use all available government storage space," Mundt wrote to Thatcher, "we would confront the dangers of having virtually no CCC grain stored in many private houses."

But Mundt saved the private operators from this economic calamity — at incalculable cost, of course, to the taxpayers.

For this service, he naturally expected a political pay-off, and he wrote the grain terminal Association manager:

"Incidentally, Bill, I hope and believe that you can get whoever prepares the GTA daily radio roundup to give us a little credit for pulling this one out of the fire, since I am sure eliminating the Yates language is not only good for the storage industry but for farm people generally."

The Grain Terminal Association was not ungrateful. Thatcher promptly wired Mundt:

"Just received your letter which gives such wonderful news about our grain storage business. We will begin next week on our radio and other facilities to feature this latest effort of yours to preserve our grain marketing system."

In Boat Together

John C. Doerfer, who hastily resigned as Federal Communications Chairman two years ago after six days abroad broadcaster George B. Storer's yacht, has turned up again in the same boat with Storer.

Both the former communications boss and the man he regulated are now associated in a Maryland plastics firm called Nemir Industries, Inc.

Doerfer now complains bitterly that the yacht was tied up alongside the Miami dock for the whole time, except for one afternoon's cruise, and that he never once sat in judgment upon any of Storer's 12 radio-TV stations.

The fact remains, however, that the Storer broadcasting empire came under Doerfer's jurisdiction, and government officials aren't supposed to accept favors from the people they regulate.

Now Doerfer is secretary-treasurer of Nemir Industries, in which storer owns a large interest.

The onetime communications chief explanied to this column that Storer had nothing to do with his new position. Indeed, Doerfer insisted it was the other way around: he interested Storer in investing in plastics.

Headlines And Footnotes

Jackie Kennedy has complained privately that she misses reading Eugenia Sheppard's fashion news since the President canceled all subscriptions to the New York Herald Tribune . . . Overseas Investment

By Jeanne Kuebler

WASHINGTON—United Nations officials have estimated that the underdeveloped countries will need about $80 billion in new capital during the present decade—an increase of $2 billion a year over the prevailing rate of investment —to attain a growth rate of 5 per cent annually by 1970. Private investors must supply a large portion of this total, but investment of foreign capital is made hazardous in many underdeveloped lands by a rising tide of nationalism that adds political risks to ordinary business hazards.

Businessmen contemplating ventures abroad face the possibility of loss from confiscation, discriminatory taxation, currency devaluation, or similar actions beyond their control. Such non-business risks cause prospective investors to look several times before they leap into some of the needy but less stable nations.

Recent seizures of American-owned property in Brazil and Ceylon have not helped to banish fears for the safety of investments in backward countries. Following a dispute between the government of a Brazilian state and the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. over seizure of an I.T.T. subsidiary, the federal government of Brazil issued an expropriation decree whichc points to ultimate nationalization of all utilities of more than local significance and lays down rules for compensation. The total U. S. investment in Brazilian utilities amounts to about $200 million. In Ceylon, the government took over oil facilities owned by American and British interests. Compensation for the seized properties, valued at $6 million, has been promised but the owners are not optimistic about actually receiving payment.

These moves have provoked rumblings of retaliation in Congress. The lawmakers are threatening to suspend the foreign aid allotments and cancel the sugar quotas that take over American property unless they make prompt and adequate compensation. The administration fears that authorization of such action would pose a substantial threat to the effectiveness of the foreign aid program and especially of the Alliance for Progress.

The threat comes at a time when the Alliance has barely gotten off the ground and when private U. S. investment in Latin America has shown promise of rising significantly from the low 1960 figure of $163 million in new capital. Investors have indicated, through applications for investment guaranties submitted to the Agency for International Development, that they are prepared to lay out $840 million on new enterprises in Latin America.

The administration is trying to encourage the flow of new capital by enlisting the cooperation of American businessmen. The Department of Commerce recently organized a Committee for the Alliance for Progress. The committe, composed of 23 top-ranking business leaders, plans to carry out programs through task forces that will be assigned concrete objectives—specific investment and social progress goals in such fields as housing and slum clearance, food processing, chemicals and fertilizers, and so forth.

Some form of protection for private foreign investments will be required, however, if these high hopes are to be realized. The old practice of sending in the Marines to collect defaulted foreign debts was long ago abandoned. Even the far milder action of suspending public economic aid in retaliation for confiscation of private property may conflict with general foreign policy objectives. A prosaic insurance policy may be the answer in the present era of interdependency among free nations.

The Agency for International Development now is emphasizing and enlarging its Investment Guaranty Program. This program offers American investors in cooperating foreign countries insurance against losses from currency convertibility difficulties, expropriation, war, revolution or insurrection. Coverage is limited to new or additional investments in countries that enter into special agreements with the United States.

The program is available for investments in 47 underdeveloped countries. As of March 31, almost $716 million in guaranties had been written. Applications for insurance protection have increased greatly in the past year, however, and requests for guaranties aggregating $2 billion are now being processed. An all-risk guaranty for investments that will promote social progress and the development of small business enterprises was added to the program last year. A similar policy for pilot housing projects in Latin America also is now offered. No policies have been issued yet in either of the two new categories, but several applications for protection of investments in housing projects are under consideration.

Youths' Terms Suspended

A 16-year-old Vale ummit girl who escaped from the County Detention Quarters Tuesday night was given a suspended sentence to the Montrose School for Girls yesterday and was placed on probation for an indefinite period.

In connection with the same case, Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin also found Donald Booth, 20, Vale Summit, guilty of contributing to the delinquency of the girl and gave him a 60-day suspended sentence in the County Jail.

The girl was being held at the detention quarters at the County Infirmary on a delinquency charge when she broke out Tuesday night. She was picked up by City Police shortly afterwards at the home of her sister.

Rabies Program Is Suggested

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said the number of domestic animals now being bitten by wild life points to the need of a more effective rabies immunization program.

Dyer said a growing number of rabies cases are being found in wild and domestic animals in the state. He said the department had distributed anti-rabies serum for the treatment of 43 persons so far this year.

The director noted that of 453 animal heads examined from June, 1961, through June, 1962, 101 were found rabid. Of the 101, 14 were fox heads.

Two Men Join County Staff As Sanitarians

The staff of the sanitation section of the Allegany County Department of Health has been increased with the employment of two men, according to Gaylord Brooks, supervising sanitarian.

Conrad B. Zimmerman, 31, of 18 North Chase Street, has assumed his duties as a sanitarian trainee.

James Stanley Ritchie, 42, has been employed as a sanitarian No. 1. Both men passed the state examinations for these positions.

Zimmerman was formerly employed with the Allegany County Welfare Board. He is a 1949 graduate of Allegany High School and of Shepherd College where he received a bachelor of science degree in 1958. He served in the Army from 1953 to 1955.

Zimmerman is married and has two children. In his work he will be engaged in problems dealing with sewage in the county.

Ritchie is a graduate of Beall High School and received a B.A. degree in pre-med at Western Maryland College. He served 18 months with the Army Medical Corps in the European theater of operations during World War II.

He had been employed with the Wilson Welding Company before taking over his new job. Ritchie is married to the former Daisy A. Lease, who resided on Winchester Road, and they have five children, Debbie, Jan, Beverly, Kim and James S. Ritchie Jr. He is a native of Shaft.

Ritchie is being assigned to the milk inspection work carried on by the health agency.

PPG Forms Agreement With British Firm

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has announced the execution of a license agreement with Pilkington Brothers Limited of St. Helens, England, involving rights to Pilkington patents and know-how which, utilized in conjunction with its own new developments, will enable PPG to become the first U. S. manufacturer of glass using the Float process.

The products of this process already have captured a large section of the British market where other types of flat glass formerly were used.

Rainfall Below July Average

Rainfall and temperatures were below the July average last month according to A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge of the local office of the Geological Survey, U. S. Department of the Interior.

In his monthly review of meteorological and runoff conditions of the North Branch of the Potomac at and above Cumberland, Mr. Vicker said total precipitation as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 3.06 inches, 0.30 inches below the July average.

The average daily temperature was 71.1 degrees, 4.1 degrees below normal.

The observed mean daily flow of the North Branch of the Potomac River at the Wiley Ford gauge during July was 459 cubic feet per second or 297 million gallons per day, which is 110 per cent of the 33-year July average.

The daily flow varied between 230 cfs (149 mgd) on July 2 and 1,040 cfs (672 mgd) on July 4.

Included in this monthly mean was an equivalent of two cfs (1.3 mgd) released from storage at the Savage River Reservoir, which is 0.4 per cent of the flow of Cumberland.

Food Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Weekend food shoppers will find an abundance of good food buys, particularly among the selections of fresh fruits and vegetables.

While they're in season, take advantage of the good supplies of fresh vegetables.

And to fill the fruit bowl you have a choice of apples, a variety of melons and citrus, peaches, and blueberries. The fruit salad season is at its peak.

When fish is your choice, look for canned tuna, fillets, and shrimp as good buys, generally.

Now, here's a rundown of the foods that are in good supply in this area:

A wide selection of beef cuts will be found at meat counters this weekend. Boneless chuck roast, chuck steaks, and round roasts will be featured. At popular prices will be sirloin, porterhouse, and rib steaks, pork loins and smoked hams, veal, turkeys broilers and fryers.

Dairy products will be abundant and widely featured.

The top choices at vegetable counters will be beets, cabbage, carrots, chinese cabbage, collards, cucumbers, eggplant, endive, escarole, green onions, kale, Boston lettuce, Romaine lettuce, parsley, eastern potatoes, radishes, spinach, squash, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes.

Best buys at fruit counters will be avocados, blueberries, mangoes, limes, and nectarines.

At fish counters this weekend look for plentiful supplies of halibut, clams, fish sticks and portions, and crab meat.

For Sunday brunch or supper filled pancakes are an appetizing choice. And the filling? Blend canned apple sauce with sour cream to taste, dust with powdered ginger, spread on pancakes and roll them up. As a last touch a sprinkle of confectioners sugar over the top.

Quickest Kaffeeklatsch Stars Iced Coffee, Sweets

None of us has any trouble finding company for small talk on a summer afternoon. When it's just too warm to do any work, there's nothing more refreshing than a get-together over glasses of frosty iced coffee.

What's more, there's no work attached to making the iced coffee. You don't even need a coffeemaker—just a large pitcher and lots of ice. Then, make your iced coffee with instant coffee, preparing it by the pitcherful, six tall glasses at a time. Here are the correct proportions:

Instant Iced Coffee

6 level measuring tablespoons instant coffee powder
4 measuring cups water
Plenty of ice

Measure the instant coffee powder into a pitcher and add 1 cup warm water. Stir to dissolve coffee. Add 3 cups cold water and stir. Chill the beverage with plenty of ice. Pour into 6 tall glasses, making sure that each contains its generous share of ice.

Another excellent way to make iced coffee is with regular coffee and coffee ice cubes. Brew a little extra coffee at breakfast, cool it, then pour the cooled coffee into your refrigerator ice tray. Turn the temperature control high for quick freezing. At serving time, brew regular strength coffee and pour it over the coffee cubes. The melting ice will add flavor instead of diluting the drink.

Sugar And Cream

Here are interesting points. If you take cream, buy the richest cream because it makes quite a difference in the flavor of iced coffee. For sweetening, use a simple sugar syrup which goes into solution without a lot of stirring. To make the syrup, stir and boil equal quantities of sugar and water for seven minutes. Cool, then store in the refrigerator. It keeps indefinitely.

Actually, iced coffee is complete refreshment by itself. But these dainty Lady Finger Sandwiches are delicious with it, and so simple to fix. Just split packaged lady fingers and put them together again with a filling of red raspberry jam. Then settle back to sip your frosty coffee and nibble the tasty sweets.

Mint Chiffon Pie

(Six-Seven Slices)

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1 cup milk
1¼ cups After Dinner Mints (4 ounce package)
3 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
Few drops green food coloring
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the milk for 5 minutes. Scald remaining milk. Add mints; stir until dissolved. Gradually beat a fourth of the milk mixture into beaten egg yolks. Stir into remaining milk mixture. Cook over moderate heat until slightly thickened. Add gelatin; stir until dissolved. Stir in salt, vanilla and food coloring. Chill until partially thickened. Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar. Continue beating until whites will hold a soft peak. Gradually add sugar; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon into pie shell, spreading evenly. Chill until set. Before serving, decorate with sweetened whipped cream and mints.

If The Brotherhoods Strike, Then What?

All the signs are that the nation is heading for a total work stoppage on the railroads, and at a time that, politically speaking, is very awkward.

A White House commission has recommended sweeping changes in work rules that would eliminate featherbedding. The railroads notified the unions that the changes will be put into effect on August 16.

They would eliminate the jobs of about 40,000 freight train firemen who are considered unnecessary on today's diesels.

In response, the unions have announced that if management persists in this course, "it is quite likely that not a single train will move over the railroad tracks of this nation until the firemen or any other workers essential to safe operations are restored to their posts."

The President can delay but not avert the strike under his existing powers. By appointing an emergency board he automatically can postpone the strike for 60 days, or until mid-October. At that time only Congress will have the power to stay it further, and Congressmen doubtless will be at home looking to re-election.

The President could call them back, but that would be bad politics under ordinary circumstances. The total paralysis of the nation's rail system is far from ordinary, however, and to recall Congress to deal with such a situation might easily win public approval not only for Kennedy but also for members of Congress.

Outside the labor unions there's little sympathy with the principle of featherbedding, and any steps that may be taken to put an end to it will have wide public support.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Funny Diplomats

It used to be, before so-called democracy became synonymous with vulgarity, that noblemen, public officials and diplomats behaved themselves in accordance with their office and their status so that the phrase, noblesse oblige, had real meaning. We expected a person who enjoyed benefits and privileges not to abuse them.

The United Nations is situated in New York City, although it enjoys extraterritorial privileges. These privileges are extended not only to members of the United Nations but to some employees.

Actually no personnel associated with the United Nations live on United Nations territory. All of them live either in New York City or its environs. Such persons are not subject to municipal law. They have over the years — some of them have — abused the advantage of living in an anarchy. Thus, their cars carry license plates which indicate their exalted position. Those who take advantage of such a circumstance are, of course, vulgarians. The true gentleman never takes advantage.

The "DPL" plates have been used on cars which have been double parked, badly parked, in front of fire hydrants, in places where there were signs prohibiting parking. The State Department has apparently insisted that there is an agreement between the United States and the United Nations authorizing these infractions of municipal law. There is no such agreement. The agreement authorizing the situation of the United Nations in New York City provides for the right of those chosen to represent their countries at the United Nations shall have free access to its buildings and shall not be molested. That has been extended, by courtesy, to mean all sorts of improprieties.

For instance, a night club is not the United Nations. When a man goes to a night club to enjoy an evening, he ought to regard himself as just another guy on the town without any special privilege. When a Russian diplomat damages a car because he is in a hurry, he should pay all the damages. If he is impolite about it, he should be withdrawn by his own government before any fuss is made about it.

The other day I heard that many months ago a Latin American diplomat struck down an attendant at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel and nothing has been done about it for about half a year. This is unfair. The so-called diplomat sould have volunteered to take care of the matter. No gentleman takes advantage.

This has nothing to do with politics or with diplomacy. It is a matter of manners and morals. We live in a revolutionary age where men are thrown up from the gutter to leadership. Some are able to hit their stride. Others still make a howling noise when they eat their soup. It is easy to learn never to take advantage of other human beings, particularly because of one's position.

I am quite sure that Prince Philip would not take advantage. I once walked on the streets of New York with Prince Philip and my old friend, Bill Ormerod, but there was no police escort, no pushing and shoving. We were just three fellows walking on a sidewalk from one place to another, with no fuss whatsoever.

On the other hand, it is always possible to see who have just sprung up from nowhere demanding an homage which is not their due and which, if they can get it no other way, they imagine that they can accomplish something by standing a car in front of a fire hydrant.

The New York City Fire Department is correct in its decision to haul away any car that stands in front of a fire hydrant. It is said that the diplomats mean to protest this indignity. What indignity!

Most of them have never had it so good and they ought to be grateful that they are permitted to stay in this country where conditions are so much more pleasant than they are in their home countries. Americans, on the whole, are an easy-going people. They do not take high sounding office seriously — not even their own officials. We are that way. We know that most of the great of the Earth are not so very great after they get out of office. They are just about the same as anybody else who has no job.

Our Hollow-Handed 'Friend'

JFK's Lead In Polls Impressive But Unreliable

By Joseph Alsop

EASTCHESTER, N. Y.

Not long after the last war, the bulldozers chewed up a local golf course, and cleared the way for the Huntley Estates. The trees have therefore had more than a decade to come back. The shrubs and lawns are handsome. The small but comfortable houses are well-kept.

This part of suburban Eastchester is a nice neighborhood in other ways, too. People of all three of the great faiths, Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish, live here comfortably together. Class lines are blurred—one house will contain a hardworking mechanic and his brood, and the next, outwardly identical house will be the home of a prosperous professional man.

The children, endlessly bicycling along the quiet, curving streets, are cheerful and healthy. Their parents are friendly and hospitable. In politics, finally, these people are moderate-conservative. Most of them strongly supported President Eisenhower; and in the 1960 election 58 per cent of them voted for Vice President Nixon, against 42 per cent for President Kennedy.

A Sunday of arduous but pleasant pavement-pounding, along with Oliver Quayle of Louis Harris Associates, obtained the current political thinking of 56 residents of the Huntley Estates.

Racially, religiously, and politically, ours was a representative sample. In fact, the 54 pollees who had voted last time had come within one percentage point of splitting their 1960 votes precisely the way all the Huntley Estates people divided that year.

What then has happened since 1960, in this agreeable community which is as American as ham an deggs and as normal as baseball? On the surface, at least, President Kennedy has made almost the kind of gain since he took office that President Eisenhower also made.

To be specific, the same people in our sample who went 32 to 24 for Nixon, with 2 non-voters, now said that they would give 27 votes to President Kennedy and 27 votes to the former Vice President, if an election were held tomorrow.

Leaving out the 4 pollees who could not make up their minds, these figures mean the President is now running exactly even with Nixon, in a Republican-leaning community and among people who previously gave Nixon a better than 57 per cent majority. Furthermore, the former Vice President is a lot stronger than Gov. Nelson D. Rockefeller, among these Huntley Estates people.

Asked whether they would choose Kennedy or Rockefeller if an election were held tomorrow, 28 of our pollees picked Kennedy; only 20 went for Rockefeller; and 10 said they were unsure. The memory of Gov. Rockefeller's early increases in state taxes dies hard in Huntley Estates, as elsewhere in New York, according to report.

If the Huntley Estates people are reasonably representative of a broad trend — as the nationwide polls rather clearly suggest — President Kennedy today commands a large national majority, rather than the hairbreadth majority that won him the election. Nonetheless, judging by these very average but sensible people, all is not peaches and cream for the President.

To begin with, there was a worrying but often recurrent note among the people in our sample—more than two-thirds of the total—who said they thought the President was doing a "good" or an "excellent" job in the White House. Too many of them began, defensively, with the remark: "I still think he's doing a good job." One got the impression, in truth, that early enthusiasm had been rather widely replaced by qualified approval.

Then too, the way these people talked about President Kennedy was as different as chalk from cheese from the way the same sort of people talked about President Eisenhower.

Personal liking was always the dominant note of the great Eisenhower majorities. If you went pavement-pounding in the old days, you constantly discovered people who frankly said Eisenhower was not a very good President, but added that "they would just have to go for Ike because he's such a nice guy."

Despite the efforts lavished on the "Kennedy image," President Kennedy has seemingly failed to win a place in people's hearts, as Eisenhower did. He has, instead, won a place in people's minds — which is a less dependable kind of place. In our little sample, the Kennedy admirers said that he was "vigorous," or "intelligent," or "a man of conviction," or "a lot more mature than I'd expected." But they did not say he was a nice guy.

Eisenhower's projection as a nice guy was the main cause of his enormous inroads into the working class vote, once so solidly Democratic. Maybe one should not expect the same kind of emotional and subjective response in a comfortable, middle-class community like Huntley Estates, where Kennedy has thus far made impressive inroads into the Republicans' normal voting support.

If he keeps this kind of gain in Republican-leaning communities, and if he holds the normal Democratic workers' vote as well, Kennedy will be every bit as far ahead as the national polls continue to say he is. But one cannot help but suspect that the problem for the President is that his current majority, though seemingly impressive, is also a bit mushy and unreliable.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

AMATEUR ECONOMISTS—The nation's capital has suddenly become overpopulated with amateur economists. They're preoccupied with devising strategy to avert a recession, which, in their minds, impends unless drastic action is taken.

These new economists are more political than economic in their backgrounds, and their thinking and proposed panaceas run almost exclusively along political rather than economic lines. Most of the ideas flow out of Capitol Hill, but some come from representatives of business, labor and the farmer.

Their wives are near unanimous in favor of a quick tax cut, but in each instance the proposal they espouse is designed to benefit the particular segment of the economy in which they are interested.

For instance, business wants a tax cut that will reduce corporate tax rates and trim down the higher brackets of the individual income tax. Labor, on the other hand, is plumping for a cut in the lower rates to stimulate public purchasing power.

It is quite obvious that if either of these cuts is recommended without consideration to the other group's demands, it would have a difficult time getting through Congress.

There is also a group in Congress that stands opposed to any tax cut now on the theory that business conditions do not warrant a further government deficit at this time. This group, and it contains some of the most powerful figures in Congress, would oppose either of the two courses being put forward, or a combination of them.

The answer seems apparent. If there is a tax cut, it will have to incorporate concessions for business and high and low bracket individuals. This is the only kind of tax cut bill that can be worked through Congress, particularly on the short notice that will exist between the time it actually is proposed and adjournment.

Sen. Mundt Boasts About Blocking Measure To Restrict Storage Bins

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on vacation. In his absence, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — South Dakota's cheerful, cherubic Sen. Karl Mundt, in a moment of indignation over a leak from his mail file, forthrightly offered to open up all his correspondence on grain matters.

Since six weeks have elapsed, and he still hasn't delivered the promised mail. This column will unveil another letter for him.

On May 19, 1960, he wrote to M. W. Thatcher, manager of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association, in a triumphant tone.

"This is a follow-up to my telephone call reporting the success of my motion to have the Yates amendment deleted from the annual agriculture appropriations bill," Mundt boasted.

The Yates amendment would have forced Uncle Sam to store surplus grain in empty government bins before contracting it out to private storage houses. This not only would have saved the taxpayers money but might have prevented the grain scandals which have been popping lately.

It costs the taxpayers 13½ cents a bushel to store grain in private elevators. In contrast, the cost for government storage runs only 9 to 12 cents a bushel. The difference, multiplied by billions of bushels, takes a whopping bite out of the taxpayer's dollar.

What has turned out to be worse, private promoters like Billie Sol Estes haven't been satisfied with their higher rates but have cheated Uncle Sam out of still more millions. The latest word is that government grain has mysteriously disappeared from several private warehouses.

"By forcing the Department of Agriculture to use all available government storage space," Mundt wrote to Thatcher, "we would confront the dangers of having virtually no CCC grain stored in many private houses."

But Mundt saved the private operators from this economic calamity — at incalculable cost, of course, to the taxpayers.

For this service, he naturally expected a political pay-off, and he wrote the grain terminal Association manager:

"Incidentally, Bill, I hope and believe that you can get whoever prepares the GTA daily radio roundup to give us a little credit for pulling this one out of the fire, since I am sure eliminating the Yates language is not only good for the storage industry but for farm people generally."

The Grain Terminal Association was not ungrateful. Thatcher promptly wired Mundt:

"Just received your letter which gives such wonderful news about our grain storage business. We will begin next week on our radio and other facilities to feature this latest effort of yours to preserve our grain marketing system."

In Boat Together

John C. Doerfer, who hastily resigned as Federal Communications Chairman two years ago after six days abroad broadcaster George B. Storer's yacht, has turned up again in the same boat with Storer.

Both the former communications boss and the man he regulated are now associated in a Maryland plastics firm called Nemir Industries, Inc.

Doerfer now complains bitterly that the yacht was tied up alongside the Miami dock for the whole time, except for one afternoon's cruise, and that he never once sat in judgment upon any of Storer's 12 radio-TV stations.

The fact remains, however, that the Storer broadcasting empire came under Doerfer's jurisdiction, and government officials aren't supposed to accept favors from the people they regulate.

Now Doerfer is secretary-treasurer of Nemir Industries, in which storer owns a large interest.

The onetime communications chief explanied to this column that Storer had nothing to do with his new position. Indeed, Doerfer insisted it was the other way around; he interested Storer in investing in plastics.

Overseas Investment

By Jeanne Kuebler

WASHINGTON—United Nations officials have estimated that the underdeveloped countries will need about $80 billion in new capital during the present decade—an increase of $2 billion a year over the prevailing rate of investment—to attain a growth rate of 5 per cent annually by 1970. Private investors must supply a large portion of this total, but investment of foreign capital is made hazardous in many underdeveloped lands by a rising tide of nationalism that adds political risks to ordinary business hazards.

Businessmen contemplating ventures abroad face the possibility of loss from confiscation, discriminatory taxation, currency devaluation, or similar actions beyond their control. Such non-business risks cause prospective investors to look several times before they leap into some of the needy but less stable nations.

Recent seizures of American-owned property in Brazil and Ceylon have not helped to banish fears for the safety of investments in backward countries. Following a dispute between the government of a Brazilian state and the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. over seizure of an I.T.T. subsidiary, the federal government of Brazil issued an expropriation decree whichc points to ultimate nationalization of all utilities of more than local significance and lays down rules for compensation. The total U. S. investment in Brazilian utilities amounts to about $200 million. In Ceylon, the government took over oil facilities owned by American and British interests. Compensation for the seized properties, valued at $6 million, has been promised but the owners are not optimistic about actually receiving payment.

These moves have provoked rumblings of retaliation in Congress. The lawmakers are threatening to suspend the foreign aid allotments and cancel the sugar quotas that take over American property unless they make prompt and adequate compensation. The administration fears that authorization of such action would pose a substantial threat to the effectiveness of the foreign aid program and especially of the Alliance for Progress.

The threat comes at a time when the Alliance has barely gotten off the ground and when private U. S. investment in Latin America has shown promise of rising significantly from the low 1960 figure of $163 million in new capital. Investors have indicated, through applications for investment guaranties submitted to the Agency for International Development, that they are prepared to lay out $840 million on new enterprises in Latin America.

The administration is trying to encourage the flow of new capital by enlisting the cooperation of American businessmen. The Department of Commerce recently organized a Committee for the Alliance for Progress. The committe, composed of 23 top-ranking business leaders, plans to carry out programs through task forces that will be assigned concrete objectives—specific investment and social progress goals in such fields as housing and slum clearance, food processing, chemicals and fertilizers, and so forth.

Some form of protection for private foreign investments will be required, however, if these high hopes are to be realized. The old practice of sending in the Marines to collect defaulted foreign debts was long ago abandoned. Even the far milder action of suspending public economic aid in retaliation for confiscation of private property may conflict with general foreign policy objectives. A prosaic insurance policy may be the answer in the present era of interdependency among free nations.

The Agency for International Development now is emphasizing and enlarging its Investment Guaranty Program. This program offers American investors in cooperating foreign countries insurance against losses from currency convertibility difficulties, expropriation, war, revolution or insurrection. Coverage is limited to new or additional investments in countries that enter into special agreements with the United States.

The program is available for investments in 47 underdeveloped countries. As of March 31, almost $716 million in guaranties had been written. Applications for insurance protection have increased greatly in the past year, however, and requests for guaranties aggregating $2 billion are now being processed. An all-risk guaranty for investments that will promote social progress and the development of small business enterprises was added to the program last year. A similar policy for pilot housing projects in Latin America also is now offered. No policies have been issued yet in either of the two new categories, but several applications for protection of investments in housing projects are under consideration.

Chemical Sterilant Decreases Fly Nuisance

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Regarding fertility, rabbits are pikers compared with flies. Mr. and Mrs. Fly can produce 191 septillion offspring in one summer. Treasury department officials are perhaps the only people capable of appreciating this figure.

Most of the bug killers on the market today will kill flies and other insects on contact. A newcomer, Apholate, is more properly called a chemical sterilant. It causes sterility in house flies which eat it or walk over a treated surface; the flies live but the eggs do not hatch. This compound is not available commercially.

New products along this line always are welcome because insects tend to become highly resistant to all types of insecticides. There is no need for concern, however, as new agents are developed from time to time to keep the super-resistant strains of house flies and mosquitoes from getting the upper hand.

It seems to me there are fewer flies now than there were 5 or 10 years ago. I have no proof for this statement except my own observation. More and more people use space sprays or spray bombs and keep tight fitting screens on all doors and windows.

Picnic areas, parks, and patios are being sprayed routinely and there is a greater tendency to cover garbage cans, cisterns, cesspools, and septic tanks. Property owners don't allow water to accumulate thus eliminating breeding grounds for other insects.

It is ironical that insects — small as they are — do not fear man. The fly seems to delight in tantalizing us through its ability to hop, skip, and jump just out of reach. We usually associate this pest with filth; we never know where it has been just prior to sitting down on the table or our nose. When it lights on food it certainly takes away our appetite.

Flies are blamed frequently in the past for the transmission of typhoid, paratyphoid, dysentery, and polio. These diseases no longer are common and better sanitary practices undoubtedly helped in their control.

REMOVAL OF POCKETS

J. G. writes: Is there ever complete recovery from diverticulosis without surgery?

REPLY

Yes, because the majority of people with these small pockets in the large intestine are never bothered. Surgery is suggested when several diverticula become infected and reinfected and reinfected until removal of the colon is the only way to solve the problem. This is the exception, because most of these attacks subside after taking an antibiotic and going on a bland diet.

ACCUMULATED BLOOD

P. M. writes: What is done about a hematoma on a leg, incurred in a basketball injury?

REPLY

A hematoma is a collection of blood under the skin that clots after bleeding stops. Elevate the leg and apply ice packs or cold towels, to bring hemorrhage under control. Use heat thereafter to stimulate the absorption of blood. Several enzyme tablets on the market are said to hasten healing.

TOMORROW: An antifungal gout remedy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The last vacant apartment in a new co-op finally was sold, and the other tenants naturally were curious to know what kind of people would occupy it. The first day a brand-new doormat was put down in the hall, and everybody hastened to read the inscription thereon. It read, "Scram!"

You've got to keep on your toes to be abreast of progress in fast growing Phoenix, Arizona. A harrassed mother told her son there, "Why must you stay underfoot when I'm trying to get the place cleaned up? Go down and play in that empty lot at the corner." The boy returned presently, to report, "Mother, there's a 22-story office building there!"

When the late Carolyn Wells earned enough money to buy some long-wanted books for her library, she pasted this plate in every volume: "They borrow books; they will not buy; they have no

ethics or religion. I wish some kind Burbankian guy would cross my books with homing pigeons."

Old Pop Kislik looked up from his paper and announced, "It says here that 3,000 elephants a year are used to make the ivory keys for our pianos." "My, my," approved his wife. "Isn't it amazing what they can train those big animals to do!"

Salad Time Here Again

Salad time is here again!

Most people—especially the men in your family—will agree that the most important part of the salad is the dressing. One of the most popular dressings, and one that has particular appeal to hearty male appetites, is made with tangy American blue cheese.

Blue cheese dressings are easy to make, and they transform an ordinary salad into a real taste treat. American blue cheese, which is made from pure cow's milk right in the heart of our rich dairyland, is available in supermarkets and other stores that sell cheese.

SUMMERTIME DRESSING

½ cup crumbled American blue cheese
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
8 ounces sour cream
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce

Blend blue cheese and mayonnaise until it is almost smooth. Add sour cream and worcestershire sauce. Stir well. Additional crumbled blue cheese can be used as a garniture, if desired.

Refreshing

Orange milk punch provides nourishment as well as refreshment for thirsty youngsters. Stir 2-3rds cup of instant nonfat dry milk into 4½ cups of chilled orange juice. Shake well. Garnish with orange slices. Serves 4.

Wife Preservers

If the throat of your vase is too wide to hold cut flowers as desired, try arranging them in a narrow-necked glass of water set inside vase. Foliage and flowers will make it unnoticeable.

Your gas range will stay cleaner, longer, if you hang its own scrub-brush nearby. Get one with stiff bristles, to scrub dirt and food drippings off the burners.

CITRUS TEA PUNCH

A simple to prepare punch for patio parties and picnics.

Pour 3 cups boiling water over 6 Tea Bags; brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags and allow to cool. Add 1½ cups orange juice and 2 cups lemonade. Chill. To serve, pour over ice cubes and garnish with orange and lemon slices. Makes 1½ quarts.

BETTER AT TALKING THAN AT "DOING" — Apropos of President Kennedy's campaign "pledge" to "Get this country moving!" it has been pointed out that the country is indeed moving"! More people are moving into the unemployment lines every day, some 744,000 more in June than in the preceding month. The steel industry already has moved downward to less than half of its productive capacity. Businesses are moving abroad, away from intolerable Government attacks on free enterprise and old-fashioned economics. Farmers are moving off the farms at a record rate as foreclosures mount. Small businesses are moving in court that they be declared bankrupt. New private housing construction is moving down at the rate of 11% a month, even after allowing for seasonal trends. The outlook for our national economy is moving downward toward "recession and stagnation", according to no less an authority than Professor Paul A. Samuelson, White House adviser, in an article written for a British publication. By the same authority, the United States is moving toward record-breaking annual deficits of $12,000,000,000 or more. The Communists have already moved into Laos, without Administration's blessing! And Castro the Communist has moved into a stronger position in Cuba, at our very doorstep, thanks to foolish high-level planning by the U. S. Government! We are indeed moving — in the wrong direction!

Perhaps the expression, "Get this country moving!" just slipped out — like the expression about the ancestry of all businessmen, or the more recent expression about "sailing along" with one party or "anchoring" with the other. These off-the-cuff epigrams demonstrate a talent for the quick come-back, the smart retort. Sadly we have observed a demonstration of clever slogan-making accompanied by utter inability to take action which would benefit our nation's economy — and, therefore, our nation and our people.

(By the way, someone asks, "Isn't it better to 'anchor' until needed repairs to the Ship of State are completed than to 'sail along' in a leaky sloop and sink?")

"BUSINESS" IS MILLIONS OF LITTLE PEOPLE — Calling for understanding and cooperation between Government and Business, Mr. Roger M. Blough, Chairman of the Board, U. S. Steel Corporation, had this to say:

"We in business are prone to criticize government, but, in my view, action by both in a cooperative spirit is the only feasible answer. Business cannot afford to think of those in government as Machiavellian overlords whose prime purpose in life is to push business around. I do not think this is the case, nor do I think we can let ourselves fall into the critical state of mind that that kind of thinking generates. On the other hand, it will do no good for anyone to think in terms of business as a pawn to be shunted hither and yon at Executive or Legislative whim. Business, after all, is nothing but millions and millions of people, organized into relatively small groups to achieve better production. And thinking of business in this way should remove much of the desire to do that kind of shunting."

SURE! LET WASHINGTON PAY IT!—One sometimes hears on the TV an ignorant or Left-wing commentator or panelist say or imply that the Federal government should pay for this or that. In such discussions, there seems to be lack of awareness that the Federal government is dead broke and heavily in debt. There has grown up the false belief that the Federal government can afford what State and local governments cannot afford because at the Federal level we are presumed to be spending someone else's money. The Federal government, of course, derives its funds from the same taxpayers that pay the State and local taxes. What's more, the Federal government gobbles up most of the tax money in extravagant administration and waste. Money collected and spent at the local level, without making that expensive round trip to Washington, goes much further.

GOVERNMENT GROWING BIGGER AND MORE OPPRESSIVE—Civilian employees of the Federal government totaled 2,416,864 last year, and the total, instead of being decreased, is being increased by 75,000 to 100,000 a year.

The Federal government owns 767,750,000 acres of land, about 1 out of every 3 acres in the country. In one State, Nevada, the Federal government owns 85% of all land. It owns 421,360 buildings with a total floor space of some 2,500,000,000 square feet. It leases an additional 96,000,000 square feet of building space.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, appearing before a Congressional committee, testified that "all sorts of money" could be saved if the Government would get rid of the deadwood on its payrolls. He said that 10% of the people in his Department "are doing jobs started 40 years ago which just aren't needed." But before anything could be done about overhauling the Government's featherbedded payroll, along came the Administration's budget for the new fiscal year and in it was the request for funds for more jobs in every Department and agency, including the Department of Commerce. Secretary Hodges had asked, not for 10% fewer employes, but for 7.5% more. Postmaster General Day had asked for 15,000 more employees. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman wanted 5,400 more employees in his Department. Secretary of Interior Udall had asked for 5,400 more. And so it went. As the Government grows, it imposes more regulations, enters into additional areas of our daily lives, restricting still more of our personal freedom of choice and exercising additional dangerous influences on all segments of our economy.

One of the monstrosities of the Government, and the most oppressive, is the "regulatory" agency. We like to think of our Government as having three branches, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, but actually we have a fourth branch, the regulatory agencies which cannot be classified properly as belonging exclusively to any one of the three branches because they first promulgate regulations which have the force and effect of law, then enforce them, and later adjudicate them. They are indeed unique in that they act as lawmaker, enforcer, prosecuting attorney, judge, jury, and executioner. They are the 60 independent agencies, with 400,000 employees and a total annual budget of around $10,000,000,000. We as individuals and as a business community have arrived at the point where the eye of some almighty agency is upon us when we buy or sell, ship or receive, hire or fire, grow or manufacture, save or spend, drink or diet, profit or lose, talk or listen.

We see the erosion of individual liberties and the increasing substitution of bureaucratic planning for individual decisions. Individual initiative must not be completely swamped by government edict. We must do what we can to prevent the government from getting bigger. We must ask ourselves how much regulation of our private affairs can we undergo without relinquishing our oldest concepts about a free society and the principles on which our beloved U. S. A. was founded.

"THIS IS MY OWN, MY NATIVE LAND"—When I hear a sophomoric discussion of patriotism or the questioning of basic American principles, my thoughts are inclined to turn to the words of Sir Walter Scott, penned more than a century ago:

Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burn'd,
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd
From wandering on a foreign strand!
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no Minstrel raptures swell.
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim . . .

First complete reports of nationwide tests comparing new-process Heinz Baby Foods with those of Heinz major competitor show Heinz preferred 4 to 1 for first variety tested, 2½ to 1 for the second!

IN THESE IMPARTIAL TESTS, over 500 new mothers from all parts of the United States are comparing typical varieties of the new quick-cooked Heinz Baby Foods with the same varieties as prepared by Heinz major competitor.

• To assure complete fairness and impartiality, all brand identification is removed from the jars before judging.

• Results prove a 4-to-1 preference for Heinz Strained Vegetables and Beef over the other brand, and a 2½-to-1 preference for Heinz Strained Macaroni, Tomatoes, Beef and Bacon over the other brand—for taste, texture and color!

• By their votes for Heinz Baby Foods these mothers are confirming the fact that Heinz new quick-cooking process (U.S. Patent No. 2,967,773) definitely produces baby foods that taste better, are brighter, more natural in color, and smoother in texture!

• The process responsible for these new, superior baby foods is based on something every mother knows—that the quicker you cook foods, the more of their fresh, natural flavor, color and food values you retain. Heinz new process carries this a giant step forward by cooking baby foods in 3 to 5 seconds, instead of the usual 25 to 30 minutes. Imagine what a difference this super-quick cooking makes!

• Laboratory tests of Heinz Chicken Noodle Dinner show it not only has better flavor, color and texture, but contains 45% more vitamin B₁ (thiamine), 61% more vitamin B₂ (riboflavin), and 31% more niacin than when this same variety is kettle-cooked the conventional way!

• Both Strained and Junior Heinz Baby Foods are being cooked by the new Heinz process, and most varieties are already available at your food store. You will recognize them by the new easy-serve Heinz Baby Food jar shown at right.

• There is no increase in price for these new, superior Heinz Baby Foods, so start your baby on them right away. The good they do your baby now will last a lifetime!

• New easy-serve jar is lower, wider, lets you spoon out the last tasty bit more easily.

• New easy-read label shows the variety name in bigger type, so you can shop faster . . . save time.

• Easy-open, safety sealed screw-on cap of aluminum has a colorful new look, can't tarnish, or taint baby's food.

Food Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Weekend food shoppers will find an abundance of good food buys, particularly among the selections of fresh fruits and vegetables.

While they're in season, take advantage of the good supplies of fresh vegetables.

And to fill the fruit bowl you have a choice of apples, a variety of melons and citrus, peaches, and blueberries. The fruit salad season is at its peak.

When fish is your choice, look for canned tuna, fillets, and shrimp as good buys, generally.

Now, here's a rundown of the foods that are in good supply in this area:

A wide selection of beef cuts will be found at meat counters this weekend. Boneless chuck roast, chuck steaks, and round roasts will be featured. At popular prices will be sirloin, porterhouse, and rib steaks, pork loins and smoked hams, veal, turkeys broilers and fryers.

Dairy products will be abundant and widely featured.

The top choices at vegetable counters will be beets, cabbage, carrots, chinese cabbage, collards, cucumbers, eggplant, endive, escarole, green onions, kale, Boston lettuce, Romaine lettuce, parsley, eastern potatoes, radishes, spinach, squash, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes.

Best buys at fruit counters will be avocados, blueberries, mangoes, limes, and nectarines.

At fish counters this weekend look for plentiful supplies of halibut, clams, fish sticks and portions, and crab meat.

For Sunday brunch or supper filled pancakes are an appetizing choice. And the filling? Blend canned apple sauce with sour cream to taste, dust with powdered ginger, spread on pancakes and roll them up. As a last touch a sprinkle of confectioners sugar over the top.

Quickest Kaffeeklatsch Stars Iced Coffee, Sweets

None of us has any trouble finding company for small talk on a summer afternoon. When it's just too warm to do any work, there's nothing more refreshing than a get-together over glasses of frosty iced coffee.

What's more, there's no work attached to making the iced coffee. You don't even need a coffeemaker—just a large pitcher and lots of ice. Then, make your iced coffee with instant coffee, preparing it by the pitcherful, six tall glasses at a time. Here are the correct proportions:

Instant Iced Coffee

6 level measuring tablespoons instant coffee powder
4 measuring cups water
Plenty of ice

Measure the instant coffee powder into a pitcher and add 1 cup warm water. Stir to dissolve coffee. Add 3 cups cold water and stir. Chill the beverage with plenty of ice. Pour into 6 tall glasses, making sure that each contains its generous share of ice.

Another excellent way to make iced coffee is with regular coffee and coffee ice cubes. Brew a little extra coffee at breakfast, cool it, then pour the cooled coffee into your refrigerator ice tray. Turn the temperature control high for quick freezing. At serving time, brew regular strength coffee and pour it over the coffee cubes. The melting ice will add flavor instead of diluting the drink.

Sugar And Cream

Here are interesting points. If you take cream, buy the richest cream because it makes quite a difference in the flavor of iced coffee. For sweetening, use a simple sugar syrup which goes into solution without a lot of stirring. To make the syrup, stir and boil equal quantities of sugar and water for seven minutes. Cool, then store in the refrigerator. It keeps indefinitely.

Actually, iced coffee is complete refreshment by itself. But these dainty Lady Finger Sandwiches are delicious with it, and so simple to fix. Just split packaged lady fingers and put them together again with a filling of red raspberry jam. Then settle back to sip your frosty coffee and nibble the tasty sweets.

Mint Chiffon Pie

(Six-Seven Slices)

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1 cup milk
1¼ cups After Dinner Mints (4 ounce package)
3 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
Few drops green food coloring
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup sugar
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the milk for 5 minutes. Scald remaining milk. Add mints; stir until dissolved. Gradually beat a fourth of the milk mixture into beaten egg yolks. Stir into remaining milk mixture. Cook over moderate heat until slightly thickened. Add gelatin; stir until dissolved. Stir in salt, vanilla and food coloring. Chill until partially thickened. Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar. Continue beating until whites will hold a soft peak. Gradually add sugar; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon into pie shell, spreading evenly. Chill until set. Before serving, decorate with sweetened whipped cream and mints.

Weighty Question

Unflavored gelatine comes to the aid of the dieter by providing a "protein pick-up" between meals. When you feel hungry or before each meal, add an envelope of unflavored gelatine to fruit juice, vegetable juice, bouillon, or non-fat dry milk and stir well. Unflavored gelatine is pure food protein, and the envelope amount contains only 28 calories.

Week's Food Economies

Summer meals are a joy to plan and a pleasure to eat because of the choice of fresh fruits and vegetables available to you. It takes only a little imagination and planning to vary menus, whether they are served indoors or outdoors, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Fresh fruits are tempting as you shop for food. The best buys are peaches, cantaloupe and watermelon. Excellent quality Eastern Shore cantaloupes are reaching the markets. Some watermelons from the Eastern Shore are arriving but the bulk of the supply is from the Carolinas. In any melon, sweetness, desirable flavor and fine-textured flesh are the factors necessary to make high quality. These are present only in well-matured ripe melons.

Peaches are in plentiful supply. Most of the varieties are freestone, and quality has been very good on this year's crop. Due to their highly perishable nature, peaches are most frequently picked in a mature-hard stage for long distance shipment. If mature, these peaches will ripen satisfactorily. Soft peaches should be avoided unless they are for immediate use.

Other small fruits with moderate to high price tags include Thompson seedless grapes, bing cherries, blueberries, plums, nectarines and Bartlett pears.

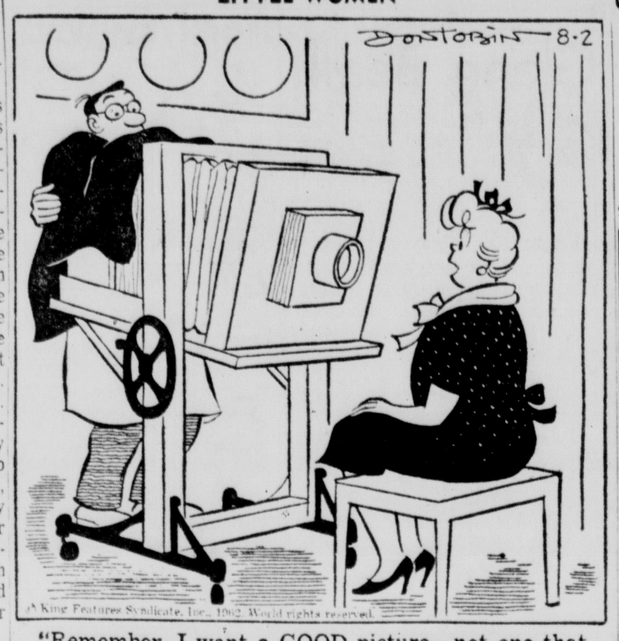
Summer apples are attractively priced.

The flavor of fresh vegetables makes meal planning easier. The best buys are found in sweet corn and tomatoes. The supply of sweet corn from Maryland farms is heavy. Eat corn on the cob frequently.

Tomatoes from Maryland farms are being marketed in volume and prices are lower. In selecting tomatoes look for firm fruit with a good red color. Make your selection of blemish-free tomatoes and ripen the slightly green ones at room temperature. Other vegetables on the list of best buys includes lima beans, cabbage and green beans. Green peppers are attractively priced. Egg prices are low. Suggested are Grade A medium and small sizes. Seafood suggestions are crab meat, porgies and butterfish. Watch for cured pork and red meat specials.

The king cobra is regarded as one of the most dangerous of all snakes. It lives in the Indo-Malayan area. Its main food is other snakes.

LITTLE WOMEN



"Remember, I want a GOOD picture—not one that looks like me."

"His trouble is he has an inferiority complex—the worthless, no-good bum."

Chilly Soup

Cold soup provides a delicious first course for the summertime menu. Convenient canned soups come to the table on their own, or combined with other foods for added zest. Try, for instance, a combination of cold black bean soup, evaporated milk, and sherry; tomato soup mixed with minced garlic, diced cucumbers and minced onions; pea soup and beef broth garnished with croutons; cream of asparagus soup, cream of mushroom soup and canned sliced mushrooms. The year round, canned soups offer maximum flavor, quality, and economy.

Yes, We Have Some Bananas

Youngsters love delicious Chocolate Banana Freezi-Pops: Cut 6 ripe bananas in half crosswise and insert a stick into the end of each. Place in shallow pan and freeze for 3 hours. Melt one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot water; spread melted chocolate with spatula over bananas. (Chocolate hardens immediately.) Wrap each chocolate banana in aluminum foil and store in freezer.

Barbecue Hint

For nice even browning of barbecued meats, brush with Spanish olive oil before and during grilling. Olive oil clings to the meat better than other cooking oils and a little goes a long way.

Cherry Compote

(Makes about 4 servings)

1 pound fresh sweet cherries (about 2½ cups)
½ cup California Rose wine
½ cup sugar
1 (3-inch) stick cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon salt
Few drops almond extract

Rinse cherries and remove pits. Combine wine, sugar, cinnamon and salt in saucepan, and heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add cherries and simmer about 15 minutes, until tender. Remove from heat and stir in almond extract. Remove cinnamon stick. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Tabasco Cocktail Sauce

1⅓ cups catchup
⅔ cup chil sauce
½ teaspoon Tabasco
4 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons horseradish
4 tablespoons capers, optional

Combine all ingredients. Chill. Serve with cherry stone clams. Yield: Approximately 2½ cups.

your suds need the added cleaning power of CLOROX®

Weak bleaches simply can't do the job!

A man has a right to grumble when his "clean" shirts have dirty-looking neck-rings. Detergents can't get out all this oily body dirt without tiresome hand-scrubbing. Weak bleaches won't do the job, either. But Clorox bleach gives your suds the added cleaning power they need to remove this stubborn dirt. For a cleaner family wash, add Clorox every time!

Salad Time Here Again

Salad time is here again!

Most people—especially the men in your family—will agree that the most important part of the salad is the dressing. One of the most popular dressings, and one that has particular appeal to hearty male appetites, is made with tangy American blue cheese.

Blue cheese dressings are easy to make, and they transform an ordinary salad into a real taste treat. American blue cheese, which is made from pure cow's milk right in the heart of our rich dairyland, is available in supermarkets and other stores that sell cheese.

SUMMERTIME DRESSING

½ cup crumbled American blue cheese
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
8 ounces sour cream
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce

Blend blue cheese and mayonnaise until it is almost smooth. Add sour cream and worcestershire sauce. Stir well. Additional crumbled blue cheese can be used as a garniture, if desired.

Refreshing

Orange milk punch provides nourishment as well as refreshment for thirsty youngsters. Stir 2-3rds cup of instant nonfat dry milk into 4½ cups of chilled orange juice. Shake well. Garnish with orange slices. Serves 4.

Wife Preservers

If the throat of your vase is too wide to hold cut flowers as desired, try arranging them in a narrow-necked glass of water set inside vase. Foliage and flowers will make it unnoticeable.

Your gas range will stay cleaner, longer, if you hang its own scrub-brush nearby. Get one with stiff bristles, to scrub dirt and food drippings off the burners.

CITRUS TEA PUNCH

A simple to prepare punch for patio parties and picnics.

Pour 3 cups boiling water over 6 Tea Bags; brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags and allow to cool. Add 1½ cups orange juice and 2 cups lemonade. Chill. To serve, pour over ice cubes and garnish with orange and lemon slices. Makes 1½ quarts.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

BETTER AT TALKING THAN AT "DOING" — Apropos of President Kennedy's campaign "pledge" to "Get this country moving!" it has been pointed out that the country is indeed moving"! More people are moving into the unemployment lines every day, some 744,000 more in June than in the preceding month. The steel industry already has moved downward to less than half of its productive capacity. Businesses are moving abroad, away from intolerable Government attacks on free enterprise and old-fashioned economics. Farmers are moving off the farms at a record rate as foreclosures mount. Small businesses are moving in court that they be declared bankrupt. New private housing construction is moving down at the rate of 11% a month, even after allowing for seasonal trends. The outlook for our national economy is moving downward toward "recession and stagnation", according to no less an authority than Professor Paul A. Samuelson, White House adviser, in an article written for a British publication. By the same authority, the United States is moving toward record-breaking annual deficits of $12,000,000,000 or more. The Communists have already moved into Laos, without Administration's blessing! And Castro the Communist has moved into a stronger position in Cuba, at our very doorstep, thanks to foolish high-level planning by the U. S. Government! We are indeed moving — in the wrong direction!

Perhaps the expression, "Get this country moving!" just slipped out — like the expression about the ancestry of all businessmen, or the more recent expression about "sailing along" with one party or "anchoring" with the other. These off-the-cuff epigrams demonstrate a talent for the quick come-back, the smart retort. Sadly we have observed a demonstration of clever slogan-making accompanied by utter inability to take action which would benefit our nation's economy — and, therefore, our nation and our people.

(By the way, someone asks, "Isn't it better to 'anchor' until needed repairs to the Ship of State are completed than to 'sail along' in a leaky sloop and sink?")

"BUSINESS" IS MILLIONS OF LITTLE PEOPLE — Calling for understanding and cooperation between Government and Business, Mr. Roger M. Blough, Chairman of the Board, U. S. Steel Corporation, had this to say:

"We in business are prone to criticize government, but, in my view, action by both in a cooperative spirit is the only feasible answer. Business cannot afford to think of those in government as Machiavellian overlords whose prime purpose in life is to push business around. I do not think this is the case, nor do I think we can let ourselves fall into the critical state of mind that that kind of thinking generates. On the other hand, it will do no good for anyone to think in terms of business as a pawn to be shunted hither and yon at Executive or Legislative whim. Business, after all, is nothing but millions and millions of people, organized into relatively small groups to achieve better production. And thinking of business in this way should remove much of the desire to do that kind of shunting."

SURE! LET WASHINGTON PAY IT!—One sometimes hears on the TV an ignorant or Left-wing commentator or panelist say or imply that the Federal government should pay for this or that. In such discussions, there seems to be lack of awareness that the Federal government is dead broke and heavily in debt. There has grown up the false belief that the Federal government can afford what State and local governments cannot afford because at the Federal level we are presumed to be spending someone else's money. The Federal government, of course, derives its funds from the same taxpayers that pay the State and local taxes. What's more, the Federal government gobbles up most of the tax money in extravagant administration and waste. Money collected and spent at the local level, without making that expensive round trip to Washington, goes much further.

GOVERNMENT GROWING BIGGER AND MORE OPPRESSIVE—Civilian employees of the Federal government totaled 2,416,864 last year, and the total, instead of being decreased, is being increased by 75,000 to 100,000 a year.

The Federal government owns 767,750,000 acres of land, about 1 out of every 3 acres in the country. In one State, Nevada, the Federal government owns 85% of all land. It owns 421,360 buildings with a total floor space of some 2,500,000,000 square feet. It leases an additional 96,000,000 square feet of building space.

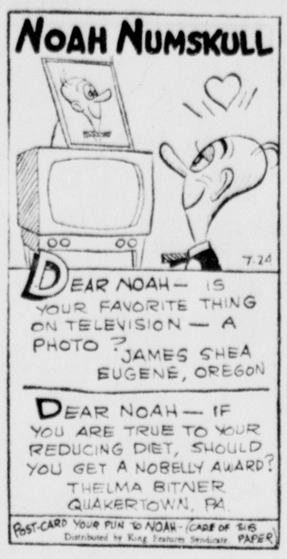
Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, appearing before a Congressional committee, testified that "all sorts of money" could be saved if the Government would get rid of the deadwood on its payrolls. He said that 10% of the people in his Department "are doing jobs started 40 years ago which just aren't needed." But before anything could be done about overhauling the Government's featherbedded payroll, along came the Administration's budget for the new fiscal year and in it was the request for funds for more jobs in every Department and agency, including the Department of Commerce. Secretary Hodges had asked, not for 10% fewer employes, but for 7.5% more. Postmaster General Day had asked for 15,000 more employees. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman wanted 5,400 more employees in his Department. Secretary of Interior Udall had asked for 5,400 more. And so it went. As the Government grows, it imposes more regulations, enters into additional areas of our daily lives, restricting still more of our personal freedom of choice and exercising additional dangerous influences on all segments of our economy.

One of the monstrosities of the Government, and the most oppressive, is the "regulatory" agency. We like to think of our Government as having three branches, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, but actually we have a fourth branch, the regulatory agencies which cannot be classified properly as belonging exclusively to any one of the three branches because they first promulgate regulations which have the force and effect of law, then enforce them, and later adjudicate them. They are indeed unique in that they act as lawmaker, enforcer, prosecuting attorney, judge, jury, and 'executioner. They are the 60 independent agencies, with 400,000 employees and a total annual budget of around $10,000,000,000. We as individuals and as a business community have arrived at the point where the eye of some almighty agency is upon us when we buy or sell, ship or receive, hire or fire, grow or manufacture, save or spend, drink or diet, profit or lose, talk or listen.

We see the erosion of individual liberties and the increasing substitution of bureaucratic planning for individual decisions. Individual initiative must not be completely swamped by government edict. We must do what we can to prevent the government from getting bigger. We must ask ourselves how much regulation of our private affairs can we undergo without relinquishing our oldest concepts about a free society and the principles on which our beloved U. S. A. was founded.

"THIS IS MY OWN, MY NATIVE LAND"—When I hear a sophomoric discussion of patriotism or the questioning of basic American principles, my thoughts are inclined to turn to the words of Sir Walter Scott, penned more than a century ago:

Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burn'd,
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd
From wandering on a foreign strand!
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no Minstrel raptures swell.
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim



now it's Pepsi
for those who think young

There's a sunny new outlook across the land—a modern enthusiasm for getting outdoors, getting more out of life. It's a happy attitude that all ages share. Call it thinking young. This is the life for Pepsi—light, bracing, clean-tasting Pepsi. So think young. In stores, buy an extra carton. At fountains, say "Pepsi, please!"

REAL BREAD

THE BEST-EVER SANDWICHES ARE MADE WITH REAL BREAD—BUMPER BREAD!

First complete reports of nationwide tests comparing new-process Heinz Baby Foods with those of Heinz major competitor show Heinz preferred 4 to 1 for first variety tested, 2½ to 1 for the second!

IN THESE IMPARTIAL TESTS, over 500 new mothers from all parts of the United States are comparing typical varieties of the new quick-cooked Heinz Baby Foods with the same varieties as prepared by Heinz major competitor.

• To assure complete fairness and impartiality, all brand identification is removed from the jars before judging.

• Results prove a 4-to-1 preference for Heinz Strained Vegetables and Beef over the other brand, and a 2½-to-1 preference for Heinz Strained Macaroni, Tomatoes, Beef and Bacon over the other brand—for taste, texture and color!

• By their votes for Heinz Baby Foods these mothers are confirming the fact that Heinz new quick-cooking process (U.S. Patent No. 2,967,773) definitely produces baby foods that taste better, are brighter, more natural in color, and smoother in texture!

• The process responsible for these new, superior baby foods is based on something every mother knows—that the quicker you cook foods, the more of their fresh, natural flavor, color and food values you retain. Heinz new process carries this a giant step forward by cooking baby foods in 3 to 5 seconds, instead of the usual 25 to 30 minutes. Imagine what a difference this super-quick cooking makes!

• Laboratory tests of Heinz Chicken Noodle Dinner show it not only has better flavor, color and texture, but contains 45% more vitamin B₁ (thiamine), 61% more vitamin B₂ (riboflavin), and 31% more niacin than when this same variety is kettle-cooked the conventional way!

• Both Strained and Junior Heinz Baby Foods are being cooked by the new Heinz process, and most varieties are already available at your food store. You will recognize them by the new easy-serve Heinz Baby Food jar shown at right.

• There is no increase in price for these new, superior Heinz Baby Foods, so start your baby on them right away. The good they do your baby now will last a lifetime!

• New easy-serve jar is lower, wider, lets you spoon out the last tasty bit more easily.

• New easy-read label shows the variety name in bigger type, so you can shop faster . . . save time.

• Easy-open, safety sealed screw-on cap of aluminum has a colorful new look, can't tarnish, or taint baby's food.

Weighty Question

Unflavored gelatine comes to the aid of the dieter by providing a "protein pick-up" between meals. When you feel hungry or before each meal, add an envelope of unflavored gelatine to fruit juice, vegetable juice, bouillon, or non-fat dry milk and stir well. Unflavored gelatine is pure food protein, and the envelope amount contains only 28 calories.

Week's Food Economies

Summer meals are a joy to plan and a pleasure to eat because of the choice of fresh fruits and vegetables available to you. It takes only a little imagination and planning to vary menus, whether they are served indoors or outdoors, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Fresh fruits are tempting as you shop for food. The best buys are peaches, cantaloupe and watermelon. Excellent quality Eastern Shore cantaloupes are reaching the markets. Some watermelons from the Eastern Shore are arriving but the bulk of the supply is from the Carolinas. In any melon, sweetness, desirable flavor and fine-textured flesh are the factors necessary to make high quality. These are present only in well-matured ripe melons.

Peaches are in plentiful supply. Most of the varieties are freestone, and quality has been very good on this year's crop. Due to their highly perishable nature, peaches are most frequently picked in a mature-hard stage for long distance shipment. If mature, these peaches will ripen satisfactorily. Soft peaches should be avoided unless they are for immediate use.

Other small fruits with moderate to high price tags include Thompson seedless grapes, bing cherries, blueberries, plums, nectarines and Bartlett pears.

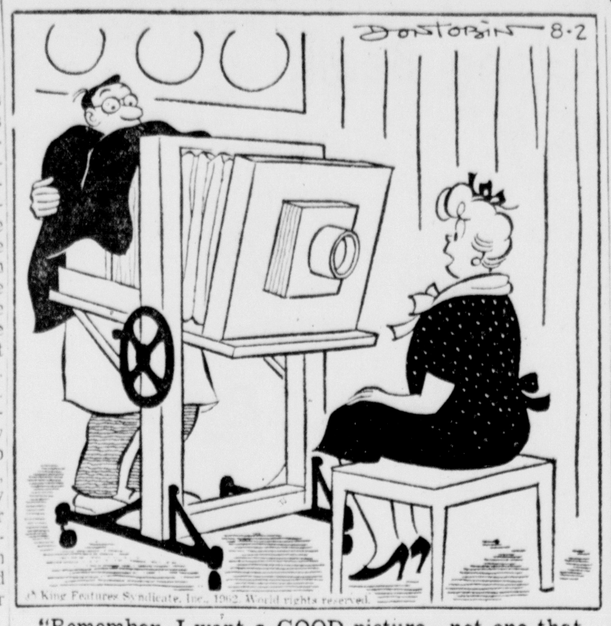
Summer apples are attractively priced.

The flavor of fresh vegetables makes meal planning easier. The best buys are found in sweet corn and tomatoes. The supply of sweet corn from Maryland farms is heavy. Eat corn on the cob frequently.

Tomatoes from Maryland farms are being marketed in volume and prices are lower. In selecting tomatoes look for firm fruit with a good red color. Make your selection of blemish-free tomatoes and ripen the slightly green ones at room temperature. Other vegetables on the list of best buys includes lima beans, cabbage and green beans. Green peppers are attractively priced. Egg prices are low. Suggested are Grade A medium and small sizes. Seafood suggestions are crab meat, porgies and butterfish. Watch for cured pork and red meat specials.

The king cobra is regarded as one of the most dangerous of all snakes. It lives in the Indo-Malayan area. Its main food is other snakes.

LITTLE WOMEN



"Remember, I want a GOOD picture—not one that looks like me."

"His trouble is he has an inferiority complex—the worthless, no-good bum."

Cherry Compote

(Makes about 4 servings)
1 pound fresh sweet cherries (about 2½ cups)
½ cup California Rose wine
½ cup sugar
1 (3-inch) stick cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon salt
Few drops almond extract

Rinse cherries and remove pits. Combine wine, sugar, cinnamon and salt in saucepan, and heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add cherries and simmer about 15 minutes, until tender. Remove from heat and stir in almond extract. Remove cinnamon stick. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Tabasco Cocktail Sauce

1⅓ cups catchup
⅔ cup chil sauce
½ teaspoon Tabasco
4 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tablespoons horseradish
4 tablespoons capers, optional

Chilly Soup

Cold soup provides a delicious first course for the summertime menu. Convenient canned soups come to the table on their own, or combined with other foods for added zest. Try, for instance, a combination of cold black bean soup, evaporated milk, and sherry; tomato soup mixed with minced garlic, diced cucumbers and minced onions; pea soup and beef broth garnished with croutons; cream of asparagus soup, cream of mushroom soup and canned sliced mushrooms. The year round, canned soups offer maximum flavor, quality, and economy.

Yes, We Have Some Bananas

Youngsters love delicious Chocolate Banana Freezi-Pops: Cut 6 ripe bananas in half crosswise and insert a stick into the end of each. Place in shallow pan and freeze for 3 hours. Melt one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot water; spread melted chocolate with spatula over bananas. (Chocolate hardens immediately.) Wrap each chocolate banana in aluminum foil and store in freezer.

Barbecue Hint

For nice even browning of barbecued meats, brush with Spanish olive oil before and during grilling. Olive oil clings to the meat better than other cooking oils and a little goes a long way.

your suds need the added cleaning power of CLOROX®

Weak bleaches simply can't do the job!

YOU CAN ENJOY AN "ADVENTURE IN SPACE" FOR AS LITTLE AS $1.05

Don't get us wrong. They haven't put a price on rocket trip tickets yet. We are talking about newspaper space . . . the kind of space that works so well to deliver your message when you use a Want Ad.

We call it an adventure because so many first time Want Ad users have been so pleasantly surprised at the way people respond to their ads. A little three line ad doesn't look like much but thousands of people will read it.

Next time you have a need to sell something, find something, hire someone or rent something, remember the Want Ads. Take an adventure in space, space buying, that is. Buy three lines in the Times-News Want Ad pages and see how profitable your adventure can be.

The $1.05 we mentioned is the price of a 15-word ad for one day, morning and evening on a week-day or Sunday Times only on a Sunday; paid for in advance at our office or mailed to us with payment in advance.

To place your ad, or obtain further information without obligation, dial the Want Ad number, 722-4600. The minimum cost of an ad if we charge it to you is only $1.50.

Thalidomide Not Used At WV Medical Center

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Two doctors at the West Virginia University Medical Center said the baby - deforming drug, thalidomide, had not been used at that facility and another doctor in Charleston said he objected to the use of the term "tranquilizer" to describe the drug.

Dr. Nicholas W. Fugo, chairman of the Center's obstetrics department, said Wednesday the drug had been received at the Morgantown facility.

"We stick to proven agents, those licensed by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration," Fugo said.

Dr. Daniel T. Watts, chairman of Center's pharmacology department, said he had picked up information on the drug last May "and used it as an example to my class as a ridiculous use of an unknown and untried drug."

Watts said that sometimes new drugs are used after it's determined that the benefit is greater than the risk. However, he added that the "risk ratio on this was very high."

Speaking for the Kanawha Medical society, Dr. George Grubb, chairman of the society's public relations office, said thalidomide is a sedative and should not be referred to as a tranquilizer. He said that such a label on the drug is "a misnomer."

Revercomb Said Candidate For W. Va. Judge

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Charleston Daily Mail said Wednesday that former U.S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of Charleston "is the most probable choice" of Republicans to run for judge of the State Supreme Court.

The newspaper said Revercomb is not actively seeking the nomination but that he would accept it if Republican leaders want him to run.

The Republican State Convention will be held at the Charleston Civic Center Saturday, principally to select a nominee for the Nov. 6 general election.

The vacancy on the court occurred last May 11 with the death of Judge Leslie E. Given, Charleston.

Named to an interim court appointment by Gov. W. W. Barron was Public Service Commission chairman Fred Caplan of Clarksburg and Charleston. Caplan is expected to be the choice of Democratic delegates during their State Convention here Aug. 11.

Moose Women Hold Event

PIEDMONT — Piedmont Chapter 925, Women of the Moose, held its College Regents meeting Tuesday evening at the Moose Home, Lyons Street. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanhagan, college chairman, was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Stanhagan received her degree in June at the House of God, Mooseheart, Ill. Mrs. Marion Daniels, college member and former deputy grand regent, gave the address of welcome. Mrs. Marie Shank, Keyser, a college member gave the response.

Ritualistic work was done by the following chapters: Moorefield, Keyser and Piedmont. A candidate, Mrs. Judith Carder, was taken into the defending circle.

Mrs. Stanhagan presented gifts to ten college members. Gifts were also presented to Mrs. Stanhagan and Mrs. Daniels, the first member of the chapter to receive the call letter to become a member of the college of regents.

The hall was decorated with flowers and the college colors black and gold. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Stanhagan presented a beautifully decorated cake to the chapter. Some 34 members attended the meeting.

Shaft Changes Collection Dates

FROSTBURG—It has been announced by the Shaft Water Company that the monthly water collection dates have been changed. In the past customers paid at any time during the month at the home of Mrs. Della Wade.

Effective this month, payments are to be made only the first ten days of the month in order to relieve the collector of the responsibility of having to keep office hours for the entire month.

Death Of Widow

LONDON (UPI) — Mme. Nuri As-Said, widow of the pro-western Iraqi prime minister assassinated during the revolt against King Faisal II four years ago, died on Monday at her home here, it was disclosed Wednesday. Mme. Nuri was in London when Maj. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem carried out the coup and remained here since. King Faisal was slain during the revolt.

Gas Training Class Set

FROSTBURG — The Maryland Bureau of Mines will begin a class in gas training at Frostburg State Teachers College next Monday for men who are working towards their mine foreman certificates.

This training will continue for a week under the direction of Harry Jones and Noah Close of the Federal Bureau of Mines and Harry Buckley, James Close and Thomas Powell, Maryland District Mine Inspectors. Under State law, a man applying for a mine foremans license must pass an examination which covers gas training, detection and safety lamps as well as timbering, explosives, map reading, ventilation and drainage. After the week's training an examination for the certificates will be held on Auguts 16 and 17. All instruction and examinations will be given in the science hall at the College.

Bedford Fair To Feature Many New Innovations

BEDFORD — Boasting a completely "new look," which includes such innovations as a free grandstand stage revue and harness racing, the Great Bedford Fair will attract thousands through its gates August 6 and continuing day and night through Aust 11.

Monday night will feature Jack Kochman's Auto Thrill Show, a one-night attraction. Wednesday afternoon, Dan Fleenor's Hurricane Hell Drivers will present 28 stunt events.

Starting Tuesday evening the stage revue, "Stars of Tomorrow," will be presented daily at 8:30 p.m. in front of the grandstand, supplemented by vaudeville and circus acts. Each gate admission ticket will have with it a special stub, entitling the bearer to free grandstand admission.

"We believe that this will greatly stimulate attendance at the Bedford Fair," stated R. Richard Eichelberger, president of the Fair Association, "and it should make it possible for many more people, especially those with large families, to enjoy our fine grandstand night show."

Harness racing, a traditional favorite at the fair, will be presented at a new hour, starting at 5 p.m. August 7, Thursday and Friday, in order to make it possible for more people to enjoy the races. Again, grandstand admission will be included with the general admission ticket. The fair management explained that the change was made because many working people who enjoy the harness races were unable to get away in time to see them under the previous early afternoon schedule.

As another innovation cash prizes await those who can successfully name the winners of the six harness race events each evening during the three-day meet. Someone will win no less than $375, and it is possible to win up to $750 with nothing to buy and no obligation.

Among other "new look" features at the Bedford Fair are:

Twist contest open to all comers with trophies and awards. Preliminaries will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with the twist final Saturday evening.

Helicopter rides from the fairgrounds so that fairgoers who wish can see Bedford from the air as a novelty.

A new milking barn operating under sanitary conditions. Fair visitors can watch a modern milking, and see how milk is placed in sanitary coolers.

At the same time many of the old favorite features of the fair are retained.

Free children's days are once again scheduled for Tuesday and Friday with a grandstand show for youngsters and their parents.

The fair program, once again, will come to a smashing climax with sprint car auto races, starting with time trials at 1 p.m. August 11. Five races featuring well known drivers are scheduled.

Headed by the livestock exhibits, the agricultural exposition promises to be one of the best ever, with a large list of prominent exhibitors in all fields. Judging starts August 6 with the Junior Dairy Show and will continue through Wednesday. Four-H and FFA tractor driving contests will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday, while the cavalcade of livestock and machinery, and awarding of trophies will be in front of the grandstand at 8 p.m. Thursday. The baby beef sale will be held Friday morning.

On the midway will be one of the leading carnivals of the Eastern United States, the great Amusements of America with 25 rides and 20 shows.

Revision Of Pay Plan May Affect 4,000 In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Civil Service Commission hopes to announce Aug. 13 its revised pay scales and job specifications for the nearly 4,000 employes covered in West Virginia.

Director E. B. Van Horn said Tuesday the intervening period would be used by the commission to study and implement recent suggestions from the Federal Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW).

The HEW proposal called for consolidating 600-700 job classifications into 300 in order to provide more uniform pay and status scales within the system.

Van Horn said the procedure will trim bookkeeping and give employes a clearer picture of their standing in civil service.

The overriding consideration in revising the set-up, Van Horn emphasized, was to insure that no employe will suffer any loss of wages or status. In many cases, he said, the reverse will be true.

City Said Linked To Underworld

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—James C. Boyd, who resigned as city manager, hinted in a farewell report to City Council Tuesday night an "underworld character" may be the city government's power behind the scenes.

Boyd, who resigned after 31 months in office, hinted that "a reputed top underworld character" had asked him to "compromise" so that Wheeling could progress.

Boyd said "a friend" told him last September that he "should compromise."

"I told him I had compromised, but then he indicated that he had certain underworld connections and that if I compromised in his way the city would make progress and go forward," Boyd said.

In discussing the operation of Wheeling's Bureau of Police, he said an investigation showed that the men are "the victims of a system." Boyd added that the bureau, "has been in trouble for years" because the citizens of Wheeling simply do not want to abide by the law.

Boyd said a recent arrest in Columbus, Ohio, which he disclosed to council last Tuesday when he submitted his resignation, might have been a frame. He said he was arrested and fined two weeks ago while he was in Columbus looking for a new police chief for Wheeling. Boyd was charged with being drunk and resisting arrest.

"It is no secret that I partake of alcoholic beverages — some times in excess," he said. However, he said he doubted the amount of alcohol he had consumed at the time "put me in the condition that I found myself later on."

Women Of Moose Plan Dinner

PIEDMONT — Piedmont Chapter, 925, Women of the Moose, will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, at 8 p. m. at the Moose Home.

Enrollment will be held and a covered dish supper will follow.

The chapter will hold a bake sale August 9 in the Upper Potomac T. V. sales room on Ashfield Street, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

Auxiliary To Meet

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Dela Wade, vice president of the auxiliary of the Shaft Fire Company, announced there will be a special meeting of the group next August 7 at 7:30 p. m. in the fire hall to make plans for some fall activities.

Keyser Hotel Under New Management

KEYSER—The Corwin Hotel is under new management, beginning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Selby Jacobs, Headsville, have leased and will operate the hotel.

The present manager, Mrs. Nellie L. Casteel, 70 East Piedmont Street, is retiring. She and her husband, Ralph E. Casteel, have managed the Corwin since 1938. Casteel, however, retired in 1957 and his wife assumed his duties.

The Jacobs leased the 30-room hotel from J. Paul Blundon and George Arnold.

Jacobs stated that he and his wife plan to retain the present staff of employes. In addition, he said, the lobby and dining room will be redecorated and the dining room will be used as a TV room and for meetings and receptions. A newsstand will also be added to the lobby.

Although the actual construction date and the name of the builder was unavailable, Mrs. Casteel remembered that Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mugler ran the then Reynolds Hotel in 1917. She added that Harry Stover, who later managed the hotel, changed the name to Corwin about 1927.

A native of Cumberland Mrs. Casteel came to Keyser in 1917 and was employed by Western Union. Her husband joined her here two years later at the close of World War I and worked for the B&O. He also is a native of Cumberland.

Mt. Savage Personals

YOU CAN ENJOY AN "ADVENTURE IN SPACE" FOR AS LITTLE AS $1.05

Don't get us wrong. They haven't put a price on rocket trip tickets yet. We are talking about newspaper space . . . the kind of space that works so well to deliver your message when you use a Want Ad.

We call it an adventure because so many first time Want Ad users have been so pleasantly surprised at the way people respond to their ads. A little three line ad doesn't look like much but thousands of people will read it.

Next time you have a need to sell something, find something, hire someone or rent something, remember the Want Ads. Take an adventure in space, space buying, that is. Buy three lines in the Times-News Want Ad pages and see how profitable your adventure can be.

The $1.05 we mentioned is the price of a 15-word ad for one day, morning and evening on a week-day or Sunday Times only on a Sunday; paid for in advance at our office or mailed to us with payment in advance.

To place your ad, or obtain further information without obligation, dial the Want Ad number, 722-4600. The minimum cost of an ad if we charge it to you is only $1.50.

Thalidomide Not Used At WV Medical Center

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Two doctors at the West Virginia University Medical Center said the baby - deforming drug, thalidomide, had not been used at that facility and another doctor in Charleston said he objected to the use of the term "tranquilizer" to describe the drug.

Dr. Nicholas W. Fugo, chairman of the Center's obstetrics department, said Wednesday the drug had been received at the Morgantown facility.

"We stick to proven agents, those licensed by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration," Fugo said.

Dr. Daniel T. Watts, chairman of Center's pharmacology department, said he had picked up information on the drug last May "and used it as an example to my class as a ridiculous use of an unknown and untried drug."

Watts said that sometimes new drugs are used after it's determined that the benefit is greater than the risk. However, he added that the "risk ratio on this was very high."

Speaking for the Kanawha Medical society, Dr. George Grubb, chairman of the society's public relations office, said thalidomide is a sedative and should not be referred to as a tranquilizer. He said that such a label on the drug is "a misnomer."

Revercomb Said Candidate For W. Va. Judge

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Charleston Daily Mail said Wednesday that former U.S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of Charleston "is the most probable choice" of Republicans to run for judge of the State Supreme Court.

The newspaper said Revercomb is not actively seeking the nomination but that he would accept it if Republican leaders want him to run.

The Republican State Convention will be held at the Charleston Civic Center Saturday, principally to select a nominee for the Nov. 6 general election.

The vacancy on the court occurred last May 11 with the death of Judge Leslie E. Given, Charleston.

Named to an interim court appointment by Gov. W. W. Barron was Public Service Commission chairman Fred Caplan of Clarksburg and Charleston. Caplan is expected to be the choice of Democratic delegates during their State Convention here Aug. 11.

Moose Women Hold Event

PIEDMONT — Piedmont Chapter 925, Women of the Moose, held its College Regents meeting Tuesday evening at the Moose Home, Lyons Street. Mrs. Elizabeth Stanhagan, college chairman, was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Stanhagan received her degree in June at the House of God, Mooseheart, Ill. Mrs. Marion Daniels, college member and former deputy grand regent, gave the address of welcome. Mrs. Marie Shank, Keyser, a college member gave the response.

Ritualistic work was done by the following chapters: Moorefield, Keyser and Piedmont. A candidate, Mrs. Judith Carder, was taken into the defending circle.

Mrs. Stanhagan presented gifts to ten college members. Gifts were also presented to Mrs. Stanhagan and Mrs. Daniels, the first member of the chapter to receive the call letter to become a member of the college of regents.

The hall was decorated with flowers and the college colors black and gold. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Stanhagan presented a beautifully decorated cake to the chapter. Some 34 members attended the meeting.

Shaft Changes Collection Dates

FROSTBURG—It has been announced by the Shaft Water Company that the monthly water collection dates have been changed. In the past customers paid at any time during the month at the home of Mrs. Della Wade.

Effective this month, payments are to be made only the first ten days of the month in order to relieve the collector of the responsibility of having to keep office hours for the entire month.

Death Of Widow

LONDON (UPI) — Mme. Nuri As-Said, widow of the pro-western Iraqi prime minister assassinated during the revolt against King Faisal II four years ago, died on Monday at her home here, it was disclosed Wednesday. Mme. Nuri was in London when Maj. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem carried out the coup and remained here since. King Faisal was slain during the revolt.

Gas Training Class Set

FROSTBURG — The Maryland Bureau of Mines will begin a class in gas training at Frostburg State Teachers College next Monday for men who are working towards their mine foreman certificates.

This training will continue for a week under the direction of Harry Jones and Noah Close of the Federal Bureau of Mines and Harry Buckley, James Close and Thomas Powell, Maryland District Mine Inspectors. Under State law, a man applying for a mine foremans license must pass an examination which covers gas training, detection and safety lamps as well as timbering, explosives, map reading, ventilation and drainage. After the week's training an examination for the certificates will be held on Auguts 16 and 17. All instruction and examinations will be given in the science hall at the College.

Bedford Fair To Feature Many New Innovations

BEDFORD — Boasting a completely "new look," which includes such innovations as a free grandstand stage revue and harness racing, the Great Bedford Fair will attract thousands through its gates August 6 and continuing day and night through Auust 11.

Monday night will feature Jack Kochman's Auto Thrill Show, a one-night attraction. Wednesday afternoon, Dan Fleenor's Hurricane Hell Drivers will present 28 stunt events.

Starting Tuesday evening the stage revue, "Stars of Tomorrow," will be presented daily at 8:30 p.m. in front of the grandstand, supplemented by vaudeville and circus acts. Each gate admission ticket will have with it a special stub, entitling the bearer to free grandstand admission.

"We believe that this will greatly stimulate attendance at the Bedford Fair," stated R. Richard Eichelberger, president of the Fair Association, "and it should make it possible for many more people, especially those with large families, to enjoy our fine grandstand night show."

Harness racing, a traditional favorite at the fair, will be presented at a new hour, starting at 5 p.m. August 7, Thursday and Friday, in order to make it possible for more people to enjoy the races. Again, grandstand admission will be included with the general admission ticket. The fair management explained that the change was made because many working people who enjoy the harness races were unable to get away in time to see them under the previous early afternoon schedule.

As another innovation cash prizes await those who can successfully name the winners of the six harness race events each evening during the three-day meet. Someone will win no less than $375, and it is possible to win up to $750 with nothing to buy and no obligation.

Among other "new look" features at the Bedford Fair are:

Twist contest open to all comers with trophies and awards. Preliminaries will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday with the twist final Saturday evening.

Helicopter rides from the fairgrounds so that fairgoers who wish can see Bedford from the air as a novelty.

A new milking barn operating under sanitary conditions. Fair visitors can watch a modern milking, and see how milk is placed in sanitary coolers.

At the same time many of the old favorite features of the fair are retained.

Free children's days are once again scheduled for Tuesday and Friday with a grandstand show for youngsters and their parents.

The fair program, once again, will come to a smashing climax with sprint car auto races, starting with time trials at 1 p.m. August 11. Five races featuring well known drivers are scheduled.

Headed by the livestock exhibits, the agricultural exposition promises to be one of the best ever, with a large list of prominent exhibitors in all fields. Judging starts August 6 with the Junior Dairy Show and will continue through Wednesday. Four-H and FFA tractor driving contests will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday, while the cavalcade of livestock and machinery, and awarding of trophies will be in front of the grandstand at 8 p.m. Thursday. The baby beef sale will be held Friday morning.

On the midway will be one of the leading carnivals of the Eastern United States, the great Amusements of America with 25 rides and 20 shows.

Revision Of Pay Plan May Affect 4,000 In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Civil Service Commission hopes to announce Aug. 13 its revised pay scales and job specifications for the nearly 4,000 employes covered in West Virginia.

Director E. B. Van Horn said Tuesday the intervening period would be used by the commission to study and implement recent suggestions from the Federal Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW).

The HEW proposal called for consolidating 600-700 job classifications into 300 in order to provide more uniform pay and status scales within the system.

Van Horn said the procedure will trim bookkeeping and give employes a clearer picture of their standing in civil service.

The overriding consideration in revising the set-up, Van Horn emphasized, was to insure that no employe will suffer any loss of wages or status. In many cases, he said, the reverse will be true.

City Said Linked To Underworld

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—James C. Boyd, who resigned as city manager, hinted in a farewell report to City Council Tuesday night an "underworld character" may be the city government's power behind the scenes.

Boyd, who resigned after 31 months in office, hinted that "a reputed top underworld character" had asked him to "compromise" so that Wheeling could progress.

Boyd said "a friend" told him last September that he "should compromise."

"I told him I had compromised, but then he indicated that he had certain underworld connections and that if I compromised in his way the city would make progress and go forward," Boyd said.

In discussing the operation of Wheeling's Bureau of Police, he said an investigation showed that the men are "the victims of a system." Boyd added that the bureau, "has been in trouble for years" because the citizens of Wheeling simply do not want to abide by the law.

Boyd said a recent arrest in Columbus, Ohio, which he disclosed to council last Tuesday when he submitted his resignation, might have been a frame. He said he was arrested and fined two weeks ago while he was in Columbus looking for a new police chief for Wheeling. Boyd was charged with being drunk and resisting arrest.

"It is no secret that I partake of alcoholic beverages — some times in excess," he said. However, he said he doubted the amount of alcohol he had consumed at the time "put me in the condition that I found myself later on."

Keyser Hotel Under New Management

KEYSER—The Corwin Hotel is under new management, beginning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Selby Jacobs, Headsville, have leasod and will operate the hotel.

The present manager, Mrs. Nellie L. Casteel, 70 East Piedmont Street, is retiring. She and her husband, Ralph E. Casteel, have managed the Corwin since 1938. Casteel, however, retired in 1957 and his wife assumed his duties.

The Jacobs leased the 30-room hotel from J. Paul Blundon and George Arnold.

Jacobs stated that he and his wife plan to retain the present staff of employes. In addition, he said, the lobby and dining room will be redecorated and the dining room will be used as a TV room and for meetings and receptions. A newsstand will also be added to the lobby.

Although the actual construction date and the name of the builder was unavailable, Mrs. Casteel remembered that Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mugler ran the then Reynolds Hotel in 1917. She added that Harry Stover, who later managed the hotel, changed the name to Corwin about 1927.

A native of Cumberland Mrs. Casteel came to Keyser in 1917 and was employed by Western Union. Her husband joined her here two years later at the close of World War I and worked for the B&O. He also is a native of Cumberland.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

One of the questions that I am most frequently asked these days is, "When is Congress going to adjourn?" I always have to give the answer, "I wish I knew." It is a matter of great importance to me because I want to be getting about the 6th District—seeing many of my friends whom I have not seen because of the heavy pressure of work here in Washington and, of course, doing some campaigning in preparation for November. But regardless of when Congress adjourns, the steady progress of the seasons is going forward as it does every year. We are now reaching that period of the summer when gardens are producing their best —when farms are beginning to show the work of the spring and summer, when harvests are in sight and when, of course, our farm friends begin to display their produce at county fairs throughout Maryland.

Next week the first of the county fairs in the 6th Congressional District will be opened in Garrett County. The Garrett County Fair is held near the town of McHenry on the banks of Deep Creek Lake. It is one of the most beautiful settings for a fair that you can imagine and many of the summer visitors who go to Garrett County to enjoy the fishing, the swimming and the boating on Deep Creek Lake will also be welcomed at the Garrett County Fair. Although my work in Washington will keep me here through the week of August 6th, when the Fair begins, I am hopeful that I will be able to leave Washington early enough in Friday so that I can see the Fair that evening and visit again on Saturday.

For those of you who are unable to go as far west as Garrett County for its fair, the Washington County Fair will open the following week in Hagerstown. This is one of the traditionally great fairs of Maryland. It will begin August 13th and will continue through the week. I know that if you live near Hagerstown or if you can travel there you will enjoy the many fine exhibits which are always present at the Washington County Fair and you will enjoy the warm welcome in Hagerstown.

As our fair season progresses in the 6th Congressional District we will have a week of great importance, because there are two fairs during the week of August 20th. There is the Montgomery County Fair and the Allegany County Fair. The Montgomery County Fair is held near Gaithersburg and attracts one of the largest crowds of any county fair in Maryland. Of course, it is close to the Metropolitan area of Washington and people can very easily get to Gaithersburg on Interstate Route 70, a major dual highway north from Washington. At the Montgomery County Fair are displayed some of the finest dairy cattle — beef cattle and farm produce — produced anywhere in the world. It's always a joy to see what the fertile fields of Montgomery County produce each year.

Allegany County traditionally has its fair the same week and this year I am sure it will live up to its usual high standards. I am hopeful again that I can get away from Washington at some time during that week and that I will be able to visit both of these great fairs.

We have a fifth and final fair in the 6th Congressional District after a lapse of a month when the Frederick County Fair will hold its 100th Centennial Exhibition in Frederick during the week of September 24th. Because of the fact that this will be the 100th Frederick Fair, I am sure that the managers of the fair will make a special effort to put on one of the finest agricultural exhibits that has ever been seen.

I know that many of you will be going to the fairs, that you will be expressing your interest in our agricultural traditions and heritage again this year, and it is my hope that I will be able to see you there.

Pigeon Builds Nest In Electric Works

BALTIMORE (AP)—There's a pigeon family in the electric works, living in a nest made out of metal scraps.

The mother pigeon built the nest for its squab on the eighth floor of a generating station under construction. Its being built at nearby Bowleys Quarters by the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co.

The parent bird picked a corner underneath a walkway in the massive steel structure, devoid of green, as the family home.

"Quite remarkable," says Paul Chenowith, senior engineer in charge of the electric company's construction undertakings.

He said the noise of construction doesn't bother the birds. He promises crews will work around them if they don't leave the nest before it's time to paint the steel beams.

Chenowith said the birds are in a spot which is not hazardous, like some places in an electric plant are.

About 49 per cent of the total population of the United States were members of some church in 1940, compared to more than 59 per cent today.

Salisbury And Cumberland Open State Legion Tourney Today

College Park Site Of Games In 4-Day Test

Fort Cumberland In First State Tilt Since 1956

Competing in the Maryland Department American Legion junior baseball tournament for the first time since 1956, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 is scheduled to do battle with Wicomico Post of Salisbury today at 10 a.m., at College Park in a double elimination series in which four teams will vie during a four-day grind.

Cumberland hurdled Frederick in a best-of-three series here the past weekend to qualify for the state event. Francis Scott Key Post had knocked Post No. 13 out of the running four years in a row (1958-1961) and also derailed Midland Post from Allegany county in 1957.

Locals Own 7-1 Record

The local team headed by George Zegles, Donald Renotas and Bob Shelley goes into the state tourney with a 7-1 record. Fort Cumberland Post won the Mountain District League title with a 5-0 record and won two out of three games from Frederick.

Six years ago, Fort Cumberland was ushered out of the state tourney in two straight games, losing to Glenmar, of Baltimore county, 5-4, in a morning game at College Park, and to Sharptown, 6-2, in an afternoon contest staged at Taft Field, Washington, D. C. Glenmar whipped Sharptown for the title that year.

Fort Cumberland Post is appearing in the state tourney for the eighth time since the Legion program was revived in Allegany county in 1946 after a ten-year lapse. Local teams were eliminated from the state games in 1956, 1955, 1954, 1953, 1949, 1947 and 1946.

Meet Salisbury 3d Time

A local post nine will be meeting Salisbury for the third time in the modern series. In the 1955 tourney, Cumberland opened with an 8-5 win over the Eastern Shore team then lost to Westernport, of Baltimore, 16-4, and Morris Frock, of Hagerstown, 18-2. In the state event at Salisbury in 1953, Fort Cumberland trimmed Salisbury, 8-0, then dropped games to Silver Spring, 10-0, and Grantley of Baltimore, 3-1.

This is the 25th year for Legion junior baseball in Allegany county. Cumberland was first represented in 1928. Local teams won state titles in 1933, 1934 and 1935. The 1933 team lost out in the regional event at Allentown, Pa., while the 1934 club went all the way by copping tournaments at Bethlehem, Pa., and Gastonia, N. C., and climaxed the campaign by whipping New Orleans at Chicago in the Little World Series. The 1935 team was eliminated in the regional tourney at Bethlehem, Pa. There was no Legion ball in Allegany county from 1935 through 1945. This is the 17th consecutive year county posts have fielded teams.

The second game on today's card at College Park brings together Essex Post 148, of Baltimore county, and John Latimar Post 28 of Takoma Park, Montgomery county, at 1 p.m.

Title Game Sunday

Friday games are billed for 10 a.m., and 1 p.m., a single game is listed for 1 p.m., Saturday, and the championship contest is set for Sunday at 1 p.m.

Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, New York and District of Columbia champions will vie in the regional tournament next weekend at College Park with the winner qualifying for the national championship test at Bismarck, North Dakota. Last year the Little World Series was staged at Hastings, Neb.

Wicomico won all eleven games during the season to become Eastern Shore representative. Four of its players batted over .400 and Ed Greene pitched four of the victories.

Essex won in the Baltimore area with 9-3 record. Rex Frost, probable starting pitcher in the championship round, won five games without defeat.

Latimer captured the Southern Maryland crown with a 14-5 record. Its starting pitcher against Essex will be Walter Novak who has won 10 and lost three.

Ortiz Is Victor Over Art Persley

MANILA (AP) — World Lightweight Champion Carlos Ortiz punched out a narrow 10-round decision Wednesday night over aging Arthur Persley of Red Cross, La., in a non-title fight. Ortiz weighed 137¼, Persley, 136¾.

The decision was unanimous but close, and the champion had to come from behind in the closing round to gain the victory as Persley, 39, put up a surprisingly strong fight.

Referee Teodorico Reyes and Judge Jaime Valencia both scored the fight 48-45 for the champion. Judge Alex Villacampa scored it 47-45. The AP had Ortiz winning 47-46.

NEWS

Bill Monbouquette Hurls No-Hit Game At Chicago

Bosox Righthander Faces Only 28 Men In 1-0 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — Boston's Billy Monbouquette pitched the fourth no-hitter of the major league season Wednesday night and joined Red Sox teammate Earl Wilson as a member of the exclusive club by allowing only one walk in a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Monbouquette, a right-hander who hadn't pitched a complete game since June 29 and had failed to win since July 8, kept the White Sox off the bases except for a third-inning walk to Al Smith. Smith never left first as Monbouquette struck out Jim Landis to end the inning.

The 25-year-old Monbouquette, dropped from the second All-Star game roster because he has been ineffective recently, was overpowering against the White Sox. Only seven flies were hit to the outfield.

Charlie Maxwell sent a deep fly to right fielder Lu Clinton in the second inning and Landis flied deep to Gary Geiger in center field in the eighth inning. Monbo struck out seven including Sherm Lollar to open the ninth.

After Lollar fanned, Nellie Fox grounded out to third baseman Frank Malzone for the second out and Luis Aparicio struck out to end the game and give Monbo his no-hitter.

Monbouquette retired the last 22 batters in order after Smith's walk.

Ernie Davis Out For Year With Illness

Doctors Say Star Has Blood Disorder

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse is not expected to play pro football this season with the Cleveland Browns because of a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest, the club's president, Art Modell, said Wednesday night.

Modell issued a statement after discussing Davis' condition with doctors who have been attending the All-America in Evanston Hospital since Monday.

Davis, 1961 Heisman Grophy winner, was working out with the college All-Stars and was to have played with them against the Green Bay Packers, National Football League champions, in Soldier Field Friday night.

Modell said the disorder was not contagious or infectious and no danger to the rest of the All-Star squad was involved.

"At this moment it appears almost certain that Ernie will not be able to play for the Browns this season," Modell said.

"The Doctors at Evanston Hospital are still completing tests but have diagnosed his condition as a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest. The long-range future depends on his response to those treatments."

Davis, who erased the great Jim Brown's yard-gaining records at Syracuse, was drafted this year by the Washington Redskins. They traded him to Cleveland for halfback Bobby Mitchell and the Browns' No. 1 draft choice, speedster Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois. It gave Cleveland the tremendous 1-2 punch of Brown and Davis in the same backfield.

"We expect to take Ernie to a Cleveland hospital (possibly Friday) where our team physician, Dr. Victor Ippolito, and appropriate specialists can supervise additional tests and set up a course of treatment," Modell said.

The eyes of hares are never closed. They have no eyelids but are equipped with a thin membrane which covers the eyes when the animal is asleep or at rest.

More Wildlife Areas Sought

State To Purchase Over 3,000 Acres

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Department of Game and Inland Fish announced Wednesday it has been authorized to acquire over 3,000 acres of wetlands for development as public shooting and wildlife management areas.

Director Ernest A. Vaughn said the land will be part of the department's long-range program for providing more hunting and game refuge areas in the state. Federal assistance is available for the program.

The state presently has $162, 212 acres, including state forest land, open to public hunting and an additional 8,266 acres set aside as game and wildlife refuge.

The acquisition of 3,000 more acres was authorized by the Game and Inland Fish Commission at its July meeting.

In other action, the commissioners elected George D. Walters of Frostburg as chairman for the coming year, succeeding Royden A. Blunt of Baltimore. Dr. William B. Holton was named vice-chairman succeeding Walters. The posts are rotated each year.

The commission decided to hold its public hearing on 1963 fishing regulations at 10 a. m. Oct. 13 in Annapolis.

Herzog Struck By Pitched Ball

BALTIMORE (AP) — Outfielder White Herzog of the Baltimore Orioles was struck by a ball on the ulna nerve, or crazy bone, of his right elbow in the third inning of Wednesday night's game against the Minnesota Twins.

The outfielder was taken to Union Memorial Hospital for x-rays.

Herzog was the latest Oriole to be sidelined. Before Wednesday night's game, Jim Gentile became the third player to be put out of action because of a virus.

Snyder's Grocery, Sports Shoppe Cop Rec League Contests

Snyder's Grocery registered its 13th win of the season by beating Post's Playground, 4-2, yesterday at Post Field behind the six-hit pitching of Bill Kenney.

The win was the 13th for Kenney and gave the Grocerymen their fourth victory in a row. Moe Barrett was the loser for Post's who lost for the 13th time and the second time to Snyder's.

Jim Miller led the Grocerymen with a double and single while Ray Silvious had a triple for Post's.

At Stitcher Field the Sports Shoppe edged the Old Exports, 5-3, in eight innings as winner Tom McLuckie outpitched Gene Hess.

McLuckie, touched for 10 hits by the losers, was tough in the clutch, striking out seven and stranding nine Old Export runners.

The winners broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth with two runs on a walk, sacrifice, run-scoring single by Rich Smith, another single by Bob Russell and an error.

Dump Younger starred for the Old Exports with a double and single at the plate and a sparkling catch in left field of a drive by Buddy Meade in the 7th with two Sports Shoppe runners aboard. Van Parsons and Russell had two hits for the winners. The results:

AT POST FIELD:

Post's	100 100 0	2	6 2
Snyder's	120 100 x	4	6 2

Colts Place Two On Waiver List

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts placed defensive halfback Elbert Harris and guard Tom Condon on waivers Wednesday.

Both men are rookies with the National Football League club. Harris is from Southeastern Louisiana and Condon from Los Angeles State College.

Defensive end Ordell Braase, who has been out of action several days because of a scratched eye, is expected to take part in Thursday's drills.

Two others who missed drills were halfback Alex Hawkins, stricken with a high fever, guard-placekicker Steve Myhra, who has a sprained knee.

150 Pro Golfers To Vie In Insurance City Open

Six Former Winners Among Players In $35,000 Tournament

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A field of 150 top flight professional and amateur golfers tee off Thursday for the first round of the $35,000 Insurance City Open with six former winners swinging for their second victory.

The list of competitors entered in the four-day tourney over the 6,551 yard, par 71 course at the Wethersfield Country Club, is headed by Ted Kroll, fresh from his recent victory in the Canadian Open, and last year's "ICO" winner, Billy Maxwell.

Maxwell copped last year's crown by defeating Kroll in a seven-hole sudden death playoff.

Palmer Not Entered

Other former winners entered in this year's ICO were Tommy Bolt, Jackie Burke Jr., Gene Littler and Gardiner Dickinson. Kroll won the tourney in 1952 and is second top money winner in the 10-year history of the ICO with $8,734.

Top money man in ICO history at $10,006 is former two-time winner Arnold Palmer who did not enter this year's tourney.

Bolt, a surprise entry this year, holds the course record at Wethersfield with a 60, fired in 1954 when he won.

Besides his duel with Maxwell, Kroll will face another recent challenger—Charlie Sifford. Sifford came in second to Kroll in the Canadian Open at Montreal this year and will be looking for another chance at first money here.

Purse Is Higher

This year's purse is about $5,000 higher than last year. The $35,000 in prize money breaks down this way: The winner gets $5,300; $3,400 goes to the second place contestant; Third place is $2,200. The first 40 finishers split up the $35,000 purse with the lowest amount $110. First place prize money this year is $1,000 more than in 1961.

Doug Ford and Son, Doug Ford Jr., are scheduled to make the ICO along with Ken Venturi, Art Wall, Lionel Hebert and others.

Jap Swimmers Improved For Cleveland Meet

Will Be Tough In 1964 Says Henning

TOKYO (AP)—What's the word of Japanese swimmers?

Improving tremendously, says Dr. Harold W. Henning, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Men's Swimming Committee. And, he adds, watch out in 1964.

The Naperville, Ill., doctor said Wednesday he would be surprised if the 15 Japanese athletes leaving Saturday for Cleveland and the United States Swimming Championships would make much of a showing there.

Narrowed Gap

"But they have narrowed the gap which separated them from our swimmers in the past two years. And a year from now, I expect to see even better results from them," Henning explained.

"They'll be ready by 1964 when the Olympics are held here."

Henning brought a team of 13 of America's best swimmers here for the Japan National Outdoor Championships. They won just about everything in the 3-day meet and also dominated an exhibition Tuesday.

Henning pointed out the Japanese, especially the men, when they lost this time were losing by touches and split seconds and not by several seconds as in recent U.S.-Japan meets.

O'Brien Defeated

He also noted Shunsuke Kaneto beat out Ron O'Brien, former Ohio State diver, in the high dive. It was close, only .02 of a point separated the pair, and Henning said the judging left "a little to be desired." Still the improvement was obvious.

Japan once was a great swimming power, winning 19 medals including seven gold at the 1932 Los Angeles Olympics and 19 including four gold at Melbourne in 1956. But in 1960, they were shut out of gold medals in Rome and had to be contended with only three silver and two bronze.

Baseball Ignores Shotton Funeral

LAKE WALES, Fla. (UPI) — Funeral services were held in this quiet central Florida town Wednesday for former Brooklyn Dodgers manager Burton Edwin Shotton.

Shotton, 77, died Sunday night of an apparent heart attack.

Angels Defeat Indians, 2 To 1

Chance Chalks Up His Eighth Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Dean Chance hurled the Los Angeles Angels to a 2-1 victory over Cleveland in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday night.

Chance, who chalked up his eighth victory against six losses, blanked the Indians until the bottom of the ninth when John Romano slammed a bases-empty homer with two out. He gave up five hits and struck out eight.

The Angels took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Albie Pearson singled, stole second, moved to third on a passed ball and scored on Bob Rodgers' infield hit.

Los Angeles scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when Pearson doubled and came home on Billy Moran's single.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

One of the questions that I am most frequently asked these days is, "When is Congress going to adjourn?" I always have to give the answer, "I wish I knew." It is a matter of great importance to me because I want to be getting about the 6th District—seeing many of my friends whom I have not seen because of the heavy pressure of work here in Washington and, of course, doing some campaigning in preparation for November. But regardless of when Congress adjourns, the steady progress of the seasons is going forward as it does every year. We are now reaching that period of the summer when gardens are producing their best —when farms are beginning to show the work of the spring and summer, when harvests are in sight and when, of course, our farm friends begin to display their produce at county fairs throughout Maryland.

Next week the first of the county fairs in the 6th Congressional District will be opened in Garrett County. The Garrett County Fair is held near the town of McHenry on the banks of Deep Creek Lake. It is one of the most beautiful settings for a fair that you can imagine and many of the summer visitors who go to Garrett County to enjoy the fishing, the swimming and the boating on Deep Creek Lake will also be welcomed at the Garrett County Fair. Although my work in Washington will keep me here through the week of August 6th, when the Fair begins, I am hopeful that I will be able to leave Washington early enough in Friday so that I can see the Fair that evening and visit again on Saturday.

For those of you who are unable to go as far west as Garrett County for its fair, the Washington County Fair will open the following week in Hagerstown. This is one of the traditionally great fairs of Maryland. It will begin August 13th and will continue through the week. I know that if you live near Hagerstown or if you can travel there you will enjoy the many fine exhibits which are always present at the Washington County Fair and you will enjoy the warm welcome in Hagerstown.

As our fair season progresses in the 6th Congressional District we will have a week of great importance, because there are two fairs during the week of August 20th. There is the Montgomery County Fair and the Allegany County Fair. The Montgomery County Fair is held near Gaithersburg and attracts one of the largest crowds of any county fair in Maryland. Of course, it is close to the Metropolitan area of Washington and people can very easily get to Gaithersburg on Interstate Route 70, a major dual highway north from Washington. At the Montgomery County Fair are displayed some of the finest dairy cattle — beef cattle and farm produce — produced anywhere in the world. It's always a joy to see what the fertile fields of Montgomery County produce each year.

Allegany County traditionally has its fair the same week and this year I am sure it will live up to its usual high standards. I am hopeful again that I can get away from Washington at some time during that week and that I will be able to visit both of these great fairs.

We have a fifth and final fair in the 6th Congressional District after a lapse of a month when the Frederick County Fair will hold its 100th Centennial Exhibition in Frederick during the week of September 24th. Because of the fact that this will be the 100th Frederick Fair, I am sure that the managers of the fair will make a special effort to put on one of the finest agricultural exhibits that has ever been seen.

I know that many of you will be going to the fairs, that you will be expressing your interest in our agricultural traditions and heritage again this year, and it is my hope that I will be able to see you there.

Pigeon Builds Nest In Electric Works

BALTIMORE (AP)—There's a pigeon family in the electric works, living in a nest made out of metal scraps.

The mother pigeon built the nest for its squab on the eighth floor of a generating station under construction. Its being built at nearby Bowleys Quarters by the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co.

The parent bird picked a corner underneath a walkway in the massive steel structure, devoid of green, as the family home.

"Quite remarkable," says Paul Chenowith, senior engineer in charge of the electric company's construction undertakings.

He said the noise of construction doesn't bother the birds. He promises crews will work around them if they don't leave the nest before it's time to paint the steel beams.

Chenowith said the birds are in a spot which is not hazardous, like some places in an electric plant are.

About 49 per cent of the total population of the United States were members of some church in 1940, compared to more than 59 per cent today.

Jaipur Wins $56,300 Choice Stakes At Monmouth

Widener Entry Captures Fifth Victory Of Year

Belmont Winner Is 4½ Lengths Ahead Of Runner-Up Cyane

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — George D. Widener's Jaipur won the $56,300 Choice Stakes Wednesday before a crowd of 27,391 at Monmouth Park. Christiana Stable's Cyane was second, and Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan finished third in the field of eight 3-year-olds.

This was the first start for Jaipur since he took the Belmont Stakes in New York June 9, and it gave the speedy son of Nasrullah-Rare Perfume, by Eight Thirty his fifth victory in six starts this year.

Ridden By Shoemaker

Jaipur was ridden as usual by Willie Shoemaker, and paid $3.80, $2.60 and $2.20 as the odds-on favorite.

Cyane, who had upset Jaipur last fall in the Belmont Futurity, was ridden by Eldon Nelson and returned $5.40 and $3.20. Manuel Ycaza piloted Crimson Satan, the champion 2-year-old of 1961, who returned $2.80 to show.

The time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:42 flat, compared with the track record of 1:43 set in 1959 by Ambergris, with 112 pounds. Jaipur and Cyrane carried 126 pounds. Crimson Satan had 118.

Wins By 4½ Lengths

Shoemaker moved Jaipur into the lead as he turned into the homestretch with less than a quarter of a mile to travel. Jaipur drew away with Shoemaker merely waving his whip alongside the handsome dark bay colt's shoulder, and he hit the wire 4½ lengths ahead of Cyane.

Jaipur earned $36,595, boosting his total for 1962 to $307,215—tops for any thoroughbred this season. He has earned $521,874 during his career.

Celanese, Elks Post Chair Wins

The Celanese A. A. belted C & P Telephone, 13-3, at Celanese Field while the Elks upended Ritter's, 7-4, at East Side field in a pair of makeup games in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The loss by the Phonemen was the 23d in 24 games for C & P while Celanese climbed within one game of .500 ball with its 12th win in 25 decisions.

Nile Shuck tossed a five-hitter for Celanese while Lucius Clay was the loser. Bill Ware had a homer, double and triple and Archie Carr had three triples for Celanese. Ozzie Nelson also had a pair of triples for the victors. O'Rourke led the Phonemen with a single and home run.

A four-run outburst in the fourth gave the Elks the nod over Ritter's with Leo Rhodes getting the win with a seven-hit effort. Odell Warnick was the loser.

Bob Pence had a fair of hits for the Elks while Walt Basilio had a pair of singles for Ritter's. The results:

AT EAST SIDE:
B. P. O. Elks	010 400 2—7 6 3
Ritter's	030 100 0—4 7 3

Leo Rhodes and Charles Kreitzburg, Odell Warnick, Don Decker (4) and Fred Comer.
Loser—Warnick.

Jaycees Upset Frostburg Lions

The Jaycees, sparked by Danny Edwards' two-run homer in the first and the one-hit pitching of Dennis Clark, defeated the runner-up Lions, 3-1, yesterday in a Frostburg Little League contest.

Both Clark and losing pitcher Gary Donius whiffed 15 batters in the hurling duel with Donius giving up three hits. Ken Layman's single in the fourth was the only hit allowed by Clark.

The win was the sixth in 13 decisions for the Jaycees while the Lions bowed for the fourth time in 13 games. The results:

Jaycees	210 000—3 3 0
Lions	000 100—1 1 2

Dennis Clark and Danny Edwards, Gary Donius and Mark McKenzie.
HR—Edwards (Jaycees).

Lucas Claims He's Free Agent, Royals Not Sure

Jerry Still Likes Financially Unstable Cleveland Pipers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Jerry Lucas, college basketball's superstar the past three seasons with Ohio State, declared himself a free agent today, but the spurned Cincinnati Royals adopted a hands off attitude.

Lucas, who was drafted by both the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League and the Royals of the well-established National Basketball Association, said he still would prefer to play with the financially troubled Pipers.

In Cincinnati, Royals Vice President Tom Grace said he would be tickled to finally land Lucas but was not convinced the Ohio State star was legally a free agent.

"We're in the basketball business and he would be a value to us," Grace said. "And I would not neglect it, let's say, to talk to him and I would like to hear from Lucas if he is interested in playing pro ball."

Legal Status Doubtful

But, Grace added, the legal aspects of the case were paramount at the moment, "and we're not going around courting a law suit."

Lucas passed up the Royals' offer to sign with the Pipers, but that contract was voided when the Cleveland ABL entry appeared to have been accepted by the NBA.

Lucas signed a Pipers NBA contract, but that, too, was voided when the older circuit refused to accept the Pipers for failing to make required entry payments.

Lucas, here with his friend and advisor, Joe Hardy of Columbus, said, "I had six calls yesterday from all over the country." He said he would consider all of them, one reportedly from the NBA.

Hardy, referring to stocks and money due Lucas under the original agreement with the Pipers, said the basketball star wanted some assurance this time that a contract will be honored.

"We want proof of the escrow this time and will not proceed into any further agreement until we're satisfied," Hardy said.

Earlier, it was reported that West Coast builder George McKeon was willing to furnish the cash to back the contract commitment to Lucas made by Pipers President George Steinbrenner.

Cubs Defeat Giants, 3-2

Altman's Homer In 10th Decides

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — George Altman's two-run homer in the 10th inning followed by some clutch relief pitching on the part of Don Cardwell brought the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory Wednesday over the San Francisco Giants, who lost their fourth consecutive game.

Altman cracked a 1-1 tie when he powered a 420-foot blast over the center field fence off left-hander Billy O'Dell after Ken Hubbs had singled for his third hit of the day.

It was the 15th home run for Altman and Cardwell made the lead stand up after the Giants had tagged Bob Buhl for a run in the bottom of the 10th.

Buhl, who got the win and now is 8-8, was taken out with one down after Willie Mays had scored Harvey Kuenn with a double. Then Cardwell needed only two pitches to make Orlando Cepeda foul out to catcher Cuno Barragan and retire Felipe Alou on a fly.

Franklin Beats Cumberland, 5-2

Midland Is Victor At Westernport, 7-3

Franklin's tail-enders handed the Cumberland Comets their sixth straight setback in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday, winning 5-2 at Barton behind the seven-hit pitching of Bob White.

The win was only the third this year for Franklin while Cumberland suffered its 10th loss. Ivan Abe was the loser despite allowing Franklin only six hits.

Bill Bennett paced the victors at the plate with a pair of singles while Roland had two bingles for Cumberland.

In another Twilight tilt at Westernport, Midland notched its 16th win with a 7-3 decision over Westernport. Jim Winters was the victor with relief help in the seventh from Paul Thompson. Dick Wilson absorbed the defeat.

Fay Often obtained two of Midland's six hits while Jim Droppleman had a pair of singles and Dave Coleman smacked a two-run double in the sixth inning for the losers. The results:

AT BARTON:
Cumberland	020 000 0—2 7 1

Little Moes Belt Corriganville, 20-4; Cresaptown Victor

The Frostburg Little Moes scored four runs in four different innings as they walloped Corriganville, 20-4, yesterday in a Bi-State Pony League game at Frostburg.

The win was the seventh for the Little Moes while Corriganville went down to its 14th loss. Jim Chaney struck out 14 and allowed only four hits in going the route for Frostburg.

Pacing the 18-hit assault for the Little Moes were Chaney with a home run, triple and two singles and Jerry Groves two home runs, a triple and a single. Homers also were hit by Greg Harper and Phil Colossimo for the winners.

Rich Mellott was the big gun for Corriganville with a single and a home run.

At Shehan Field in LaVale the LaVale Pirates lost to Cresaptown, 8-6, with Tom Sindy going the distance for the victors although allowing 13 hits.

Bob Wilt cracked out a home run and double, Paul Kemp hit for the circuit and Gary Phillips smashed a homer and single for Cresaptown. Dave Fix had four hits for the Pirates.

Wamsley's catch of a drive off the bat of Gary Orndorff in left field for Cresaptown was the fielding highlight of the game. The results:

AT FROSTBURG:
Corriganville	201 100 0— 4 4 6

Kiwanis Downs Elks, 6-4, For 20th Triumph

ODC, Lions, Army Nines Post Wins

The Kiwanis Club clinched at least a tie for first place in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday by downing the Elks, 6-4, at Fort Hill field although the runner-up Salvation Army kept pace with a 4-2 triumph over the Jaycees in the second game of a doubleheader at Penn Avenue field.

In other contests yesterday the outdoor club climbed into fourth place with a 3-1 victory over B'nai B'rith at Mason Road while the Lions blanked the Cumberland Optimists, 5-0, in the first game of the Penn Avenue twin bill.

Robert Klingler struck out 10 to record his third victory for Kiwanis which won its eighth straight game. The winners got only four hits off Nick Perlozzo, the losing pitcher, but Perlozzo walked 11 batters to aid his own downfall.

Perlozzo obtained three of the losers' four hits while Dave Bruce collected a pair of singles for Kiwanis as the league leaders won their 20th game of th sason.

Salvation Army got a two-hit pitching effort from Larry Wolfe to beat the Jaycees for their 16th triumph. Terry Deremer paced the Army attack with a home run and single while Ed Hendrickson and Bing Rotruck each had two singles. Bill Seeders and Gary Hixenbaugh obtained the only two hits for the Jaycees — both singles.

Blair Norris and Gene Wright also pitched a two-hitter for the Lions as they blanked the Cumberland Optimists. Norris allowed only one hit in his six-inning stint, striking out seven. Larry Walker had three hits for the winners while Norris and Mike Baker each doubled. The latter also excelled at shortstop for the Lions.

Ralph Miller struck out 11 and gave up but two hits as he pitched the Outdoor Club to their fourth win in a row over B'nai B'rith. Mike Wilt was the loser with a six-hit effort.

A two-run single by Miller in the first scored all the runs the ODC righthander needed. Woody Dodrill banged out a triple for the winners in the sixth. The results:

Twins Edge Orioles 3-1 In Eleventh

Kaat's Triple Drives In Deciding Tallies

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Pitcher Jim Kaat belted in the tie-breaking run in the 11th inning and hustled his hit into a triple which led to a cushion run that gave the Minnesota Twins a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and Robin Roberts Wednesday night.

The 35-year-old Roberts, who dueled magnificently with the 23-year-old Kaat, gave up a lead-off single to rookie Bernie Allen in the 11th. Orlando Martinez then struck out, attempting to bunt, setting the stage for Kaat's line drive which rolled to the center field fence.

Kaat beat center-fielder Jackie Brandt's throw to third base with a fallaway slide and scored on Vic Power's squeeze bunt. Kaat struck out 12 and Roberts 9.

The Orioles had tied the game in the third inning when, with one out, Whitey Herzog was hit by a pitch on the right elbow and was replaced by pinch-runner Dave Nicholson. Brandt's double moved Nicholson to third and he scored on Brooks Robinson's sacrifice fly.

Minnesota scored its first run in the first inning when Vic Power singled with one out, went to second when Harmon Killebrew walked and scored on Bob Allison's two-out single.

Detroit Rally Beats A's, 6-5

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe's single with two out in the ninth inning capped a three-run rally by the Detroit Tigers and brought them a 6-5 victory over Kansas City in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday night.

The Tigers went into the ninth behind 5-3 and their first two batters were easy victims of reliever Danny McDevitt.

But McDevitt walked the next two batters before veteran knuckle-baller Granny Hamner came in and filled the bases with another walk.

Yankees Clip Senators, 6-4

Nat Errors Help Bouton Win Fifth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The New York Yankees packed all their scoring punch into the first three innings Wednesday night to trim the Washington Senators, 6-4, in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The Senators were guilty of five errors—four in the third inning when the Yankees collected their last three runs. Rookie Jim Bouton got credit for his fifth win against two losses but had to put down a last-inning Senator threat.

Bouton, who struck out nine, was nicked for a run in the second when he gave up a walk, a single to Bud Zipfel and a sacrifice fly. Zipfel homered for another run in the eighth. In the ninth Bouton was clipped for a triple by Chuck Hinton, singles by Zipfel and Harry Bright for two runs but struck out pinch-hitter Don Lock to preserve the win.

Dan Indians Top Angels, 15-9, To Tie For Second

Exploding for nine runs in the second inning, the Indians went on to beat the Angels, 15-9, yesterday in a Dan Division contest at Leiper Street field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

The triumph enabled the Indians to tie the Dodgers for second place with a 9-4 record. The loss knocked the Angels out of any possibility for a playoff berth in their first season in the league.

Mike Shepherd was the winning pitcher, allowing only five hits, and banging out a home run and two singles to aid his own cause. Mike Mullaney and Joe Reed also chipped in with home runs for the Indians. Duckworth had a homer and double for the losers. The results:

Indians	190 205—15 8 3
Angels	021 600— 9 5 4

Salisbury And Cumberland Open State Legion Tourney Today

Fort Cumberland In First State Tilt Since 1956

Competing in the Maryland Department American Legion junior baseball tournament for the first time since 1956, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 is scheduled to do battle with Wicomico Post of Salisbury today at 10 a.m., at College Park in a double elimination series in which four teams will vie during a four-day grind.

Cumberland hurdled Frederick in a best-of-three series here the past weekend to qualify for the state event. Francis Scott Key Post had knocked Post No. 13 out of the running four years in a row (1958-1961) and also derailed Midland Post from Allegany county in 1957.

Locals Own 7-1 Record

The local team headed by George Zegles, Donald Renotas and Bob Shelley goes into the state tourney with a 7-1 record. Fort Cumberland Post won the Mountain District League title with a 5-0 record and won two out of three games from Frederick.

Six years ago, Fort Cumberland was ushered out of the state tourney in two straight games, losing to Glenmar, of Baltimore county, 5-4, in a morning game at College Park, and to Sharptown, 6-2, in an afternoon contest staged at Taft Field, Washington, D. C. Glenmar whipped Sharptown for the title that year.

Fort Cumberland Post is appearing in the state tourney for the eighth time since the Legion program was revived in Allegany county in 1946 after a ten-year lapse. Local teams were eliminated from the state games in 1956, 1955, 1954, 1953, 1949, 1947 and 1946.

Meet Salisbury 3d Time

A local post nine will be meeting Salisbury for the third time in the modern series. In the 1955 tourney, Cumberland opened with an 8-5 win over the Eastern Shore team then lost to Westernport, of Baltimore, 16-4, and Morris Frock, of Hagerstown, 18-2. In the state event at Salisbury in 1953, Fort Cumberland trimmed Salisbury, 8-0, then dropped games to Silver Spring, 10-0, and Grantley of Baltimore, 3-1.

This is the 25th year for Legion junior baseball in Allegany county. Cumberland was first represented in 1928. Local teams won state titles in 1933, 1934 and 1935. The 1933 team lost out in the regional event at Allentown, Pa., while the 1934 club went all the way by copping tournaments at Bethlehem, Pa., and Gastonia, N. C., and climaxed the campaign by whipping New Orleans at Chicago in the Little World Series. The 1935 team was eliminated in the regional tourney at Bethlehem, Pa. There was no Legion ball in Allegany county from 1935 through 1945. This is the 17th consecutive year county posts have fielded teams.

The second game on today's card at College Park brings together Essex Post 148, of Baltimore county, and John Latimar Post 28 of Takoma Park, Montgomery county, at 1 p.m.

Title Game Sunday

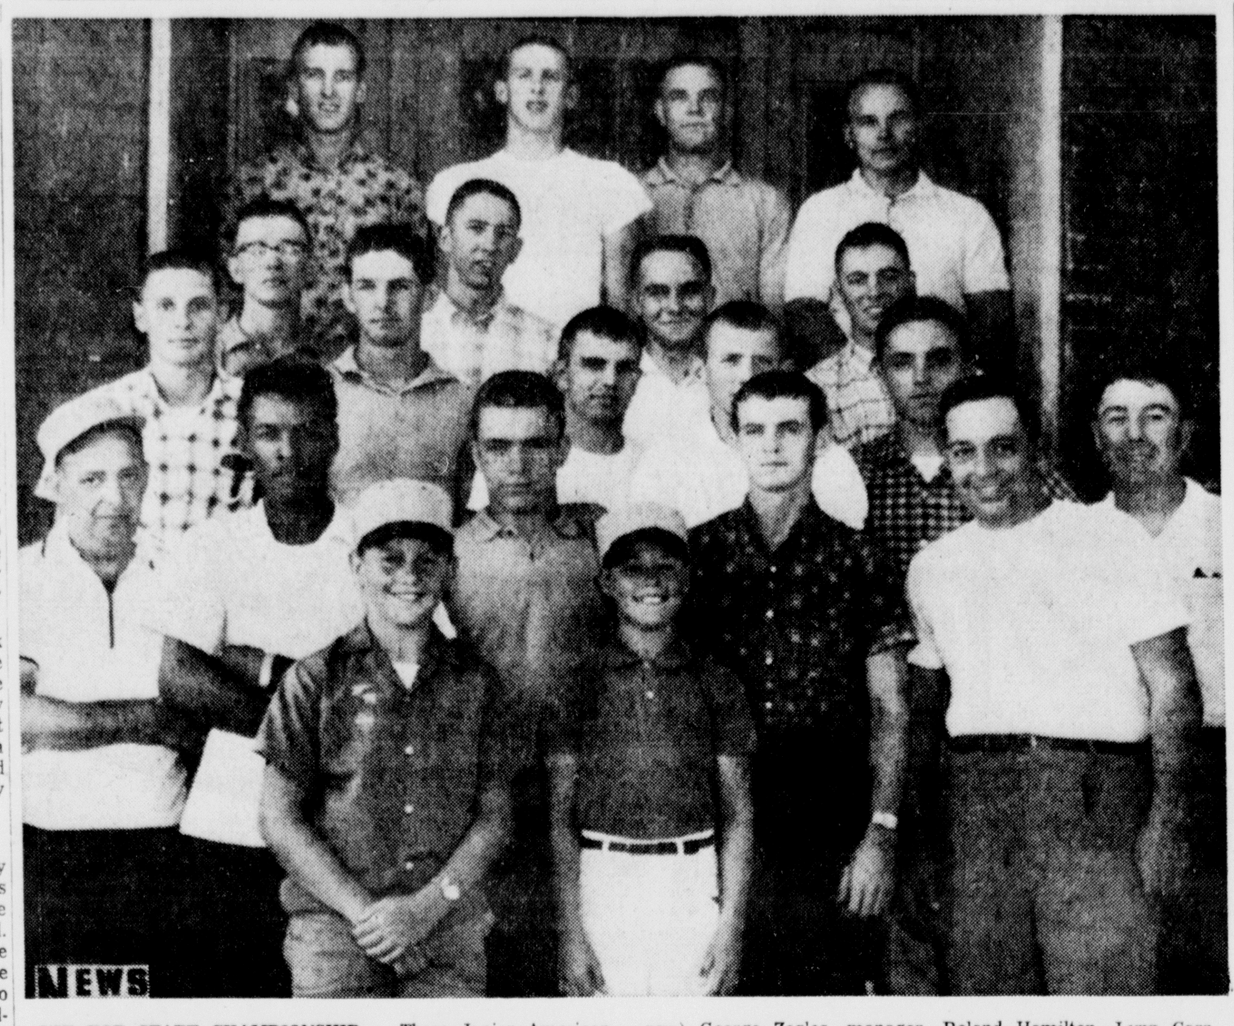
Friday games are billed for 10 a.m., and 1 p.m., a single game is listed for 1 p.m., Saturday, and the championship contest is set for Sunday at 1 p.m.

Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, New York and District of Columbia champions will vie in the regional tournament next weekend at College Park with the winner qualifying for the national championship test at Bismarck, North Dakota. Last year the Little World Series was staged at Hastings, Neb.

Wicomico won all eleven games during the season to become Eastern Shore representative. Four of its players batted over .400 and Ed Greene pitched four of the victories.

Essex won in the Baltimore area with 9-3 record. Rex Frost, probable starting pitcher in the championship round, won five games without defeat.

Latimer captured the Southern Maryland crown with a 14-5 record. Its starting pitcher against Essex will be Walter Novak who has won 10 and lost three.



NEWS

Bill Monbouquette Hurls No-Hit Game At Chicago

Bosox Righthander Faces Only 28 Men In 1-0 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — Boston's Billy Monbouquette pitched the fourth no-hitter of the major league season Wednesday night and joined Red Sox teammate Earl Wilson as a member of the exclusive club by allowing only one walk in a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Monbouquette, a right-hander who hadn't pitched a complete game since June 29 and had failed to win since July 8, kept the White Sox off the bases except for a third-inning walk to Al Smith. Smith never left first as Monbouquette struck out Jim Landis to end the inning.

The 25-year-old Monbouquette, dropped from the second All-Star game roster because he has been ineffective recently, was overpowering against the White Sox. Only seven flies were hit to the outfield.

Charlie Maxwell sent a deep fly to right fielder Lu Clinton in the second inning and Landis flied deep to Gary Geiger in center field in the eighth inning. Monbo struck out seven including Sherm Lollar to open the ninth.

After Lollar fanned, Nellie Fox grounded out to third baseman Frank Malzone for the second out and Luis Aparicio struck out to end the game and give Monbo his no-hitter.

Monbouquette retired the last 22 batters in order after Smith's walk.

Ernie Davis Out For Year With Illness

Doctors Say Star Has Blood Disorder

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse is not expected to play pro football this season with the Cleveland Browns because of a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest, the club's president, Art Modell, said Wednesday night.

Modell issued a statement after discussing Davis' condition with doctors who have been attending the All-America in Evanston Hospital since Monday.

Davis, 1961 Heisman Grophy winner, was working out with the college All-Stars and was to have played with them against the Green Bay Packers, National Football League champions, in Soldier Field Friday night.

Modell said the disorder was not contagious or infectious and no danger to the rest of the All-Star squad was involved.

"At this moment it appears almost certain that Ernie will not be able to play for the Browns this season," Modell said.

"The Doctors at Evanston Hospital are still completing tests but have diagnosed his condition as a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest. The long-range future depends on his response to those treatments."

Davis, who erased the great Jim Brown's yard-gaining records at Syracuse, was drafted this year by the Washington Redskins. They traded him to Cleveland for halfback Bobby Mitchell and the Browns' No. 1 draft choice, speedster Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois. It gave Cleveland the tremendous 1-2 punch of Brown and Davis in the same backfield.

"We expect to take Ernie to a Cleveland hospital (possibly Friday) where our team physician, Dr. Victor Ippolito, and appropriate specialists can supervise additional tests and set up a course of treatment," Modell said.

More Wildlife Areas Sought

State To Purchase Over 3,000 Acres

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Department of Game and Inland Fish announced Wednesday it has been authorized to acquire over 3,000 acres of wetlands for development as public shooting and wildlife management areas.

Director Ernest A. Vaughn said the land will be part of the department's long-range program for providing more hunting and game refuge areas in the state. Federal assistance is available for the program.

The state presently has $162, 212 acres, including state forest land, open to public hunting and an additional 8,266 acres set aside as game and wildlife refuge.

The acquisition of 3,000 more acres was authorized by the Game and Inland Fish Commission at its July meeting.

In other action, the commissioners elected George D. Walters of Frostburg as chairman for the coming year, succeeding Royden A. Blunt of Baltimore. Dr. William B. Holton was named vice-chairman succeeding Walters. The posts are rotated each year.

The commission decided to hold its public hearing on 1963 fishing regulations at 10 a. m. Oct. 13 in Annapolis.

Herzog Struck By Pitched Ball

BALTIMORE (AP) — Outfielder White Herzog of the Baltimore Orioles was struck by a ball on the ulna nerve, or crazy bone, of his right elbow in the third inning of Wednesday night's game against the Minnesota Twins.

The outfielder was taken to Union Memorial Hospital for x-rays.

Herzog was the latest Oriole to be sidelined. Before Wednesday night's game, Jim Gentile became the third player to be put out of action because of a virus.

Snyder's Grocery, Sports Shoppe Cop Rec League Contests

Snyder's Grocery registered its 13th win of the season by beating Post's Playground, 4-2, yesterday at Post Field behind the six-hit pitching of Bill Kenney.

The win was the 13th for Kenney and gave the Grocerymen their fourth victory in a row. Moe Barrett was the loser for Post's who lost for the 13th time and the second time to Snyder's.

Jim Miller led the Grocerymen with a double and single while Ray Silvious had a triple for Post's.

At Stitcher Field the Sports Shoppe edged the Old Exports, 5-3, in eight innings as winner Tom McLuckie outpitched Gene Hess.

McLuckie, touched for 10 hits by the losers, was tough in the clutch, striking out seven and stranding nine Old Export runners.

The winners broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth with two runs on a walk, sacrifice, run-scoring single by Rich Smith, another single by Bob Russell and an error.

Dump Younger starred for the Old Exports with a double and single at the plate and a sparkling catch in left field of a drive by Buddy Meade in the 7th with two Sports Shoppe runners aboard. Van Parsons and Russell had two hits for the winners. The results:

Colts Place Two On Waiver List

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts placed defensive halfback Elbert Harris and guard Tom Condon on waivers Wednesday.

Both men are rookies with the National Football League club. Harris is from Southeastern Louisiana and Condon from Los Angeles State College.

Defensive end Ordell Braase, who has been out of action several days because of a scratched eye, is expected to take part in Thursday's drills.

Two others who missed drills were halfback Alex Hawkins, stricken with a high fever, guard-placekicker Steve Myhra, who has a sprained knee.

150 Pro Golfers To Vie In Insurance City Open

Six Former Winners Among Players In $35,000 Tournament

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A field of 150 top flight professional and amateur golfers tee off Thursday for the first round of the $35,000 Insurance City Open with six former winners swinging for their second victory.

The list of competitors entered in the four-day tourney over the 6,551 yard, par 71 course at the Wethersfield Country Club, is headed by Ted Kroll, fresh from his recent victory in the Canadian Open, and last year's "ICO" winner, Billy Maxwell.

Maxwell copped last year's crown by defeating Kroll in a seven-hole sudden death playoff.

Palmer Not Entered

Other former winners entered in this year's ICO were Tommy Bolt, Jackie Burke Jr., Gene Littler and Gardiner Dickinson. Kroll won the tourney in 1952 and is second top money winner in the 10-year history of the ICO with $8,734.

Top money man in ICO history at $10,006 is former two-time winner Arnold Palmer who did not enter this year's tourney.

Bolt, a surprise entry this year, holds the course record at Wethersfield with a 60, fired in 1954 when he won.

Besides his duel with Maxwell, Kroll will face another recent challenger—Charlie Sifford. Sifford came in second to Kroll in the Canadian Open at Montreal this year and will be looking for another chance at first money here.

Purse Is Higher

This year's purse is about $5,000 higher than last year. The $35,000 in prize money breaks down this way: The winner gets $5,300; $3,400 goes to the second place contestant; Third place is $2,200. The first 40 finishers split up the $35,000 purse with the lowest amount $110. First place prize money this year is $1,000 more than in 1961.

Doug Ford and Son, Doug Ford Jr., are scheduled to make the ICO along with Ken Venturi, Art Wall, Lionel Hebert and others.

Jap Swimmers Improved For Cleveland Meet

Will Be Tough In 1964 Says Henning

TOKYO (AP)—What's the word of Japanese swimmers?

Improving tremendously, says Dr. Harold W. Henning, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Men's Swimming Committee. And, he adds, watch out in 1964.

The Naperville, Ill., doctor said Wednesday he would be surprised if the 15 Japanese athletes leaving Saturday for Cleveland and the United States Swimming Championships would make much of a showing there.

Narrowed Gap

"But they have narrowed the gap which separated them from our swimmers in the past two years. And a year from now, I expect to see even better results from them," Henning explained.

"They'll be ready by 1964 when the Olympics are held here."

Henning brought a team of 13 of America's best swimmers here for the Japan National Outdoor Championships. They won just about everything in the 3-day meet and also dominated an exhibition Tuesday.

Henning pointed out the Japanese, especially the men, when they lost this time were losing by touches and split seconds and not by several seconds as in recent U.S.-Japan meets.

O'Brien Defeated

He also noted Shunsuke Kaneto beat out Ron O'Brien, former Ohio State diver, in the high dive. It was close, only .02 of a point separated the pair, and Henning said the judging left "a little to be desired." Still the improvement was obvious.

Japan once was a great swimming power, winning 19 medals including seven gold at the 1932 Los Angeles Olympics and 19 including four gold at Melbourne in 1956. But in 1960, they were shut out of gold medals in Rome and had to be contended with only three silver and two bronze.

Baseball Ignores Shotton Funeral

LAKE WALES, Fla. (UPI) — Funeral services were held in this quiet central Florida town Wednesday for former Brooklyn Dodgers manager Burton Edwin Shotton.

Shotton, 77, died Sunday night of an apparent heart attack.

Angels Defeat Indians, 2 To 1

Chance Chalks Up His Eighth Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Dean Chance hurled the Los Angeles Angels to a 2-1 victory over Cleveland in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday night.

Chance, who chalked up his eighth victory against six losses, blanked the Indians until the bottom of the ninth when John Romano slammed a bases-empty homer with two out. He gave up five hits and struck out eight.

The Angels took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Albie Pearson singled, stole second, moved to third on a passed ball and scored on Bob Rodgers' infield hit.

Los Angeles scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when Pearson doubled and came home on Billy Moran's single.

Midland-Gilmore, Zihlman-Keyser Games Set Today

The race for the Twilight Baseball League pennant resumes today with Midland at Gilmore, Zihlman at Keyser and Barton meeting Franklin at Westernport in the top games of the day.

Midland and Keyser are tied for first place with 15-6 records and Barton is breathing down their backs with a 16-7 mark. Westernport occupies fourth place in the nine club circuit with 10 wins and six losses.

Each team plays a schedule of 32 games with the season ending August 30.

The fourth game on today's card finds Westernport engaging Lonaconing at the latter place. Cumberland's Comets are idle today.

Dapper Cardinals Beat Orioles, 12-0, For 12th Victory

Herb Roby, making his first pitching start of the season, hurled a one-hitter yesterday as the Cardinals notched their 12th win in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League with a 12-0 triumph over the Orioles at Constitution Park.

Roby struck out six and walked only one batter while giving up a fifth-inning double to Mark Buser. The Cardinals closed out their regular season with a 12-2 mark, losing only to the Giants and Pirates.

Jim Stewart, Walt Davis and Dave Coffman each belted a double and single to pace the Cardinals attack. Pat Adams and Ed Hollen chipped in with two-baggers also for the winners. Dick Alderton was the losing pitcher. The results:

Cardinals	331 302—12	10 1

Herb Roby and Jim Morgan, Rich Cornwell (4), Ken LaGratta (5), Dick Alderton, Greg Snyder (5) and Billy Senns.

Loser—Alderton.

DASHING DEBUT

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Don Hutson, one-time Alabama pass-catching marvel, caught a touchdown pass from Arnie Herber in his first play in pro football in 1935 to give the Packers a 7-0 victory over the Chicago Bears.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball's bright new stars are gonna be tough to beat the rest of the way.

They're threatening to run off with both batting crowns, both runs-batted-in championships, one home run title and maybe even a most valuable player award or two.

The two all star games this year proved at least one thing: There's plenty of new star-style talent around headed by Tommy Davis of the Dodgers and Leon Wagner of the Angels.

Some are rookies, some are just hitting their anticipated strides and some — like Wagner — are guys who just wouldn't take "no!" for an answer when previous employers turned thumbs down.

Defense Poor

Wagner, a glory-grabber in the second all star game with both his bat and glove, couldn't make it with either the Giants or Cardinals in the National League because his defense work in the outfield ranged from "indifferent" to "butchery."

Constant work shagging fungoes in pre-game drills made him more than adequate afield as he arrived for a last chance with the new Los Angeles Angels in '61. And his bat has been doing the rest of the talking ever since.

Wagner hit 28 homers last season and matched that on July 29, putting him near the top in the current homer derby. At the second all star break, he led the league in RBI's with 74.

Davis is in his third full season with the Dodgers, doing precisely the things predicted for him three springs back. His .353 led National League hitters at the all-star break and he topped both leagues with 106 runs batted in.

Jimenez Threatens

Manny Jimenez, Kansas City rookie outfielder, is challenging veteran Pete Runnels of Boston for the American League batting title (both were .332 on Tuesday) and there's still a chance for slugger Floyd Robinson of the White Sox (.320) to get a piece of it.

Robinson and Billy Williams of the Cubs are the best examples of young players who are making their second full year as good as their first.

Jaipur Wins $56,300 Choice Stakes At Monmouth

Widener Entry Captures Fifth Victory Of Year

Belmont Winner Is 4½ Lengths Ahead Of Runner-Up Cyane

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — George D. Widener's Jaipur won the $56,300 Choice Stakes Wednesday before a crowd of 27,391 at Monmouth Park. Christiana Stable's Cyane was second, and Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan finished third in the field of eight 3-year-olds.

This was the first start for Jaipur since he took the Belmont Stakes in New York June 9, and it gave the speedy son of Nasrullah-Rare Perfume, by Eight Thirty his fifth victory in six starts this year.

Ridden By Shoemaker

Jaipur was ridden as usual by Willie Shoemaker, and paid $3.80, $2.60 and $2.20 as the odds-on favorite.

Cyane, who had upset Jaipur last fall in the Belmont Futurity, was ridden by Eldon Nelson and returned $5.40 and $3.20. Manuel Ycaza piloted Crimson Satan, the champion 2-year-old of 1961, who returned $2.80 to show.

The time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:42 flat, compared with the track record of 1:43 set in 1959 by Ambergris, with 112 pounds. Jaipur and Cyrane carried 126 pounds. Crimson Satan had 118.

Wins By 4½ Lengths

Shoemaker moved Jaipur into the lead as he turned into the homestretch with less than a quarter of a mile to travel. Jaipur drew away with Shoemaker merely waving his whip alongside the handsome dark bay colt's shoulder, and he hit the wire 4½ lengths ahead of Cyane.

Jaipur earned $36,595, boosting his total for 1962 to $307,215—tops for any thoroughbred this season. He has earned $521,874 during his career.

Lucas Claims He's Free Agent, Royals Not Sure

Jerry Still Likes Financially Unstable Cleveland Pipers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Jerry Lucas, college basketball's superstar the past three seasons with Ohio State, declared himself a free agent today, but the spurned Cincinnati Royals adopted a hands off attitude.

Lucas, who was drafted by both the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League and the Royals of the well-established National Basketball Association, said he still would prefer to play with the financially troubled Pipers.

In Cincinnati, Royals Vice President Tom Grace said he would be tickled to finally land Lucas but was not convinced the Ohio State star was legally a free agent.

"We're in the basketball business and he would be a value to us," Grace said. "And I would not neglect it, let's say, to talk to him and I would like to hear from Lucas if he is interested in playing pro ball."

Legal Status Doubtful

But, Grace added, the legal aspects of the case were paramount at the moment, "and we're not going around courting a law suit."

Lucas passed up the Royals' offer to sign with the Pipers, but that contract was voided when the Cleveland ABL entry appeared to have been accepted by the NBA.

Lucas signed a Pipers NBA contract, but that, too, was voided when the older circuit refused to accept the Pipers for failing to make required entry payments.

Lucas, here with his friend and advisor, Joe Hardy of Columbus, said, "I had six calls yesterday from all over the country." He said he would consider all of them, one reportedly from the NBA.

Hardy, referring to stocks and money due Lucas under the original agreement with the Pipers, said the basketball star wanted some assurance this time that a contract will be honored.

"We want proof of the escrow this time and will not proceed into any further agreement until we're satisfied," Hardy said.

Earlier, it was reported that West Coast builder George McKeon was willing to furnish the cash to back the contract committment to Lucas made by Pipers President George Steinbrenner.

Celanese, Elks Post Chair Wins

The Celanese A. A. belted C & P Telephone, 13-3, at Celanese Field while the Elks upended Ritter's, 7-4, at East Side field in a pair of makeup games in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The loss by the Phonemen was the 23d in 24 games for C & P while Celanese climbed within one game of .500 ball with its 12th win in 25 decisions.

Nile Shuck tossed a five-hitter for Celanese while Lucius Clay was the loser. Bill Ware had a homer, double and triple and Archie Carr had three triples for Celanese. Ozzie Nelson also had a pair of triples for the victors. O'Rourke led the Phonemen with a single and home run.

A four-run outburst in the fourth gave the Elks the nod over Ritter's with Leo Rhodes getting the win with a seven-hit effort. Odell Warnick was the loser.

Bob Pence had a fair of hits for the Elks while Walt Basilio had a pair of singles for Ritter's. The results:

AT EAST SIDE:
B. P. O. Elks	010 400 2—7 6 3
Ritter's	030 100 0—4 7 3

Jaycees Upset Frostburg Lions

The Jaycees, sparked by Danny Edwards' two-run homer in the first and the one-hit pitching of Dennis Clark, defeated the runner-up Lions, 3-1, yesterday in a Frostburg Little League contest.

Both Clark and losing pitcher Gary Donius whiffed 15 batters in the hurling duel with Donius giving up three hits. Ken Layman's single in the fourth was the only hit allowed by Clark.

The win was the sixth in 13 decisions for the Jaycees while the Lions bowed for the fourth time in 13 games. The results:

Jaycees	210 000—3 3 0
Lions	000 100—1 1 2

Dennis Clark and Danny Edwards, Gary Donius and Mark McKenzie.
HR—Edwards (Jaycees).

ODC, Lions, Army Nines Post Wins

The Kiwanis Club clinched at least a tie for first place in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday by downing the Elks, 6-4, at Fort Hill field although the runner-up Salvation Army kept pace with a 4-2 triumph over the Jaycees in the second game of a doubleheader at Penn Avenue field.

In other contests yesterday the outdoor club climbed into fourth place with a 3-1 victory over B'nai B'rith at Mason Road while the Lions blanked the Cumberland Optimists, 5-0, in the first game of the Penn Avenue twin bill.

Robert Klingler struck out 10 to record his third victory for Kiwanis which won its eighth straight game. The winners got only four hits off Nick Perlozzo, the losing pitcher, but Perlozzo walked 11 batters to aid his own downfall.

Perlozzo obtained three of the losers' four hits while Dave Bruce collected a pair of singles for Kiwanis as the league leaders won their 20th game of th sason.

Salvation Army got a two-hit pitching effort from Larry Wolfe to beat the Jaycees for their 16th triumph. Terry Deremer paced the Army attack with a home run and single while Ed Hendrickson and Bing Rotruck each had two singles. Bill Seeders and Gary Hixenbaugh obtained the only two hits for the Jaycees — both singles.

Blair Norris and Gene Wright also pitched a two-hitter for the Lions as they blanked the Cumberland Optimists. Norris allowed only one hit in his six-inning stint, striking out seven. Larry Walker had three hits for the winners while Norris and Mike Baker each doubled. The latter also excelled at shortstop for the Lions.

Ralph Miller struck out 11 and gave up but two hits as he pitched the Outdoor Club to their fourth win in a row over B'nai B'rith. Mike Wilt was the loser with a six-hit effort.

A two-run single by Miller in the first scored all the runs the ODC righthander needed. Woody Dodrill banged out a triple for the winners in the sixth. The results:

AT MASON ROAD:

B'nai B'rith	001 000 0—1 2 0
Outdoor Club	200 001 x—3 6 0

Mike Wilt and Larry Sidaway, Billy Reed (6), Ralph Miller and Gus Caporale.

AT FORT HILL:

Elks	002 200 0—4 4 1
Kiwanis	103 101 x—6 4 3

Nick Perlozzo and Jim Joyce, Robert Klingler and Dennis McCormick.

AT PENN AVENUE:
First Game:

Lions	100 040 0—5 10 2
Cumberland Optimists	000 000 0—0 2 2

Blair Norris, Gene Wright (6) and Larry Walker, Mike Stegmaier and Stan Twigg, Stevenson (7).
Winner—Norris.

Second Game:

Salvation Army	111 001 0—4 8 2
Jaycees	000 110 0—2 2 1

Larry Wolfe and Ed Hendrickson, Bing Rotruck (6), Steve Walters, Bob Powell (4) and Donnie Sewell.

Cubs Defeat Giants, 3-2

Altman's Homer In 10th Decides

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — George Altman's two-run homer in the 10th inning followed by some clutch relief pitching on the part of Don Cardwell brought the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory Wednesday over the San Francisco Giants, who lost their fourth consecutive game.

Altman cracked a 1-1 tie when he powered a 420-foot blast over the center field fence off lefthander Billy O'Dell after Ken Hubbs had singled for his third hit of the day.

It was the 15th home run for Altman and Cardwell made the lead stand up after the Giants had tagged Bob Buhl for a run in the bottom of the 10th.

Buhl, who got the win and now is 8-8, was taken out with one down after Willie Mays had scored Harvey Kuenn with a double. Then Cardwell needed only two pitches to make Orlando Cepeda foul out to catcher Cuno Barragan and retire Felipe Alou on a fly.

Franklin Beats Cumberland, 5-2

Midland Is Victor At Westernport, 7-3

Franklin's tail-enders handed the Cumberland Comets their sixth straight setback in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday, winning 5-2 at Barton behind the seven-hit pitching of Bob White.

The win was only the third this year for Franklin while Cumberland suffered its 10th loss. Ivan Abe was the loser despite allowing Franklin only six hits.

Bill Bennett paced the victors at the plate with a pair of singles while Roland had two bingles for Cumberland.

In another Twilight tilt at Westernport, Midland notched its 16th win with a 7-3 decision over Westernport. Jim Winters was the victor with relief help in the seventh from Paul Thompson. Dick Wilson absorbed the defeat.

Fay Often obtained two of Midland's six hits while Jim Droppleman had a pair of singles and Dave Coleman smacked a two-run double in the sixth inning for the losers. The results:

AT BARTON:

Little Moes Belt Corriganville, 20-4; Cresaptown Victor

The Frostburg Little Moes scored four runs in four different innings as they walloped Corriganville, 20-4, yesterday in a Bi-State Pony League game at Frostburg.

The win was the seventh for the Little Moes while Corriganville went down to its 14th loss. Jim Chaney struck out 14 and allowed only four hits in going the route for Frostburg.

Pacing the 18-hit assault for the Little Moes were Chaney with a home run, triple and two singles and Jerry Groves two home runs, a triple and a single. Homers also were hit by Greg Harper and Phil Colossimo for the winners.

Rich Mellott was the big gun for Corriganville with a single and a home run.

At Shehan Field in LaVale the LaVale Pirates lost to Cresaptown, 8-6, with Tom Sindy going the distance for the victors although allowing 13 hits.

Bob Wilt cracked out a home run and double, Paul Kemp hit for the circuit and Gary Phillips smashed a homer and single for Cresaptown. Dave Fix had four hits for the Pirates.

Twins Edge Orioles 3-1 In Eleventh

Kaat's Triple Drives In Deciding Tallies

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Pitcher Jim Kaat belted in the tie-breaking run in the 11th inning and hustled his hit into a triple which led to a cushion run that gave the Minnesota Twins a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and Robin Roberts Wednesday night.

The 35-year-old Roberts, who dueled magnificently with the 23-year-old Kaat, gave up a lead-off single to rookie Bernie Allen in the 11th. Orlando Martinez then struck out, attempting to bunt, setting the stage for Kaat's line drive which rolled to the center field fence.

Kaat beat center-fielder Jackie Brandt's throw to third base with a fallaway slide and scored on Vic Power's squeeze bunt. Kaat struck out 12 and Roberts 9.

The Orioles had tied the game in the third inning when, with one out, Whitey Herzog was hit by a pitch on the right elbow and was replaced by pinch-runner Dave Nicholson. Brandt's double moved Nicholson to third and he scored on Brooks Robinson's sacrifice fly.

Minnesota scored its first run in the first inning when Vic Power singled with one out, went to second when Harmon Killebrew walked and scored on Bob Allison's two-out single.

Detroit Rally Beats A's, 6-5

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe's single with two out in the ninth inning capped a three-run rally by the Detroit Tigers and brought them a 6-5 victory over Kansas City in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday night.

The Tigers went into the ninth behind 5-3 and their first two batters were easy victims of reliever Danny McDevitt.

But McDevitt walked the next two batters before veteran knuckle-baller Granny Hamner came in and filled the bases with another walk.

Nat Errors Help Bouton Win Fifth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The New York Yankees packed all their scoring punch into the first three innings Wednesday night to trim the Washington Senators, 6-4, in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The Senators were guilty of five errors—four in the third inning when the Yankees collected their last three runs. Rookie Jim Bouton got credit for his fifth win against two losses but had to put down a last-inning Senator threat.

Bouton, who struck out nine, was nicked for a run in the second when he gave up a walk, a single to Bud Zipfel and a sacrifice fly. Zipfel homered for another run in the eighth. In the ninth Bouton was clipped for a triple by Chuck Hinton, singles by Zipfel and Harry Bright for two runs but struck out pinch-hitter Don Lock to preserve the win.

Dan Indians Top Angels, 15-9, To Tie For Second

Exploding for nine runs in the second inning, the Indians went on to beat the Angels, 15-9, yesterday in a Dan Division contest at Leiper Street field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

The triumph enabled the Indians to tie the Dodgers for second place with a 9-4 record. The loss knocked the Angels out of any possibility for a playoff berth in their first season in the league.

Mike Shepherd was the winning pitcher, allowing only five hits, and banging out a home run and two singles to aid his own cause. Mike Mullaney and Joe Reed also chipped in with home runs for the Indians. Duckworth had a homer and double for the losers. The results:

Indians	190 203—15 8 3

Stocks Begin New Month With Decline; Volume Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened the new month with their first setback in six sessions Wednesday. However, trading wilted on the decline indicating an absence of demand rather than significant selling pressure.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index dropped 0.48 while in the Dow-Jones averages, industrials faded 6.57, rails slid 0.40 and utilities fell 0.32. Trading dwindled to 3,100,000 shares from 4,190,000 in the previous session.

General Public Utilities ranked as the day's most active issue unchanged on 99,700 shares.

During the session, 1,239 issues were traded. A total of 345 advanced, one reaching a new high for the year, and 665 declined, five touching new lows.

Losses in the leading oils, motors and steels were small but chemicals fell more heavily, with DuPont off 2¼ and Kodak 2⅛.

The only utility standout was Houston Lighting which tumbled 1⅞. After the close it announced a dividend boost.

Richardson - Merrell bucked a generally lower drug trend with a gain of 2¼. The issue had been slumping sharply owing to a grand jury investigation of a drug it withdrew from the market, and the fact that a subsidiary of the firm is U.S. licensee for "thalidomide" which has been associated with the births of deformed children.

Midland-Gilmore, Zihlman-Keyser Games Set Today

The race for the Twilight Baseball League pennant resumes today with Midland at Gilmore, Zihlman at Keyser and Barton meeting Franklin at Westernport in the top games of the day.

Midland and Keyser are tied for first place with 15-6 records and Barton is breathing down their backs with a 16-7 mark. Westernport occupies fourth place in the nine club circuit with 10 wins and six losses.

Each team plays a schedule of 32 games with the season ending August 30.

The fourth game on today's card finds Westernport engaging Lonaconing at the latter place. Cumberland's Comets are idle today.

All games are schceduled to get under way at 5:30 p. m.

Golf Tourney Set

NEW YORK (AP) —The 1963 Women's National Amateur Golf Championship will be played at the Taconic Club in Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 19-24, it was announced Wednesday by Joe C. Day Jr., executive director of the United States Golf Association.

TENNIS AT 76—Gone is middle-aged, paunchy Papa's alibi he's too old for the exertions of tennis for here is Fred Cooper of Salinas, Calif., still playing a good game at age 76. Cooper has been playing tennis since 50 years ago when a doctor told him it would be a healthy relief from his desk job.

Dapper Cardinals Beat Orioles, 12-0, For 12th Victory

Herb Roby, making his first pitching start of the season, hurled a one-hitter yesterday as the Cardinals notched their 12th win in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League with a 12-0 triumph over the Orioles at Constitution Park.

Roby struck out six and walked only one batter while giving up a fifth-inning double to Mark Buser. The Cardinals closed out their regular season with a 12-2 mark, losing only to the Giants and Pirates.

Jim Stewart, Walt Davis and Dave Coffman each belted a double and single to pace the Cardinals attack. Pat Adams and Ed Hollen chipped in with two-baggers also for the winners. Dick Alderton was the losing pitcher. The results:

Cardinals	331	302—12 10 1

Herb Roby and Jim Morgan, Rich Cornwell (4), Ken LaGratta (5), Dick Alderton, Greg Snyder (5) and Billy Senns.

Loser—Alderton.

DASHING DEBUT

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball's bright new stars are gonna be tough to beat the rest of the way.

They're threatening to run off with both batting crowns, both runs-batted-in championships, one home run title and maybe even a most valuable player award or two.

The two all star games this year proved at least one thing: There's plenty of new star-style talent around headed by Tommy Davis of the Dodgers and Leon Wagner of the Angels.

Some are rookies, some are just hitting their anticipated strides and some — like Wagner — are guys who just wouldn't take "no!" for an answer when previous employers turned thumbs down.

Defense Poor

Wagner, a glory-grabber in the second all star game with both his bat and glove, couldn't make it with either the Giants or Cardinals in the National League because his defense work in the outfield ranged from "indifferent" to "butchery."

Constant work shagging fungoes in pre-game drills made him more than adequate afield as he arrived for a last chance with the new Los Angeles Angels in '61. And his bat has been doing the rest of the talking ever since.

Wagner hit 28 homers last season and matched that on July 29, putting him near the top in the current homer derby. At the second all star break, he led the league in RBI's with 74.

Davis is in his third full season with the Dodgers, doing precisely the things predicted for him three springs back. His .353 led National League hitters at the all-star break and he topped both leagues with 106 runs batted in.

Jimenez Threatens

Manny Jimenez, Kansas City rookie outfielder, is challenging veteran Pete Runnels of Boston for the American League batting title (both were .332 on Tuesday) and there's still a chance for slugger Floyd Robinson of the White Sox (.320) to get a piece of it.

Robinson and Billy Williams of the Cubs are the best examples of young players who are making their second full year as good as their first.

1960 Valiant

It's interior has been covered with plastic covers and the original upholstery has never been sat on. You could look a long time for one nearly as nice, so come on in and drive it.

Your present newspaper carrier may one day be a prominent businessman dealing in stocks and bonds or maybe even publishing his own newspaper. The valuable training this junior executive receives on his own carrier route (handling of finances, responsibility, dependability) will help initiate him into the world of business.

Perhaps the next time your local carrier delivers your newspaper, you'll look at him and speculate .... Banker?, Lawyer?, Successful Businessman?

Stocks Begin New Month With Decline; Volume Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened the new month with their first setback in six sessions Wednesday. However, trading wilted on the decline indicating an absence of demand rather than significant selling pressure.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index dropped 0.48 while in the Dow-Jones averages, industrials faded 6.57, rails slid 0.40 and utilities fell 0.32. Trading dwindled to 3,100,000 shares from 4,190,000 in the previous session.

General Public Utilities ranked as the day's most active issue unchanged on 99,700 shares.

During the session, 1,239 issues were traded. A total of 345 advanced, one reaching a new high for the year, and 665 declined, five touching new lows.

Losses in the leading oils, motors and steels were small but chemicals fell more heavily, with DuPont off 2¼ and Kodak 2⅛.

The only utility standout was Houston Lighting which tumbled 1⅞. After the close it announced a dividend boost.

Richardson - Merrell bucked a generally lower drug trend with a gain of 2¼. The issue had been slumping sharply owing to a grand jury investigation of a drug it withdrew from the market, and the fact that a subsidiary of the firm is U.S. licensee for "thalidomide" which has been associated with the births of deformed children.

Loan Granted To Plan County Sewage System

Project Will Cover Potomac Park Area

Senator J. Glenn Beall announced yesterday approval has been given for a $22,500 advance for preliminary planning of a sanitary sewage system to serve Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Roberts Place.

Sen. Beall said he was advised of the action by Commissioner Sidney H. Woolner of the Community Facilities Administration.

The estimated cost of the system project is $887,100.

The applicant, Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc., reported that the project will be located in an area outside Cumberland, will serve 2,135 persons, and is in a redevelopment area.

Officials of the sanitary district reported the population of its district is growing rapidly and present methods of individual sewage disposal have been unsuccessful and have resulted in a potential health hazard.

They estimated that construction of the project would begin in July 1963.

This project is being assisted under the Program of Advances for Public Works Planning, authorized by the Housing Act of 1954 as amended.

Semi-Invalid Aged Persons Need Homes

An appeal to county residents to take aged semi-invalids into their homes was made yesterday by the Allegany County Health Department and Welfare Board and Commission on Problems of the Aging.

The critical need for nursing or care homes for the aged was stressed by representatives of the agencies who said that it has become increasingly difficult to place aged semi-invalids after they have been discharged from hospitals. Nursing homes in the two counties are overcrowded and the only thing left is to try to place them in private homes.

Some of the semi-invalids have Social Security pensions and some have no income. However the Welfare Board will pay the difference in board for those with income and the entire board for those without. This would provide extra income for persons who would undertake boarding the patients in their homes.

Over 11 per cent of Allegany County population is over age 65, one of the highest such ratios in the state. Surveys taken by state and county commissions on the aging estimate that 125 more beds are needed in the county to take care of the older citizens. More nursing and care homes would release hospital beds for the critically ill.

Information concerning boarding of these aged semi-invalids can be obtained at the Health Department or at the Welfare Board office.

Y Cave Trip Has Vacancies

There are still plenty of vacancies for a YMCA-sponsored bus trip to Skyline Caverns, Va., on Saturday, Benjamin F. Haines, program director at the Y, said last night.

Mr. Haines said 70 children have signed up for the trip, which originally was to have been made in one chartered bus. The demand caused the Y to hire another bus.

The group will leave at 8 a. m. Saturday and return Saturday evening. Any child in the community may go if his parents register him by calling the Y and paying a small trip fee if he is a non-member. Parents also are welcome on the trip.

23 Apply For City Job Openings

A total of 23 applications were received at the city clerk's office yesterday for job openings which were advertised Tuesday.

Six applications were received for policeman; 10 for fireman; four for water filter plant operator, and three for sewage treatment plan operator.

Applications may be obtained at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and must be returned by 5 p. m. August 17.

Moorefield Girl Receives Crown

Deborah Sindy, a senior at Moorefield High School, last night was crowned Miss West Virginia Poultry Queen.

Miss Sindy, who was sponsored by the South Branch Valley National Bank, was crowned by John Kelly, state treasurer of West Virginia.

Second place in the contest was won by Kay Judy Harper of Moorefield, who was sponsored by Harper's Central Dairy. Julia Hartman, Petersburg, was the third place winner. She was sponsored by the NPIP Hatcheries.

A capacity crowd attended the contest which was held in the Moorefield Fire Hall. The event is one of the highlights of the annual West Virginia Poultry Festival and Convention which opened Monday and will continue through Saturday.

Some 21 contestants took part in the contest.

Tomorrow, Queen Deborah and her princesses will be guests of the Woman's Club of Moorefield at brunch at the Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall.

Later in the day the queen and her court will take part in a large parade which will begin at 6:30 p. m. The annual queen's ball will be held Saturday night in Moorefield High School's gymnasium.

City Voting Rolls Drop

The number of registered city voters decreased by 37 during the month of July, according to a report released yesterday by the Registration Office.

Seventeen new voters were recorded during the month but 54 names were removed from the books because the voters had moved out of the city or were deceased.

The registration books show a total of 10,446 voters registered at the end of July as compared with 10,483 the previous month.

Appeal Hearing Is Rescheduled

The Allegany County Board of Zoning Appeals has rescheduled a hearing for Wednesday, August 8 at 2 p. m. in the Court House in connection with a permit for storage and dismantling of used cars and sale of new parts in the Dutch Hollow area of Mt. Savage.

The hearing was originally scheduled for July 26 but was postponed when the board was unable to obtain the services of a stenographer to record the proceedings.

James M. Sacco of Sand Patch, Pa., is appealing to the board to issue him a permit to conduct the business at that location.

Artillery To Parade

The Old German Artillery, reactivated Civil War Union unit, will participate in the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Firemen's parade Friday. The artillery will fire its Civil War mountain pack howitzer several times along the parade route.

Four Physical Education Resource Teachers Hired

The appointment of four resource teachers in physical education for pupils of grades one to six in elementary public schools of Allegany County was announced yesterday by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education.

The two teachers who will provide guidance for regular elementary teachers in Cumberland area schools are Charles W. Waltman, a native of Hyndman, Pa., and Mrs. Doris M. Giornesto, city.

Bruce W. May of Frostburg has been assigned to Frostburg area schools, and Robert W. Miller, Lonaconing, has been assigned to elementary schools in the George's Creek area.

The four teachers also will be in charge of intramural programs after school hours in order that all youngsters will get an opportunity to participate in physical education activities.

This is the first time the resource teachers have been appointed in the county school system, according to Mr. Pence, who said it is a "big step" toward improving the physical fitness of the youngsters.

Mr. Waltman is working on his master's degree in physical education at Colorado State College in Greeley and will return to the county to assume his new duties when the public schools open early next month.

A graduate of Hyndman High School, he continued his studies at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas, where he received a B.S. degree in health and physical education.

He has had teaching experience, having taught one year of elementary physical education at St. Luke's Episcopal Church School in San Antonio and two years at Northwood Elementary School in that Texas city.

Mrs. Giornesto, who graduated from Ashland (Pa.) High School, received her B. S. degree in health and physical education at Westchester (Pa.) State Teachers College.

She has done advanced work at Penn State, and for 10 years taught at Tussey Mountain High School, Saxton, Pa. This year she taught at Piedmont High School.

Mr. May, who was an outstanding athlete at Hyndman High School where he graduated, received a B.S. degree in junior high school education at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He has had teaching experience at Middletown Elementary School, Elm Street School, Frederick, and at Mt. Savage Junior High School. While at Frederick he was in charge of the swimming program of the city.

Mr. Miller graduated from Central High School in Lonaconing and received a B.S. degree in elementary education at Frostburg State Teachers College. He has been sixth grade teacher at East Side School for six years.

Campers Leave Today For Tour Across Nation

Twelve local youngsters and four adults plan to leave here this morning about 5:30 for a camping trip to Seattle where they will see the World's Fair.

They will travel in small buses which carried a similar group across country and return during June and July.

Victor McKay is tour director. The trip will take a month and the campers will see interesting places of the United States in their travels.

Six Dwelling Permits Issued By County

Six permits for construction of dwellings in various sections of Allegany County were issued between July 24-31 at the office of the County Planning and Zoning Commission at the Court House.

Victor A. Livengood was issued a permit to build a frame dwelling on Wilson Road, and Garrett Hansford was issued a permit to build a frame dwelling along U. S. Route 220.

A brick dwelling on North Cardinal Drive, Mexico Farms is to be built by Clyde S. Slider. Another brick dwelling is to be constructed on Mexico Farms Road by Raymond T. White.

Ray J. Devault plans to construct a frame home on Morgan Street in Frostburg.

The swimming pool permit was issued to the Maplehurst Country Club of Frostburg.

The degree team is planning rehearsals for the initiation of a class to be designated the Diamond Jubilee class in honor of the order's 75th anniversary, which is being observed this year.

County Water Supply Discussed

The Emergency Planning Committee of Allegany County met yesterday to discuss the available water supply in the county in case of an emergency.

Members of the unit include Miss Elizabeth Hoover, local manager of the U. S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office; Martin M. Gordon, conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, and Joseph M. Steger, farm agent for Allegany County.

Mr. Gordon outlined to the two other members all the wells and springs which are known in the county and the amount available daily from each source.

Civil War Units To 'Fight' Two Battles On Weekend

The Cumberland Continentals and the Old German Artillery, local reactivated Civil War units, will take part in two battle re-enactments and hold an overnight bivouac this weekend.

Members of the Continentals will leave Johnson's restaurant on West Virginia Route 28 at 11 a.m. Saturday for Strasburg, Va., where they and the Old Germans are scheduled to be in the "battle of Fisher's Hill."

The battle will be a re-enactment of an 1864 engagement between General Jubal Early's Confederate army and General Philip H. Sheridan's Federal troops.

On October 19 of that year, Early attacked a Union camp spread out along Cedar Creek just south of Strasburg. The Federals, taken by surprise, were nearly routed, but retired to a strong defensive position where General George Washington Getty's division made a stand. Sheridan, meanwhile, was on his way to Washington. Learning of the battle, he reinforced the Union lines at Fisher's Hill, launched a counter-attack and broke the Confederate line.

After an overnight bivouas at Strasburg, the Continentals will head for Baltimore to take part in a sham battle at Oriole Stadium before the Baltimore Orioles-Los Angeles Angels game. The battle, honoring Major General Abner Doubleday, Union general and founder of baseball, will be televised nationally at 1 p.m. Sunday. The Old German Artillery also will be in the battle.

Playlots Plan 'Stunt Or Skit' Event Tonight

Set For 8 P.M. In Park Amphitheatre

The second annual intra-city "stunt or skit" night with entries from all of the city's 14 playgrounds will be held at 8 p.m. today in the amphitheatre at Constitution Park.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place. Since the activity is a playground rather than an individual event, prizes will be games which can be used on the playlots.

The stunt or skit night was tried last year for the first time and proved so popular the Recreation Department decided to present it again.

The program for the intra-city event includes "Asleep in the Deep" by Centre Street Playground; "Night Baseball" by Gephart; a style show by Johnson Heights, "Ben Crazy" by Mapleside; "Don't Get Excited" by Patty Dorn and Susan Wilson, Mt. Royal Playground; "Voyage into Space," North End; "Three Chicks" by Penn Avenue; "The 10:25 to Chicago" by Pine Avenue; "A Fishing I Have Been," by Post; a fashion show by Ridgedale, and a "Before the Game," by Virginia Avenue Playground.

While the events are being judged, the Pine Avenue Rockettes, a dancing team of 10 girls, will present three numbers, Hitchhikers, Surplus and Mashed Potato.

Judges will be Mrs. Herman Koegel, co-director of the Kiwanis Club Sunshine Camp, and Mrs. Maxine Zehrbach, a volunteer recreation director.

Man Is Jailed In Theft Of Auto In Area

A former Green Springs, W. Va., man yesterday was ordered committed to the County Jail for 30 days in default of a $100 fine imposed on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Charles A. Dean, 25, who now resides in Rochester, N. Y., was found guilty by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett at a hearing yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court.

Dean was arrested Tuesday evening by Maryland State Police on a complaint by Richard Glaze, who said his car had been stolen while he was working near his home in Green Spring.

Dean, who has been visiting relatives in the Green Spring area the past several weeks, also was fined $15 for exceeding the speed limit and was given five days in default. However, Magistrate Barnett ruled the sentences may run concurrently.

Tfc. Willis E. Foreman and Tfc. Richard J. Graham made the arrest.

Fire Extinguished In Bel Air Addition

Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a brush fire yesterday afternoon in the Bel Air Housing Development.

The firemen responded with five men and two pieces of equipment and fought the blaze for over an hour. Approximately one-fourth of an acre was burned.

Reargument On Apportionment Appeal Sought

Citizens' Group Cites Decisions

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals was asked late Wednesday to grant reargument of a suit seeking more representation for metropolitan areas in the State Senate.

The request by the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation Inc., a citizens' group, cited recent decisions by federal courts in Alabama and Florida and a state court in Kansas.

In all of these cases, it said, reapportionment of the Senate was ordered as well as reapportionment of lower houses of the legislatures.

Maryland's House was reapportioned at a special session of the legislature last May after the courts declared invidious discrimination existed against metropolitan area residents. Nineteen more seats were added to the 123-member chamber, giving urban areas a majority for the first time in history.

Duckett Upheld

The committee then sought reapportionment of the Senate, presently made up of one senator from each county and one from each of six legislative districts in Baltimore City.

Judge O. Bowie Duckett ruled in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court that the Senate did not have to be related to population. The Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 split on July 23, upheld his ruling but has not yet filed an opinion giving its reasons.

"Recent cases very strongly suggest that if Judge Duckett's ruling is allowed to stand, Maryland will be alone and out of step with all the other states which have had occasion to pass on the question of whether a State Senate must be apportioned on a basis which takes population into some account," he said.

"As of this date, those states are Alabama, Florida, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Vermont . . . . "

He said the Alabama, Florida and Kansas decisions had come to hand since the latest Maryland arguments and have a bearing on the Maryland case since they require that population be taken into account in both houses.

Developments Elsewhere

Further developments also have occurred in reapportionment battles in other states, he said.

Scanlan said the Alabama case squarely "repudiated the analogy on which Judge Duckett attempted to rely" in holding that geography is a rational basis for apportionment of the Marlyand Senate since the U.S. Senate is based on geography.

"Equal protection of the laws prohibits a state from disregarding population completely, or from applying population on a discriminatory or irrational basis as among urban areas, in the upper house of its legislature," he contended.

"The 14th Amendment cannot require one thing in Alabama, Florida, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma and Tennessee, and less than that in Maryland."

In Maryland, counties with less than 15 per cent of the state's population elect a majority of senators.

SFC Dunlap At Shooting Match

SFC Graydon S. Dunlap, 117 Greene Street, is a member of a four-man team representing the Maryland National Guard in the National Pistol and Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

He is in competition with internationally known target shooters. The mile-long Camp Perry range on the shores of Lake Erie, is the largest in the world, and has been the scene of annual competition in pistol and rifle marksmanship since the national matches were established by act of Congress in 1903.

Furloughed B&O Men Recalled

300 Employes Will Return To Jobs

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employes in Cumberland, Keyser, W. Va., and Dubois, Pa., who were furloughed last month because of the annual vacation of coal miners are being called back to work.

A local railroad official said 24 employes of the Bolt and Forge shops will be called back this week.

Thirty-five employes returned to work at the coal hopper repair shops in Keyser yesterday and and additional 56 employes will go back to work on Monday.

A number of furloughed employes at the coal hopper repair shops in Dubois also will be returning to work.

Writ Petition Answer Filed In Court Here

An answer to a petition for a writ of mandamus filed last month in Allegany County Circuit Court by two Frostburg residents in connection with a building permit was filed yesterday by John C. Sullivan, attorney for the defendants.

The hearing on the petition, originally set for July 26, will be held at 10 a.m. August 14 before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court.

Roy Lawrence Warn and Virginia Lee Warn filed the petition for the writ requesting the Court to order the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg to issue a permit for the construction of an addition to a restaurant known as the Hen House at 65 Bowery Street.

The petition explains that Mrs. Warn on June 21 filed an application with the city clerk of Frostburg for a building permit to construct an additional 12-by-14-foot tin building to be used for take-out orders for hotdogs and hamburgers.

Through a misunderstanding, the Warns began to build the building and construct a metal fence around part of the yard. They were advised to cease construction and did so about July 1.

The petition for a building permit was denied by the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg on July 9.

Geological Unit Gets Trainee

Victor J. Rogosa, 19, of Chevy Chase, began a four-week training period this week at the U. S. Geological Survey, Water Resources Branch, at the local Post Office. He is the first trainee to serve at the local office in several years.

So far this summer he has trained for four weeks in quality water division and three weeks in the ground water division.

Mr. Rogosa graduated from high school in England where his father was in U. S. Public Health Service. He will begin his third year of pre-med school at Columbia University in September.

The local office, the Cumberland subdivision of College Park Surface Water Branch Resources division, maintains 19 gauges stationed in Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties.

A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge, and his staff keep a constant record of the stream flow in these areas, including location, drainage area, records, gauge, averages and discharge of the streams. These statistics are compiled for a bulletin of United States water resources, published each year.

CUF Approves Budgets For 30 Agencies

President Lauds Committee Work

Approved budgets for the 30 participating services of County United Fund have been announced by Woodward D. Pealer, CUF president.

The allocations for 1963 were set by the executive committee of CUF after it took into consideration the recommendations by the allocations committee which Mr. Pealer said spent weeks of intensive study of CUF agency needs and budget requirements.

Mr. Pealer lauded the allocations committee for its work in carefully considering the health, social service and youth needs of the CUF area, which embraces Allegany and Mineral counties. He paid particular tribute to the chairman, William A. Cook, plant accountant for Works 7 of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and his co-chairman, Duane L. Boyd, general chairman of Baltimore and Ohio and Allied Lines Joint Protective Board, who has volunteered his services to allocations committee work since CUF was organized six years ago.

The executive committee approved the following 1963 participating services' budgets.

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, $42,583; Mineral County Chapter, American Red Cross, $4,361; Piedmont Chapter American Red Cross, $1,955.

Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $4,000; Associated Charities, $46,917; Baby Welfare Society, $3,765; Potomac Council of Boy Scouts of America, $33,578; Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research, $5,000; Flintstone Health Center, $433.

Other Allocations

Lonaconing Health Center, $1,972; Midland Medical Center, $355; National Travelers Aid Association, $216; Piedmont Library, $1,433; Salvation Army, $43,163; South Cumberland Health Center, $1,511; United Charities of Keyser, $6,050; United Family Service of Frostburg, $12,122; United Organizations of Barton (no request since it had ample fund carryover from current year); United Organization of McCoole, $2,550; United Organization of Tri-Towns, $6,882; U. S. O., $2,381; Westernport Health Center, $1,440; Cumberland YMCA, $46,749; and West Virginia-Mineral County YMCA, $600.

Mr. Pealer noted that no allocation was made to the Keyser-Mineral County Library since it will withdray from CUF participation because of a new tax-supported library system in Mineral County.

Referring to the CUF theme of "more services for more people at less cost," Mr. Pealer pointed out that agencies have grown with CUF so that they need a larger budget to carry out operations and a record goal of $406,067 has been set for the 1962 campaign. Meanwhile, costs and campaign expenses of CUF went down, he stated.

Costs Being Cut

Last year, $22,251 was allocated for CUF operations, Mr. Pealer said, but this year the amount continued to decrease and it now is down to $21,910.

Campaign expenses last year were $8,267, but this year they are down to $7,899.

The executive committee and allocations committee, which met with representatives of the various agencies to discuss the needs, took into account all community services when setting the goal, Mr. Pealer commented.

"They were quite aware of Boy and Girl Scouts' aim of developing children's character and patriotism so they might become resourceful citizens; of the Health Research & Services Foundation's aim to provide research and direct aid to the 'whole man' no matter what disease or ailment he has; of all the family service and united organizations whose services range from providing shoes for the barefooted to caring for lonesome senior citizens; of the ever-growing YMCA programs catering to all youth's needs and recreation, as well as community culture and health programs; of the health centers for their contributions to baby and adult alike; and of Associated Charities, whose contributions in time of personal, family and community distress is a tribute unto itself," Mr. Pealer said.

Washington County Museum Of Arts Paintings On Display At Local College

The fourth group in a series of paintings being loaned to Allegany Community College by the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts, Hagerstown, is now on display at the college offices, said Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president.

William Smerling, college registrar, said three paintings by well-known artists comprise the current series on loan to the college until about the first of September.

Mr. Smerling and Bruce Etchison, director of the Museum, made arrangements for the loan of the various paintings to the college in a cultural program.

Color slides of the paintings will be taken and enlarged for display in the window of the Chamber of Commerce office, Baltimore and Liberty streets, and will be placed there on Saturday or Monday.

On loan to the college now are paintings by Leonard Creo, a native of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Stanley Woodward, who was born in Malden, Mass., and Lola Frantz, a native of Jennings, La.

Mr. Creo studied at the Art Student's League in New York, went to Florence, Italy in 1953 set on going to the Belle Arti to learn how to draw.

A year and a half later he had a showing of 23 oils in Milan, had exhibited in Rome and won prizes including one from the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs for the most outstanding young foreign artist.

Mr. Woodward was educated in Boston with an additional three years between the Museum School and the Pennsylvania Academy. He is represented in museums and private collections throughout the country and by many is considered the foremost marine painter of the day.

Lola Frantz studied at George Peabody College, Louisiana State University and Vanderbilt University. She has exhibited in cities of the South and at the University of Maryland. Her paintings hang in many institutional and private collections.

Loan Granted To Plan County Sewage System

Project Will Cover Potomac Park Area

Senator J. Glenn Beall announced yesterday approval has been given for a $22,500 advance for preliminary planning of a sanitary sewage system to serve Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Roberts Place.

Sen. Beall said he was advised of the action by Commissioner Sidney H. Woolner of the Community Facilities Administration.

The estimated cost of the system project is $887,100.

The applicant, Allegany County Sanitary District, Inc., reported that the project will be located in an area outside Cumberland, will serve 2,135 persons, and is in a redevelopment area.

Officials of the sanitary district reported the population of its district is growing rapidly and present methods of individual sewage disposal have been unsuccessful and have resulted in a potential health hazard.

They estimated that construction of the project would begin in July 1963.

This project is being assisted under the Program of Advances for Public Works Planning, authorized by the Housing Act of 1954 as amended.

Semi-Invalid Aged Persons Need Homes

An appeal to county residents to take aged semi-invalids into their homes was made yesterday by the Allegany County Health Department and Welfare Board and Commission on Problems of the Aging.

The critical need for nursing or care homes for the aged was stressed by representatives of the agencies who said that it has become increasingly difficult to place aged semi-invalids after they have been discharged from hospitals. Nursing homes in the two counties are overcrowded and the only thing left is to try to place them in private homes.

Some of the semi-invalids have Social Security pensions and some have no income. However the Welfare Board will pay the difference in board for those with income and the entire board for those without. This would provide extra income for persons who would undertake boarding the patients in their homes.

Over 11 per cent of Allegany County population is over age 65, one of the highest such ratios in the state. Surveys taken by state and county commissions on the aging estimate that 125 more beds are needed in the county to take care of the older citizens. More nursing and care homes would release hospital beds for the critically ill.

Information concerning boarding of these aged semi-invalids can be obtained at the Health Department or at the Welfare Board office.

Y Cave Trip Has Vacancies

There are still plenty of vacancies for a YMCA-sponsored bus trip to Skyline Caverns, Va., on Saturday, Benjamin F. Haines, program director at the Y, said last night.

Mr. Haines said 70 children have signed up for the trip, which originally was to have been made in one chartered bus. The demand caused the Y to hire another bus.

The group will leave at 8 a. m. Saturday and return Saturday evening. Any child in the community may go if his parents register him by calling the Y and paying a small trip fee if he is a nonmember. Parents also are welcome on the trip.

23 Apply For City Job Openings

A total of 23 applications were received at the city clerk's office yesterday for job openings which were advertised Tuesday.

Six applications were received for policeman; 10 for fireman; four for water filter plant operator, and three for sewage treatment plan operator.

Applications may be obtained at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and must be returned by 5 p. m. August 17.

Moorefield Girl Receives Crown

Deborah Sindy, a senior at Moorefield High School, last night was crowned Miss West Virginia Poultry Queen.

Miss Sindy, who was sponsored by the South Branch Valley National Bank, was crowned by John Kelly, state treasurer of West Virginia.

Second place in the contest was won by Kay Judy Harper of Moorefield, who was sponsored by Harper's Central Dairy. Julia Hartman, Petersburg, was the third place winner. She was sponsored by the NPIP Hatcheries.

A capacity crowd attended the contest which was held in the Moorefield Fire Hall. The event is one of the highlights of the annual West Virginia Poultry Festival and Convention which opened Monday and will continue through Saturday.

Some 21 contestants took part in the contest.

Much of the judging took part earlier in the day when the girls attended a luncheon at the Hotel McNeil with the judges.

Tomorrow, Queen Deborah and her princesses will be guests of the Woman's Club of Moorefield at brunch at the Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall.

Later in the day the queen and her court will take part in a large parade which will begin at 6:30 p. m. The annual queen's ball will be held Saturday night in Moorefield High School's gymnasium.

City Voting Rolls Drop

The number of registered city voters decreased by 37 during the month of July, according to a report released yesterday by the Registration Office.

Seventeen new voters were recorded during the month but 54 names were removed from the books because the voters had moved out of the city or were deceased.

The registration books show a total of 10,446 voters registered at the end of July as compared with 10,483 the previous month.

Appeal Hearing Is Rescheduled

The Allegany County Board of Zoning Appeals has rescheduled a hearing for Wednesday, August 8 at 2 p. m. in the Court House in connection with a permit for storage and dismantling of used cars and sale of new parts in the Dutch Hollow area of Mt. Savage.

The hearing was originally scheduled for July 26 but was postponed when the board was unable to obtain the services of a stenographer to record the proceedings.

James M. Sacco of Sand Patch, Pa., is appealing to the board to issue him a permit to conduct the business at that location.

Artillery To Parade

The Old German Artillery, reactivated Civil War Union unit, will participate in the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Firemen's parade Friday. The artillery will fire its Civil War mountain pack howitzer several times along the parade route.

Four Physical Education Resource Teachers Hired

The appointment of four resource teachers in physical education for pupils of grades one to six in elementary public schools of Allegany County was announced yesterday by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education.

The two teachers who will provide guidance for regular elementary teachers in Cumberland area schools are Charles W. Waltman, a native of Hyndman, Pa., and Mrs. Doris M. Giornesto, city.

Bruce W. May of Frostburg has been assigned to Frostburg area schools, and Robert W. Miller, Lonaconing, has been assigned to elementary schools in the George's Creek area.

The four teachers also will be in charge of intramural programs after school hours in order that all youngsters will get an opportunity to participate in physical education activities.

This is the first time the resource teachers have been appointed in the county school system, according to Mr. Pence, who said it is a "big step" toward improving the physical fitness of the youngsters.

Mr. Waltman is working on his master's degree in physical education at Colorado State College in Greeley and will return to the county to assume his new duties when the public schools open early next month.

A graduate of Hyndman High School, he continued his studies at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas, where he received a B.S. degree in health and physical education.

He has had teaching experience, having taught one year of elementary physical education at St. Luke's Episcopal Church School in San Antonio and two years at Northwood Elementary School in that Texas city.

Mrs. Giornesto, who graduated from Ashland (Pa.) High School, received her B. S. degree in health and physical education at Westchester (Pa.) State Teachers College.

She has done advanced work at Penn State, and for 10 years taught at Tussey Mountain High School, Saxton, Pa. This year she taught at Piedmont High School.

Mr. May, who was an outstanding athlete at Hyndman High School where he graduated, received a B.S. degree in junior high school education at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He has had teaching experience at Middletown Elementary School, Elm Street School, Frederick, and at Mt. Savage Junior High School. While at Frederick he was in charge of the swimming program of the city.

Mr. Miller graduated from Central High School in Lonaconing and received a B.S. degree in elementary education at Frostburg State Teachers College. He has been sixth grade teacher at East Side School for six years.

Campers Leave Today For Tour Across Nation

Twelve local youngsters and four adults plan to leave here this morning about 5:30 for a camping trip to Seattle where they will see the World's Fair.

They will travel in small buses which carried a similar group across country and return during June and July.

Victor McKay is tour director. The trip will take a month and the campers will see interesting places of the United States in their travels.

Six Dwelling Permits Issued By County

Six permits for construction of dwellings in various sections of Allegany County were issued between July 24-31 at the office of the County Planning and Zoning Commission at the Court House.

Other permits include the construction of a swimming pool, garages, additions to present buildings as well as construction of driveways.

Victor A. Livengood was issued a permit to build a frame dwelling on Wilson Road, and Garrett Hansford was issued a permit to build a frame dwelling along U. S. Route 220.

A brick dwelling on North Cardinal Drive, Mexico Farms is to be built by Clyde S. Slider. Another brick dwelling is to be constructed on Mexico Farms Road by Raymond T. White.

Ray J. Devault plans to construct a frame home on Morgan Street in Frostburg.

A brick veneer dwelling will be constructed on Route 36 by Wilbert Broadwater.

The swimming pool permit was issued to the Maplehurst Country Club of Frostburg.

The classes are open to the public, and interested persons may register by calling Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross office, PA 2-1760.

UCT To Meet Saturday

Council 179, Order of United Commercial Travelers of America, will hold its monthly meeting in Junior Order hall, Polk Street, Saturday at 7:30 p. m., with James A. Brant, senior councilor, presiding.

The committee on the recent picnic at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club grounds will report.

The degree team is planning rehearsals for the initiation of a class to be designated the Diamond Jubilee class in honor of the order's 75th anniversary, which is being observed this year.

County Water Supply Discussed

The Emergency Planning Committee of Allegany County met yesterday to discuss the available water supply in the county in case of an emergency.

Members of the unit include Miss Elizabeth Hoover, local manager of the U. S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office; Martin M. Gordon, conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, and Joseph M. Steger, farm agent for Allegany County.

Mr. Gordon outlined to the two other members all the wells and springs which are known in the county and the amount available daily from each source.

Playlots Plan 'Stunt Or Skit' Event Tonight

Set For 8 P.M. In Park Amphitheatre

The second annual intra-city "stunt or skit" night with entries from all of the city's 14 playgrounds will be held at 8 p.m. today in the amphitheatre at Constitution Park.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, said prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place. Since the activity is a playground rather than an individual event, prizes will be games which can be used on the playlots.

The stunt or skit night was tried last year for the first time and proved so popular the Recreation Department decided to present it again.

The program for the intra-city event includes "Asleep in the Deep" by Centre Street Playground; "Night Baseball" by Gephart; a style show by Johnson Heights, "Ben Crazy" by Mapleside; "Don't Get Excited" by Patty Dorn and Susan Wilson, Mt. Royal Playground; "Voyage into Space," North End; "Three Chicks" by Penn Avenue; "The 10:25 to Chicago" by Pine Avenue; "A Fishing I Have Been," by Post; a fashion show by Ridgedale, and a "Before the Game," by Virginia Avenue Playground.

While the events are being judged, the Pine Avenue Rockettes, a dancing team of 10 girls, will present three numbers, Hitchhikers, Surplus and Mashed Potato.

Judges will be Mrs. Herman Koegel, co-director of the Kiwanis Club Sunshine Camp, and Mrs. Maxine Zehrbach, a volunteer recreation director.

Man Is Jailed In Theft Of Auto In Area

A former Green Springs, W. Va., man yesterday was ordered committed to the County Jail for 30 days in default of a $100 fine imposed on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Charles A. Dean, 25, who now resides in Rochester, N. Y., was found guilty by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett at a hearing yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court.

Dean was arrested Tuesday evening by Maryland State Police on a complaint by Richard Glaze, who said his car had been stolen while he was working near his home in Green Spring.

Dean, who has been visiting relatives in the Green Spring area the past several weeks, also was fined $15 for exceeding the speed limit and was given five days in default. However, Magistrate Barnett ruled the sentences may run concurrently.

Tfc. Willis E. Foreman and Tfc. Richard J. Graham made the arrest.

Fire Extinguished In Bel Air Addition

Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a brush fire yesterday afternoon in the Bel Air Housing Development.

The firemen responded with five men and two pieces of equipment and fought the blaze for over an hour. Approximately one-fourth of an acre was burned.

Reargument On Apportionment Appeal Sought

Citizens' Group Cites Decisions

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals was asked late Wednesday to grant reargument of a suit seeking more representation for metropolitan areas in the State Senate.

The request by the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation Inc., a citizens' group, cited recent decisions by federal courts in Alabama and Florida and a state court in Kansas.

In all of these cases, it said, reapportionment of the Senate was ordered as well as reapportionment of lower houses of the legislatures.

Maryland's House was reapportioned at a special session of the legislature last May after the courts declared invidious discrimination existed against metropolitan area residents. Nineteen more seats were added to the 123-member chamber, giving urban areas a majority for the first time in history.

Duckett Upheld

The committee then sought reapportionment of the Senate, presently made up of one senator from each county and one from each of six legislative districts in Baltimore City.

Judge O. Bowie Duckett ruled in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court that the Senate did not have to be related to population. The Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 split on July 23, upheld his ruling but has not yet filed an opinion giving its reasons.

The high state court interrupted a summer recess to hear the appeal.

Alfred L. Scanlan, counsel for the committee, asked that the court grant a re-argument of the Senate question after its return in September.

"Recent cases very strongly suggest that if Judge Duckett's ruling is allowed to stand, Maryland will be alone and out of step with all the other states which have had occasion to pass on the question of whether a State Senate must be apportioned on a basis which takes population into some account," he said.

"As of this date, those states are Alabama, Florida, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Vermont . . . . "

He said the Alabama, Florida and Kansas decisions had come to hand since the latest Maryland arguments and have a bearing on the Maryland case since they require that population be taken into account in both houses.

Developments Elsewhere

Further developments also have occurred in reapportionment battles in other states, he said.

Scanlan said the Alabama case squarely "repudiated the analogy on which Judge Duckett attempted to rely" in holding that geography is a rational basis for apportionment of the Marlyand Senate since the U.S. Senate is based on geography.

"Equal protection of the laws prohibits a state from disregarding population completely, or from applying population on a discriminatory or irrational basis as among urban areas, in the upper house of its legislature," he contended.

"The 14th Amendment cannot require one thing in Alabama, Florida, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma and Tennessee, and less than that in Maryland."

In Maryland, counties with less than 15 per cent of the state's population elect a majority of senators.

SFC Dunlap At Shooting Match

SFC Graydon S. Dunlap, 117 Greene Street, is a member of a four-man team representing the Maryland National Guard in the National Pistol and Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

He is in competition with internationally known target shooters. The mile-long Camp Perry range on the shores of Lake Erie, is the largest in the world, and has been the scene of annual competition in pistol and rifle marksmanship since the national matches were established by act of Congress in 1903.

Furloughed B&O Men Recalled

300 Employes Will Return To Jobs

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employes in Cumberland, Keyser, W. Va., and Dubois, Pa., who were furloughed last month because of the annual vacation of coal miners are being called back to work.

A local railroad official said 24 employes of the Bolt and Forge shops will be called back this week.

Thirty-five employes returned to work at the coal hopper repair shops in Keyser yesterday and and additional 56 employes will go back to work on Monday.

A number of furloughed employes at the coal hopper repair shops in Dubois also will be returning to work.

Writ Petition Answer Filed In Court Here

An answer to a petition for a writ of mandamus filed last month in Allegany County Circuit Court by two Frostburg residents in connection with a building permit was filed yesterday by John C. Sullivan, attorney for the defendants.

The hearing on the petition, originally set for July 26, will be held at 10 a.m. August 14 before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court.

Roy Lawrence Warn and Virginia Lee Warn filed the petition for the writ requesting the Court to order the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg to issue a permit for the construction of an addition to a restaurant known as the Hen House at 65 Bowery Street.

The petition explains that Mrs. Warn on June 21 filed an application with the city clerk of Frostburg for a building permit to construct an additional 12-by-14-foot tin building to be used for takeout orders for hotdogs and hamburgers.

Through a misunderstanding, the Warns began to build the building and construct a metal fence around part of the yard. They were advised to cease construction and did so about July 1.

The petition for a building permit was denied by the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg on July 9.

Geological Unit Gets Trainee

Victor J. Rogosa, 19, of Chevy Chase, began a four-week training period this week at the U. S. Geological Survey, Water Resources Branch, at the local Post Office. He is the first trainee to serve at the local office in several years.

So far this summer he has trained for four weeks in quality water division and three weeks in the ground water division.

Mr. Rogosa graduated from high school in England where his father was in U. S. Public Health Service. He will begin his third year of pre-med school at Columbia University in September.

The local office, the Cumberland subdivision of College Park Surface Water Branch Resources division, maintains 19 gauges stationed in Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties.

A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge, and his staff keep a constant record of the stream flow in these areas, including location, drainage area, records, gauge, averages and discharge of the streams. These statistics are compiled for a bulletin of United States water resources, published each year.

CUF Approves Budgets For 30 Agencies

President Lauds Committee Work

Approved budgets for the 30 participating services of County United Fund have been announced by Woodward D. Pealer, CUF president.

The allocations for 1963 were set by the executive committee of CUF after it took into consideration the recommendations by the allocations committee which Mr. Pealer said spent weeks of intensive study of CUF agency needs and budget requirements.

Mr. Pealer lauded the allocations committee for its work in carefully considering the health, social service and youth needs of the CUF area, which embraces Allegany and Mineral counties. He paid particular tribute to the chairman, William A. Cook, plant accountant for Works 7 of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and his co-chairman, Duane L. Boyd, general chairman of Baltimore and Ohio and Allied Lines Joint Protective Board, who has volunteered his services to allocations committee work since CUF was organized six years ago.

The executive committee approved the following 1963 participating services' budgets.

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, $42,583; Mineral County Chapter, American Red Cross, $4,361; Piedmont Chapter American Red Cross, $1,955.

Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $4,000; Associated Charities, $46,917; Baby Welfare Society, $3,765; Potomac Council of Boy Scouts of America, $33,578; Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research, $5,000; Flintstone Health Center, $433.

Other Allocations

Lonaconing Health Center, $1,972; Midland Medical Center, $355; National Travelers Aid Association, $216; Piedmont Library, $1,433; Salvation Army, $43,163; South Cumberland Health Center, $1,511; United Charities of Keyser, $6,050; United Family Service of Frostburg, $12,122; United Organizations of Barton (no request since it had ample fund carryover from current year); United Organization of McCoole, $2,550; United Organization of Tri-Towns, $6,882; U. S. O., $2,381; Westernport Health Center, $1,440; Cumberland YMCA, $46,749; and West Virginia-Mineral County YMCA, $600.

Mr. Pealer noted that no allocation was made to the Keyser-Mineral County Library since it will withdray from CUF participation because of a new tax-supported library system in Mineral County.

Referring to the CUF theme of "more services for more people at less cost," Mr. Pealer pointed out that agencies have grown with CUF so that they need a larger budget to carry out operations and a record goal of $406,067 has been set for the 1962 campaign. Meanwhile, costs and campaign expenses of CUF went down, he stated.

Costs Being Cut

Last year, $22,251 was allocated for CUF operations, Mr. Pealer said, but this year the amount continued to decrease and it now is down to $21,910.

Campaign expenses last year were $8,267, but this year they are down to $7,899.

The executive committee and allocations committee, which met with representatives of the various agencies to discuss the needs, took into account all community services when setting the goal, Mr. Pealer commented.

"They were quite aware of Boy and Girl Scouts' aim of developing children's character and patriotism so they might become resourceful citizens; of the Health Research & Services Foundation's aim to provide research and direct aid to the 'whole man' no matter what disease or ailment he has; of all the family service and united organizations whose services range from providing shoes for the barefooted to caring for lonesome senior citizens; of the ever-growing YMCA programs catering to all youth's needs and recreation, as well as community culture and health programs; of the health centers for their contributions to baby and adult alike; and of Associated Charities, whose contributions in time of personal, family and community distress is a tribute unto itself," Mr. Pealer said.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Civil War Units To 'Fight' Two Battles On Weekend

The Cumberland Continentals and the Old German Artillery, local reactivated Civil War units, will take part in two battle re-enactments and hold an overnight bivouac this weekend.

Members of the Continentals will leave Johnson's restaurant on West Virginia Route 28 at 11 a.m. Saturday for Strasburg, Va., where they and the Old Germans are scheduled to be in the "battle of Fisher's Hill."

The battle will be a re-enactment of an 1864 engagement between General Jubal Early's Confederate army and General Philip H. Sheridan's Federal troops.

On October 19 of that year, Early attacked a Union camp spread out along Cedar Creek just south of Strasburg. The Federals, taken by surprise, were nearly routed, but retired to a strong defensive position where General George Washington Getty's division made a stand. Sheridan, meanwhile, was on his way to Washington. Learning of the battle, he reinforced the Union lines at Fisher's Hill, launched a counter-attack and broke the Confederate line.

After an overnight bivouas at Strasburg, the Continentals will head for Baltimore to take part in a sham battle at Oriole Stadium before the Baltimore Orioles-Los Angeles Angels game. The battle, honoring Major General Abner Doubleday, Union general and founder of baseball, will be televised nationally at 1 p.m. Sunday. The Old German Artillery also will be in the battle.

Washington County Museum Of Arts Paintings On Display At Local College

The fourth group in a series of paintings being loaned to Allegany Community College by the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts, Hagerstown, is now on display at the college offices, said Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president.

William Smerling, college registrar, said three paintings by well-known artists comprise the current series on loan to the college until about the first of September.

Mr. Smerling and Bruce Etchison, director of the Museum, made arrangements for the loan of the various paintings to the college in a cultural program.

Color slides of the paintings will be taken and enlarged for display in the window of the Chamber of Commerce office, Baltimore and Liberty streets, and will be placed there on Saturday or Monday.

On loan to the college now are paintings by Leonard Creo, a native of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Stanley Woodward, who was born in Malden, Mass., and Lola Frantz, a native of Jennings, La.

Mr. Creo studied at the Art Student's League in New York, went to Florence, Italy in 1953 set on going to the Belle Arti to learn how to draw.

A year and a half later he had a showing of 23 oils in Milan, had exhibited in Rome and won prizes including one from the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs for the most outstanding young foreign artist.

Mr. Woodward was educated in Boston with an additional three years between the Museum School and the Pennsylvania Academy. He is represented in museums and private collections throughout the country and by many is considered the foremost marine painter of the day.

Lola Frantz studied at George Peabody College, Louisiana State University and Vanderbilt University. She has exhibited in cities of the South and at the University of Maryland. Her paintings hang in many institutional and private collections.

Gala Opening Thursday, Friday, and Saturday!

PLAIDLAND

OPENS THURSDAY MORNING AT 10:00 A.M.

AT

LaVALE SHOPPING CENTER

PLAID stamps

We're Giving Away . . .

We and all PLAID STAMP merchants cordially invite you to the opening of our new PLAIDLAND REDEMPTION STORE in the LaVale Shopping Center. Over 100 stores in the Cumberland area now give PLAID STAMPS with your purchases. Many of these merchants are represented in this grand opening tabloid . . . and we suggest that you take advantage of the coupon offers in each of their ads to save on fine quality merchandise as you collect valuable PLAID STAMPS!

. . . Half A Million Plaid Stamps!

The first 2000 people visiting PLAIDLAND during our opening will receive FREE a coupon worth 100 stamps.

Those who visit PLAIDLAND on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will also receive a FREE entry blank for grand prize drawing of FREE PLAID STAMPS.

First Prize	Second Prize	Third Prize
25,000 Plaid Stamps	15,000 Plaid Stamps	10,000 Plaid Stamps

Be sure to see our famous BONNIE LASSIE — who will be at PLAIDLAND in person Thursday . . . Friday . . . and Saturday — August 2, 3 and 4.

REGULAR PLAIDLAND STORE HOURS WILL BE:
Monday thru Saturday — 12:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.
